KEY ROUTE TO SELL S. P. ITS TIDELAND

Nearly Three Hundred Acres on Western Waterfront, Last of "White Meat" to Be Sold For Two Millions

Plan of Southern Pacific Declared to Be Establishment of Big Terminal and Shutting Out of Rivals

The sale of the Key Route company's tideland holdings of 289 acres to the Southern Pacific company, at a price approximating $2,000,000 is being negotiated, and is expected to be consummated soon, according to statements made today by prominent financial men in Oakland and San Francisco.

The transaction, it is declared, would automatically relieve the Key Route system of a financial burden of about $100,000 a year, besides adding $2,000,000 to its liquid assets.

WOULD BE USED AS BIG S. P. TERMINAL.

Another effect of the sale, it was asserted today, would be the immediate development of the property by the Southern Pacific company into a commercial and industrial terminal, such as that already maintained on the Oakland waterfront by the P. & O. interests, and in New York by the Bush concern.

The acreage involved in the negotiations constitutes, it is claimed, the last of the "white meat" of Oakland's western waterfront. Its sale to the Southern Pacific would permanently close out the possibility of any competing railroad establishing terminus facilities anywhere in Oakland outside of the inner harbor.

SALE IS PART OF REORGANIZATION PLANS.

The sale, if it takes place, will be in accordance with a policy announced by the San Francisco Oakland Terminal company in its reorganization plans issued July 17 of this year, in which it was asserted that the tidelands owned by the company would be eliminated from all future financial considerations.

The 289 acres adjoin the Key Route pier. The bulk of the property lies south of the pier and parallel with it, while a small portion is on the north side. Rumors of the approaching sale have been current in financial circles for the past month, and have caused an appreciable strengthening of Key Route securities on the exchanges. Within the past 30 days the 16 various Key Route securities at present outstanding have recorded advances ranging from 10 to 20 points.

PARR TERMINAL DENIES ANY PART.

The proposed sale was first publicly referred to yesterday by Mayor John L. Davis, when he asserted to the City Council members that the Southern Pacific company had purchased the Parr Terminal property, together with approximately 300 acres of Realty Syndicate and Key Route tidelands.

Officials of both the Parr company and the Realty Syndicate today denied that their concerns were in any way involved in any present or projected sale of property to the Southern Pacific. "The mayor has said" misinterpreted the payment by the Southern Pacific company of the cost price of switching tracks installed by the Parr company for the handling of its own freight," an official of that concern said today. "It is customary for a railroad to build spur tracks into the property of industrial concerns. In this case the tracks were originally paid for by the Parr company, which has now been reimbursed by the railroad. There is no possibility that these tracks can be used for any purposes other than the handling of the Parr company's freight, or that of such other concerns as may be established in the immediate vicinity."

Realty Syndicate officials today denied that that company had sold any waterfront land to the Southern Pacific, or was contemplating doing so.

LEAVITT DENIES DAVIS' ASSERTION.

Mayor Davis' assertion that the Southern Pacific company desired the new tract of waterfront land for the purpose of building a mole to take the place of Oakland Pier in case it should lose that to the Central Pacific company, was denied today by E. B. Leavitt, lease agent for the Southern Pacific.

"That is positively not the case," Leavitt said. "For one thing, the railroad company has no fear of losing Oakland Pier, for the Supreme Court ruling provides that it shall have the right to use that jointly with the Central Pacific company."

Asks Divorce

MATE SOAPED HER MOUTH, SAYS WIFE

Paul A. Spott Accused of Cruelty in Suit For Divorce.

Charges including allegations that her husband had washed her mouth out with brown soap and declared that he was "ashamed to be seen on the street with her," were made today by Mrs. Nathalie Spott, former Santa Rosa society woman, in her divorce suit filed in superior court against her husband, Paul A. Spott, an Oakland business man.

Mrs. Spott, who is at present residing with her father-in-law at 1819 Brush street, asked the custody of her two children, $500 a month alimony and a division of community property valued in excess of $10,000.

"I am ashamed to be seen on the street with you," Spott once told his wife, according to Mrs. Spott's divorce complaint. Thereupon, she alleges, he associated openly with other women.

While Spott was often absent from home until late and unusual hours, Mrs. Spott asserts, he falsely accused her of being intimate with other men. On other occasions, she said, he beat her with-out provocation, so severely that her body was covered with bruises. He also forcibly put her out of his place of business without cause, last July, and caused her much humiliation, anguish and suffering.

Constant fault-finding and "nagging" are other things contributing to grounds for absolute separation, according to the former Santa Rosa society belle.

On two occasions, when her husband was angry with her, he seized her roughly and forced brown soap into her mouth as a peculiar form of cruelty, she charges.

The community property involved in the suit comprises the plumbing and electrical business, other real estate and securities of unknown value, states the wife, and she has asked that her husband be restrained from disposing of any of it until a just apportionment has been made by the court.

The children for whom Mrs. Spott petitions the custody are Paul, 9 years old, and Eleanor Spott, aged 4, who are at present living with their mother at the Brush-street address.

The Spotts were married in Santa Cruz on September 6, 1911, and separated July last.

The suit was filed by Attorney Myron Harris and United States Commissioner Albert M. Hardie in his private capacity as an attorney.

Ford Negotiation For Coal Denied

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 13.—(By the Associated Press).—Denial of a statement given out in Cincinnati by Ernest F. Heister, president of the Export and Inland C. Co., to the effect that the Ford Motor Co. was negotiating with him for coal with which to keep the Ford plants here in operation, was made today by official of the Ford Co. It was announced that "so far as now known the Ford plants will be closed September 16, as announced some time ago by Henry Ford."

G.O.P. CHIEFS SUCCESSFUL AT PRIMARY

Senators Lodge, Townsend and Poindexter Renominated by Decisive Votes; Blease Beaten in Carolina

Republican Leaders Cheered by Results At Polls in Half Dozen States; Banker Leads Colorado Democrats

By LAWRENCE MARTIN, United Press Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The Massachusetts primary election today was hailed both by Republicans and Democrats here as an augury of victory in the senatorial campaign in November.

Friends of Senator Lodge, who was easily nominated for his sixth term, took cheer from the early returns, which indicated the defeat of Sherman L. Whipple for the Democratic nomination by Colonel Gaston.

Democrats pointed out that no matter whether Gaston or Whipple prove in the final returns to have won the senatorial nomination, on account of the large vote polled, Lodge will face a strong Democratic vote in the campaign.

Reports that Senator Townsend of Michigan was handsily renominated also caused much jubilation in Republican ranks today.

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE, LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

BOSTON, Sept. 13.—United States Senator Henry Cabot Lodge received his sixth Republican nomination today from a plurality of more than 52,000 as a result of yesterday's primaries. He will be opposed at the November election by Colonel William A. Gaston, who received the Democratic nomination by a plurality of over 13,000.

Incomplete returns today showed that Governor Channing Cox, Republican, was nominated by a plurality of more than 110,000 over Attorney General J. West Allen. Former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald won the Democratic gubernatorial nomination by a plurality of more than 40,000 in a four-cornered fight.

The surprise was the large vote polled by former District Attorney Joseph G. Pelletier, who in a seven-cornered contest received a plurality of more than 23,000 in his fight for the office of district attorney for Suffolk county, from which he was removed. He will be opposed by District Attorney Thomas S. O'Brien, Republican, who won by a plurality of more than 10,000.

FORMER GOVERNOR BLEASE DEFEATED.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 13.—With practically all the votes reported returns today showed that Cole L. Blease, former governor, was beaten in yesterday's run-off primary for the governorship by more than 15,000 votes. Thomas G. McLeod of Bishopville was nominated, which is equivalent to election.

Philip P. Stoll, representative for the Sixth congressional election, was beaten in the run-off by A. H. Gasque of Florence.

SENATOR TOWNSEND, NEWBERRY'S FRIEND, WINS.

DETROIT, Sept. 13.—Senator Charles E. Townsend, who supported Senator Newberry in his fight against being unelected, was renominated as Republican candidate in yesterday's Michigan primary.

Returns from 1825 precincts out of 2356 in 83 counties gave Townsend a majority of 18,039 votes over his nearest rival.

MILLIONAIRE BANKER NAMED FOR GOVERNOR.

DENVER, Sept. 13.—Progressives in the Democratic party have nominated for governor William B. Street, millionaire banker, endorsed by labor and the Non-Partisan League, according to returns from 725 out of 1495 precincts in the state today.

Street had a lead of nearly 10,000 over his nearest opponent, Fred A. Sabin, returns from yesterday's primaries showed.

In the Republican gubernatorial race, Benjamin Griffith, organization candidate, was leading Lieutenant Earl Cooley, ex-service man, in 8195 precincts out of 2445 in the state. Poindexter received 45,576 votes and George B. Lampling, his nearest opponent, 23,597.

Mine Rescuers Name Tomorrow As End of Race

Rival Crews Hope to Reach Prisoners in 24 Hours As Last Barrier Approaches.

AT THE ARGONAUT MINE, Jackson, Cal., Sept. 13.—Jackson was tense today, believing that the long-expected hour was near at hand when the rescue crews would penetrate the Argonaut mine shaft and bring out, maybe dead or maybe alive, the 47 miners imprisoned there more than two weeks.

Some optimists thought tomorrow would crown the efforts of the rescue crew with victory over the rock wall separating them from the Argonaut. Others, more conservative, said Friday or Saturday. Still others, inclined to discount reports and figure on difficulties which may or may not be encountered, saw little hope before Sunday.

"But the town in general felt that the answer to the great question of whether or no its miners still live, was about to come and it was ready for the word."

Members of the two rescue crews, racing against each other at different levels, each hoping to break through first and win a $5000 bonus, worked feverishly throughout the night.

TUNNEL SO SMALL MEN CANNOT STAND.

The tunnel which they are digging—three-quarters of a mile underground—is so small that men cannot stand up in it. They work stooped and cramped for 20 minutes and then return to the "chance room," 100 feet above, for 40 minutes' rest, and then go back to work again.

The temperature in the rescue tunnel ranges around 100 degrees. The men work practically stripped of clothing.

"Hold out!" repeated one member of the crew who asked if he thought the rescuers could hold out until the work was finished. "Well, I'll tell you we'll hold out. We aren't quitters."

That was the spirit of the town, except here and there a gloomy one. There were no "quitters," either underground or on the surface, men or women, in Jackson today.

OLD ORE CHUTE RETARDS WORKERS.

Part of an old ore chute was encountered in the 3600-foot level. During the night, however, the men passed the chute and were going ahead rapidly today. The men coming off estimated they had gone about 17 feet during the night.

In the 3000-foot level, where the crews are working through rock, they are proceeding at the rate of about five feet a shift, and have approximately 100 feet yet to go. Dry bulb thermometer tests made yesterday in the 3600-foot level showed a temperature at various places where the rescue crews are working of from 29 to 32 degrees.

Sheriff Lucot today made arrangements for order when the rescue crews break through. Lucot has a score of deputies to assist him. Already a number of the bodies of the buried men have taken their stands near the mine mouth, which is the first time they have come to the mine since the first few days of the catastrophe.

George M. Leon of Turlock was here last night with five tons of melons for the families of the trapped men continue to pour into the mine. A letter received last night contained a check for $150. It was signed by Mr. and Mrs. Aldin Gum Tick, Chinese, of Oakland.

Germany Balms At Demand of Belgium

By CARL D. GROAT, United Press Staff Correspondent.

BRUXELLES, Sept. 13.—The German government plans to refuse the Belgian demand that 100,000 marks in gold be deposited in Belgium as a guarantee that August and September reparations payments will be met, it was semi-officially stated.

This development undercuts the last meeting of the reparations committee, at which it was decided that Belgium accept notes for the money. Belgium, however, refused to accept unguaranteed paper and demanded gold deposits in face of the German statement that such a plan would be impossible.

Government officials expressed great concern as to the outcome of the reparations situation. It was feared that England, which has advocated leniency in war debt payments, might be forced to support Belgium against the former enemy country in return for their support of England's anti-Turk policy in the Near East.

Accused Slayer Hangs Self in Cell

SALEM, Ore., Sept. 13.—Richard M. Brumfield, under sentence to hang for the murder of Dennis Russell, cheated the fangs of this afternoon when he hanged himself in his cell at the state penitentiary here. Brumfield used a foot of rope which had probably been smuggled in to him.

Brumfield was accused of having killed Russell near Roseburg and having later conspired to have the body identified as his own in order to collect insurance. Brumfield was caught in Canada.

New Balkan War Seen in Clash at Border; Jugo-Slavs Order Army Mobilized to Resist Drive

Rumans Pledge Assistance to Greece if Frontier Clash Results in Serious Attempt to Restore Old Boundaries

PARIS, Sept. 13.—(By the Associated Press).—M. Clemenceau believes that a closer union of America and the allies and absolute co-operation between France and Great Britain are necessary to avoid a general conflict, with inevitable widespread ruin. He has sent a message to the London Times to this effect in reply to an inquiry prompted by the former premier's forthcoming visit to the United States.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—(By International News Service).—Bulgaria is preparing to go to war against Greece, as a result of the Greek defeat by the Turks, to restore the old Bulgarian boundary in the southeastern corner of the Balkans, according to information received here today. It is reported that fighting already has broken out between Turks, Bulgarian irregulars and Greeks on the southern frontier of Bulgaria.

ATHENS, Sept. 13.—Jugo-Slavia, fearing a new war in the Balkans, has begun to mobilize, according to information from Sofia today. Jugo-Slavia and Rumania have both informed Greece that they will aid this country in the event of another war of the Balkan powers against Turkey.

TROUBLE FEARED IN THRACE.

ATHENS, Sept. 13.—(By the Associated Press).—Disquieting rumors are afloat on all sides, causing uneasiness which the sangfroid displayed in official circles is unable to calm.

It is reported that the Turks in Thrace, encouraged by the successes of Mustafa Kemal Pasha's army in Anatolia, are engineering an anti-Christian movement.

Encounters between Bulgarian irregulars and Greek detachments have occurred along the border near Nevrokop, and it is stated the irregulars were driven back into Bulgarian territory.

ALLIES TO ATTEMPT COMPROMISE, CLAIM.

By LLOYD ALLEN, United Press Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—A compromise settlement with the Turks will be attempted by the allies to avert war over the possession of Constantinople, according to views in diplomatic quarters today.

The following terms of settlement are being considered by the allies, it is believed:

Restoration of Adrianople and the largest portion of Thrace. Internationalization of Constantinople and the Dardanelles.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 12.—(By the Associated Press).—The occupation of Bursa by the Turkish nationalists which occurred last evening, marks the end of the Greek resistance in Asia Minor.

Before evacuating the city, the Greeks set it ablaze in several places, but the fire was controlled and only a single quarter of the town was destroyed.

At Mudania, the port of Bursa, which the Turks now have occupied, French troops were landed to protect the French establishments.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—An appropriation of $25,000 for the relief of suffering among the thousands of refugees in Smyrna as the result of the defeat of Greek armies was made today by the American Red Cross.

DISARMED SOLDIERS REMAIN NEAR EYRINA.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 13.—(By the Associated Press).—Several thousand disarmed Greek soldiers still remain on the peninsula west of Smyrna between the gulf of Smyrna and the gulf of Scala Nova, according to the Greek military mission here, but with what is described as an adequate armed force protecting the seven-mile-wide isthmus separating the peninsula from the mainland. The Greeks say they expect to remove these troops to home ports.

Former Mrs. Leeds Likely To Become Queen of Greece

By WEBB MILLER, United Press Staff Correspondent.

PARIS, Sept. 13.—An American woman—the former Mrs. William B. Leeds, widow of the tin plate king—may become the queen of Greece in case King Constantine, whose throne is tottering because of Turkish victories, abdicates.

In high Greek circles here today it was believed King Constantine will abdicate in favor of his brother, Prince Christopher, husband of Mrs. Leeds.

Mrs. Leeds—the Princess Anastasia—is reported to have spent millions of dollars from the state left her by her first husband—who began life as a laborer in Ohio—in restoring the "glories of Greece."

It was said to be through her influence—in part—that King Constantine was returned to the throne.

The son of the "tin plate" princess, William D. Leeds, Jr., married also into Greek royalty, becoming the husband of Princess Xenia nearly a year ago.

Venizelos, veteran statesman of Greece, was in Paris today to confer with Paris officials. The return to power of the aged statesman has been freely discussed since the rumor of Constantine's abdication. He will not, however, resume his duties as premier until all of the present newly chosen cabinet steps out, he said.

RAIL UNIONS O. K. JEWELL SETTLEMENT

"Baltimore Plan" Approved After Battle in Session of Shopcraft Committee; Strong Opposition Beaten

Chiefs Charged by Government With Sanctioning and Encouraging Violence; Move to Curb Suit Filed

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—(By the Associated Press).—Officials of the railroad shopmen's union sanctioned and encouraged violence by striking members, federal attorneys charged today in United States District Court here today.

A. M. McLaughlin, assistant to Attorney-General R. M. Daugherty, in arguing before Judge James H. Wilkerson on making the government injunction to break the strike permanent, declared:

"We intend to show that the union officials were not acting in good faith when they claimed they did not approve of violence. The evidence will disclose that they actually urged their men to do everything possible to hinder traffic."

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—(By the Associated Press).—Proposals for settlement or partial settlement of the railway shopmen's strike were technically accepted by the federal court today, but the railroaders meet certain conditions, it was learned today from the head of one of the striking unions.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(By the Associated Press).—Virtual settlement of the rail strike as affecting from 35 to 40 per cent of the railroads of the country was announced late today by Secretary of Labor Davis, on the basis of reports from the meeting of Chicago of the general policy committee of the striking shop craft unions.

The settlement plan is understood to involve the return to work of all strikers except those who have engaged in violence, retention by the carriers of all men now at work and adjudication of disputed questions by committees representing the railroads and their employees.

Davis said he was informed that the settlement covered the Seaboard line, the Southern, the Baltimore & Ohio, the Chicago & Northwestern, the Chicago & Milwaukee & St. Paul and other roads, including the Rock Island.

By CHARLES R. LYNCH, United Press Staff Correspondent.

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—The policy committee of the shopmen's union has accepted the "Baltimore peace plan," by which about 15 per cent of the 400,000 men who struck on July 1 will return to work on certain roads, the United Press was reliably informed today.

Announcement of the action taken by the policy committee will be made at union headquarters at 6 p. m.

The vote on the proposition, according to information given by one of the 90 members of the committee who attended the meeting, was 45 to 35 in favor of acceptance of the plan to make individual settlements with the various railroad companies.

Another committee member, Secretary Butler of the local Gary shopcraft union, stated the vote was 45 to 34 in favor of acceptance.

Attorney for SHOPMEN GETS OFFICIAL NOTICE.

"I have received official information that the Baltimore peace plan has been accepted and the strike is settled on many of the roads," Donald Richberg, union attorney, told the United Press shortly after 3 p. m., while the policy committee was in session.

Richberg was in federal court at the time, arguing the injunction. Attorney Stevenson, attorney for the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, informed the United Press he had been advised that the Baltimore peace plan had been adopted by the shopcraft policy committee.

"My information is that sixty railroads, including the New York Central, are included in the settlement," Stevenson said.

35 RAILROADS COVERED BY SETTLEMENT PLAN.

Bert M. Jewell, president of the union, has stated that if the plan was accepted, the men would be back to work within five days.

declared that it would have the effect of bottling up the city of Oakland away from its western waterfront, and asked that steps be immediately taken to preserve the city's rights of way by effecting three separate street openings. Action toward opening Ninth, Fourteenth and Eighteenth streets through their present terminations to the government bulkhead line at the outer edge of the tidelands be immediately begun by the city engineer.

MAYOR SEES MENACE TO CITY OF OAKLAND.

Mayor Davis, in a written communication to the council yesterday, declared that in his belief "the purchase of this property by that company (the Southern Pacific) is but another step in the attempt to hamper the development of our harbor frontage, and to prevent competition by any other transportation company." The mayor then charged the Southern Pacific with attempting to "block entry of either the Santa Fe or the Union Pacific to our western harbor frontage, and to throttle further development of this valuable property by the city." Recommending the immediate opening of Ninth, Fourteenth and Eighteenth streets, the mayor declared:

"If the streets are not opened it will give the Southern Pacific direct control of the properties, deprive the city of access to our wonderful harbor front, and prevent the carrying out of our plans for harbor development."

Baruch Objects to Debt Cancellation

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13. (By International News Service).—Vigorous protest against cancellation of the $11,000,000,000 foreign debt to the United States was made by Bernard Baruch, the New York capitalist, in a letter to Senator Borah (Rep.) of Idaho, which was read in the Senate today. Baruch declared all the allied nations were able to pay their debts to the United States, and asserted "it will be difficult to convince the American people that they cannot."

the settlement. Among the lines mentioned are the St. Paul, Northern, E. & O., Southern, Seaboard and many minor roads.

The roads constitute about 15 per cent of the total mileage affected by the strike.

With this nucleus of which to work, the shippers' organization is expected to proceed with negotiations with other railroads in an effort to bring about a nationwide settlement such as resulted in the coal strike after the first separate agreement was reached.

Jewell strongly recommended adoption of his plans for separate peace and the vote was taken only after three long hours of arguments. The majority of the best orators in the policy committee were reported to have been obstinately opposed to the settlement.

They represent workers on roads such as the Pennsylvania and the Illinois Central, which are not included in the separate peace agreement at this time.

However, the weight of the arguments of Jewell and other leaders was reported to have swung sufficient votes in favor of the settlement.

Jewell was plainly well pleased with the progress of the sessions when the committee went into conference at 2:30 for the final meeting. It was understood that this meeting would be a mere formality to ratify the action taken at the morning meeting and approve the statement which will be issued to the public on the action of the committee at 6 p. m.

ROAD HEADS ADMIT PART IN SETTLEMENT.

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—(By the Associated Press).—R. M. Calkins, vice-president of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway today authorized the statement that that road was affected by the plan of settlement of the shippers' strike which Secretary Davis announced at Washington he had learned was assured.

The Chicago and Northwestern railway, which Davis announced was one of the roads in the strike settlement, confirmed that statement this afternoon.

The Chicago, Burlington & Quincy and the Atchafalaya, Topeka & Santa Fe railways are not included in the plan of settlement of the shippers' strike, according to officials of those roads.

The Chicago & Rock Island & Pacific railway also is not included in the plan, it was said at the office of President J. E. Gorman.

PEACE NOT TO HALT INJUNCTION SUIT.

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—(By the Associated Press).—Settlement of the railroad shop strike on some railroads, as announced by Secretary of Labor Davis, will not affect the prosecution of the government's injunction suit against the strikers, spokesmen for the government declared when the settlement report reached Judge Wilkerson's court.

One government attorney said settlement on all roads would not change the government's determination to go through with the injunction action.

EFFORT TO CURB U. S. ARGUMENT PROVES VAIN.

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—(By the Associated Press).—Efforts of the attorneys for the striking shop craft leaders to forestall the reading of additional hundreds of the 20,000 affidavits of violence produced by the government in support of its injunction bill failed again today.

The government rejected all overtures for speeding up the case by eliminating or classifying the affidavits and Judge James H. Wilkerson sustained the prosecution's right to the broadest latitude in its effort to show by a chain of nationwide outbreaks what it claims is a concerted conspiracy to destroy interstate traffic by intimidation of railway employees.

The court took occasion, however, to warn the attorneys for the government that the temporary restraining order now in force will expire September 22, and cannot be extended, even if the present hearing on an injunction to replace it is not completed.

Blackburn Esterline, assistant solicitor general, assured the court the government could complete its case before the time limit and expected to finish the reading of affidavits by Friday night or Saturday noon.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Sept. 13.—Thomas E. Campbell, Republican, and George W. P. Hunt, Democrat, who during the ten years of Arizona's statehood have been the standard bearers of the two parties, will again contend for the governorship, it was indicated today by returns from yesterday's primary.

Fifty per cent complete returns indicated a lead of 500 for Hunt over his opponent, Charles E. Ward, with estimates that it will be increased to at least 1500.

Ward's apparent victory in Maricopa county is more than offset by strong Hunt majorities in Gila and Cochise counties. Hunt headquarters was also claiming Navajo, Mohave, Yuma and Pima counties.

DUPREE IS WINNER AT LOUISIANA POLLS.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 13.—Congressman H. Garland Dupree was renominated in yesterday's Louisiana Democratic primary election, polling 13,044 votes, while State Representative A. D. Higgins polled 7732, according to unofficial returns today.

Francis Williams was an easy winner for renomination as public service commissioner.

Blast Curls Rails; Man Jailed in L. A.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 13.—Within a few hours after his arrest here in an investigation of the violent bomb explosion that rocked San Bernardino last night a man giving the name of Dan Ross, 38, was turned over by the local authorities this morning to San Bernardino officers, who will take him back for further questioning. Ross was taken from a Southern Pacific train early today.

SAN BERNARDINO, Sept. 13

(By the Associated Press).—An explosion, heard for ten miles, shook a portion of San Bernardino at 9 o'clock last night, when dynamite, estimated by deputy United States marshals to have been about 30 sticks, exploded beneath a Santa Fe stock car, standing on the stockyard spur between San Bernardino and Colton.

The force of the explosion tore out the flooring at one end of the car and broke and twisted a 65-pound rail.

A Santa Fe freight train was 150 yards away on another track when the explosion occurred. The crew stopped the train. It was not struck by missiles.

The dynamite, according to O. S. Greenwood, chief deputy United States marshal, was placed under the wheel of the car and exploded probably by a fuse.

A. J. Hillman, former police officer, reported to the police that at 9 p. m. an automobile, without license numbers or lights passed him, traveling at a high rate of speed as it left the Mount Vernon avenue viaduct. Three men in the machine wore masks, Hillman claimed. The car nearly ran down two women and a child. Hillman, who had heard the explosion, turned his car around and followed the machine for a mile north. He was out-distanced.

Ordeal of Miners Puts Civilization to Test

By RUTH FINNEY
(Written for the United Press)

AT THE ARGONAUT MINE, JACKSON, Cal., Sept. 13.—Suppose that the miners in the Argonaut are alive—

Are they sane? Doing what? Thinking what?

What has survived from their civilization and what has been lost?

In utter blackness seventeen days, without food, facing slow death, do the men remember such words as "God," "honor," "love" and "home"?

Or has all that been swept away and is animal instinct only left?

If any man comes from the Argonaut mine alive and sane and able to remember his entombment, psychologists will learn more of the human mind than they have ever known before.

People of Jackson who are not worn to the dropping point with the actual strenuous labor of rescue work spend their hours wondering and trying to imagine the answers to these questions.

They ask if the men can have reached the point where they would kill and eat rats. They ask if it is possible for the men to have fallen as low as cannibalism.

Or has their foundation of civilization, that thing whatever it is that separates men from beasts, been woven so deeply into the fabric of their beings that it has survived?

The days and nights of waiting.

really a little less than three weeks, must have seemed to the men like years of time.

The mind staggers when it tries to comprehend the way the hours have dragged and multiplied there in the darkness.

There are cases on record where men have believed themselves living through a period of years and growing gray and decrepit with all the infirmities of old age, while in reality only a few days pass.

Miss Minnie Sullivan, nurse, who saw years of duty overseas during the world war, who is here now for the State Compensation Board to direct the work of saving any men who come out alive, has another idea of what is going on in the black hole nearly a mile below the surface of the earth.

By now, she says, the men who survived are undoubtedly in a state of coma, weakened from the loss of food to the point where they do nothing but drift lazily from one period of unconsciousness to another.

When they are brought out, their minds will be clouded, she believes, and will remain so until the bodies have been restored to some condition approaching normalcy.

Miss Sullivan does not fear that the shock of being found and brought to the surface will kill the men. She tells of men who saw overseas near death, and yet surviving the most severe hardships. The human frame, when it must, can stand far more than the human mind can believe, she thinks. Water can probably be given freely, for if the men are alive at all, they have had some water in their tomb.

FIFTY-FIVE YEARS OF BEST VALUES

Thursday is Oakland Shopping Day with O'Connor, Moffatt & Co.

---the woman who must consider cost will find satisfaction here!

New Frocks
begin at . . . $29.50

—How hopelessly antique appear frocks of last season! For the new frocks are individual, picturesque and have long skirts. They mark a new epoch in the History of Dress.

—The new frocks are of Twills and Juina Cloth, with Oriental embroidery and beading, or unusual buckles from the Far East. And the silks! Listlessly graceful are they, with their panels and drapes and effective trimmings.

—Prices range $29.50, $35, $39.75 and slowly up to $125.

Your Winter Wrap

—and at the price you wish to pay

$35.00 $45.00 $55.00 $75.00 to $225.00

—Women are wise who buy their wraps early in the season—for it is then that stocks are most complete!

—Here are gorgeous, deep-pile coats and wraps—each one chosen for its beauty and refined individuality. Some have plain collars so that you may wear your own furs; others have rich fur trimmings. And look at the prices—how conservative!

—and in a section all their own, misses and small women meet and shop

—Misses, with their enthusiasm for the new and different, demand coats, suits and frocks which express individuality—style—youth! Small women have ever had the problem of finding clothes to fit! In this department we specialize on toggery for both misses and small women! And best of all, —the outstanding feature is lowness of price!

Wool Dresses are $25 up. Lovely Silk afternoon frocks, $27.50, $32.50 and up; Suits as low as $35; Dinner Gowns, $45, $65 and up—and the season's newest coats, $45, $55, and up.

Speaking of Fashions

TASTE and elegant distinction are reflected in every model in our stocks. Each has been chosen with thought and vision as to the authenticity of its fashioning, the beauty of its workmanship, the magnificence of its texture.

—the colors you will see

—For daytime all the browns from seal to beige; bottle green, navy and black. For evening white still leads, followed by lead, rose shades and mauve.

—the materials
you will wear

—Supple and drapery are the new materials. The Crepe family leads, followed by gorgeous Art brocades, Matelasse effects and Salome-like Velvets. The deep-pile fabrics are Marleen, first; then Marvella, Veldyne and Gerona.

—the trimmings

—The strongest influence is the Russian, with its vigorous reds and golds, its picturesque designs. Some gowns are fashioned of such gorgeous, Renaissance-like fabrics that one scarcely misses the absence of trimming. Far-East buckles and jeweled-studded belts are often seen.

BODY OF MISSING MILLIONAIRE IS FOUND IN S. F. BAY

Wide search for J. C. Brittain, Piedmont Man, Ends On Beach.

Search for John C. Brittain, 120 Blair avenue, Piedmont, millionaire hardware dealer, who disappeared in San Francisco Monday, was brought to a sudden end late yesterday with the discovery of his body in the bay off Baker's Beach, at the foot of Thirty-second avenue, San Francisco.

First identification was made by a deputy coroner through a heavy gold signet ring on the left hand. J. N. Brittain, brother of the dead man and an official of the same business firm with which he was connected, positively identified the body.

Brittain had been suffering from a nervous trouble to some time, according to friends, a relative. Sometime ago he suffered a complete breakdown and was ordered by physicians to leave his business temporarily. Recently it was believed that he was recovering.

D. Parattoni, 3175 Folsom street, San Francisco, and William Loneragan, 6245 Geary street, same city, landscaper, discovered the body. While at work they saw it floating in the water off the cliff below them and believing the man might still be alive waded into the sea to effect a rescue.

They dragged the body to shore and notified the Richmond district police station. Deputy Coroner Michael Brown responded and identified the body by the signet ring and by an identification card and papers found in the dead man's vest.

Mrs. Brittain, the widow, was prostrated with grief today and under the care of physicians. There were no marks of violence. A few bruises, apparently from striking the water, were found on the face.

Brittain was 54 years old. He leaves, in addition to his widow, two daughters and a brother. He had been engaged in the wholesale hardware business in San Francisco for almost thirty-five years.

WANTON SHIPPEE, EX-OFFICIAL, DIES

BERKELEY, Sept. 13.—Wanton Allen Shippee, former state senator and wealthy land owner of Butte county, died last night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. F. H. Dam, at the age of 75 years.

His death resulted from pneumonia. Shippee came here some time ago to visit his daughter. Recently he contracted a severe cold which rapidly developed into pneumonia. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Evelyn W. Shippee, and one daughter. Funeral services will be held from a local undertaking establishment tomorrow morning at 7:30 o'clock. Interment will be in a Sacramento cemetery.

Shippee was born in Ireland and came to this country when he was 21 years old. He first settled in Rhode Island and then came to California, residing in Stockton and later in Butte county, where he owned considerable property. He was elected to the state senate in 1882 and served for two years. Under the Roosevelt administration he was appointed internal revenue inspector at Sacramento. Shippee was a member of the Masons, was a Knight Templar and a member of Island Temple of the Mystic Shrine.

San Jose Clubwomen Resume Activities

SAN JOSE, Sept. 13.—Two club events last evening and two more this afternoon attracted a large number of women from their household cares.

Members of Fraternity chapter No. 238, Order of Eastern Star, held a meeting last night in the local Masonic temple. Officers of all chapters in the local district were the honor guests of the occasion, each responding with a few well chosen remarks. Mrs. Percy O'Connor was chairman of the evening.

The Stella Rebekah lodge, I. O. O. F., drew both men and women to a meeting in Odd Fellows hall last night. Mrs. Gertrude Seifert, chairman of the social committee for the present term of office, had arranged the program.

This afternoon members of the Ladies' Hebrew Benevolent society met at the home of Mrs. I. Marcus, 23 North Thirteenth street, where they enjoyed a delightful social and business afternoon.

At Mountain View this afternoon the Mountain View Woman's club is meeting in the clubhouse. Members of the club had the opportunity of bringing visitors to the meeting.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Willow Glen church is also meeting this afternoon, planning out its plans for the coming month.

Seaman Is Arrested On Captain's Charge

MARTINEZ, Sept. 13.—On complaint of Captain J. H. Gunther of the oil tanker La Brea, docked at the Shell wharf, Frank Hensberg, seaman, was arrested today by Deputy Sheriff Al Browning on a charge of disturbing the peace. Captain Gunther alleges that Hensberg, raised a disturbance on the ship, threatened him, and the crew. Hensberg claims Captain Gunther struck him. Hensberg pleaded not guilty and demanded a jury trial. He is expected to furnish bail of $100 for his freedom. Time of his trial has not been fixed because the La Brea is scheduled to sail this afternoon for Los Angeles.

Dispute With Picture Company Expected to Bring Girl to Actor's Side

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 13.—It is a long legal lane that has no turning, and the turning seems to have come in the love difficulties of Rodolph Valentino and his temporarily lost bride, Winifred Hudnut Valentino. The law separated them while they were on their honeymoon, and now it looks as though the law were going to keep them together until they can get married once more.

Valentino married his present bride before his divorce from Jean Ackers was final. He was threatened with bigamy proceedings. The law separated him from his new bride. She went to New York and booked passage on the Olympic with the idea that she and Valentino would be remarried in March, either in this country or Europe, as Rodolph's divorce from his first wife will be final by that time.

And now it is rumored that Valentino is about to file suit to break his contract with the motion picture company with which he is at present connected. Valentino's lawyers are said to have sent Winifred a telegram to the effect that she can materially aid Valentino in his suit.

Winifred received the telegram while she was aboard the Olympic. She hurried ashore from the ship, which was just about to set sail. She is now said to be in New York. It is believed here that Winifred will come to Hollywood to be near Rodolph in the stress of his legal troubles. Thus, it is pointed out, the law, which temporarily separated them, may be the means of bringing the separation to an end.

De Molays to Hold Educational Day

ALAMEDA, Sept. 13.—Alameda Chapter, Order of De Molay for Boys, will observe "Educational Day" in Masonic Temple, Alameda avenue and Park street, Saturday. A special program will be presented at 8 o'clock. The officers of the chapter under the direction of Master Conductor W. K. Biggart, will confer the initiatory degree on a class of candidates. Superintendent of Schools C. J. DuFour will introduce Superintendent Hunter of the Oakland school department who will be the speaker of the evening. His subject will be "Educational Matters."

One of the cardinal teachings of the Order of De Molay is that of public school education, and the second meeting of September is designated as Educational Day by the order. All members of De Molay and all Master Masons are invited to be present.

The Barnettes have been living apart for four years. Crumit is married, his wife living in Connecticut.

Cantilever Shoe

If Your Shoe Isn't Flexible

If the arch of your shoe isn't flexible, like the arch of the foot, it prevents the foot muscles from exercising as Nature intended. And it is that restraint which accounts for many tired feet and weakened arches. But in the flexible-shank Cantilever Shoe the muscles are exercised with every step. The shoe harmonizes with the foot, the muscles have free play, circulation is improved and the foot grows healthy and normal.

Cantilevers are good-looking comfort shoes, the lines are graceful, the leathers are of fine quality. When you lace a Cantilever Shoe, the under-arch sole draws up to conform to the curve of the foot arch and support it. This smooth shank keeps the arches strong. Try a pair.

WAR FEAR-BRED, CECIL DECLARES

LONDON, Sept. 13.—"When we come to analyze the situation closely we find that the fear of war is the beginning of unreason," said Lord Robert Cecil recently discussing conditions in Europe. "Russia's apprehensions have been translated into vast armies withdrawn from reproductive work, ill-fed, ill-clothed, ill-disciplined, and consequently a greater menace to their friends or fellow citizens than to their enemies."

"In France the fear of war has led to the establishment of those armies of occupation on the Rhine that are costing Germany more than one million pounds a week—more than two thousand million marks."

"Fear of war is leading a section of public opinion in England to demand a vastly increased air service, and still further concentration upon scientific methods of slaughter. In all directions we find that knowledge is still harnessed to destruction; that the readiest means of money-making is to invent something that can destroy life and the products of life—energy faster than nature can replace them. Behind all these manifestations lies fear."

"IN THE GUTTER"

Baby Hospital Establishes Big Record for Aid

By EDNA B. KINARD.
In the home where the income tallies penny for penny with the outgo, tragedy follows on the heels of any event which gives disturbance to the routine. Sickness, with the necessity for medical attendance and nurses, is perhaps the greatest tragedy of all. When it is mother who is ill the household falls into chaos and reaction from anxiety, disordered home and lack of funds helps in no manner the patient's condition. In many a family the advent of the stork brings nothing but terror before the lack of material things, the sheer hopelessness in financing the extras which must be provided.

Had the Baby Hospital done no other thing, its right to exist might be based before any fair court on the establishment of its prenatal and well baby clinics. Not alone has the hospital directors stepped in to solve the financial problems of the worried mother, but in the months which precede and follow the birth of her babe stand her staunch friends, offering expert advice in the medical and diet fields, yet not omitting to give advice as to layettes, home-made refrigerators, cribs and those many inexpensive contrivances which contribute to the comfort of the mother and infant.

Still, amazement, however, attends the announcement of the Baby Hospital Association that medical service at the time of birth, including a complete kit, physician and visiting nurse, is given for $15. To be sure this payment on behalf of the patient must be supplemented by the hospital, which has taken this method of doing some of its philanthropy. Because of its value, the service is properly protected and given to mothers where it is actually needed. Well baby clinics, where examinations are made by physicians and nurses and advice on care and diet are given the mothers, are held for the further health insurance of the new citizens.

The achievement of the Baby Hospital is the best claim which the Dover Street institution can make for support by the men and women of the community.

Big Sisters will come up to the annual election on Friday afternoon in the Young Women's Christian Association building. The annual meeting of the year will outline the program of practical service which the delegates from women's groups of the county will undertake through the medium of the Big Sisters. Mrs. Sidney Hestlett is president.

Miss Cecil Laughlin, attorney of San Francisco, will be the speaker at the program following the 2 p. m. business session. She will discuss "Woman and the Law."

Measures affecting the ex-servicemen which will be presented at the November state election will be reviewed by James Fisk, commander of the Berkeley Post of the American Legion, before Berkeley center, California Civil League of Women, Tuesday afternoon. Democratic and Republican candidates for election who did not appear before the center previous to the primary have been invited to address the women.

A visit will be made by the education department of the center to the Girls' Protective and Rescue Home in Oakland on Saturday.

The monthly lectures on living issues, at which Lakeview Club will present Mrs. Annie Little Barry, will be inaugurated tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. in the club's parish house. The club world has eagerly sought the privilege of hearing Mrs. Barry in current comment, arranging in all parts of the county for a series of talks. That a well-known woman and student of affairs is not without honor in her own country is evidenced in the reception of Mrs. Barry, who is a Berkeley resident. She is one of the most widely known clubwomen in California. Lakeview Club is claiming the distinction of being the only group to date offering morning talks. Enrollment in the section will be extended outside of the club membership. Already fifty women have registered for the series.

Mrs. Josephine Marshall Fernald, regent of Esperanza Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will open her apartments at the Regent on Thursday, September 28, for an informal tea and reception, at which the members will be hostesses. The function is among the earliest of the season sponsored by patriotic women.

A renovated clubhouse greeted Ebell women when they assembled yesterday for the first luncheon of the 1922-23 season. The entire lower floor showed evidences of the decorator. Old ivory has succeeded the natural color of the Oregon pine, the walls taking on the same tints. Soft gray covers the floors while gay grotesques introduces a contrast in predominating rose shades. An indirect lighting system has been installed in the banquet room.

Mrs. William Nat Friend, who preceded Mrs. George Rothman as president, presided as hostess at the luncheon yesterday.

A reception in compliment to the faculty of the Melrose Heights School Parent-Teacher association for Friday. The social afternoon is arranged to give opportunity to mothers to meet the teachers who have their children in charge.

On the second Thursday of each month the Melrose Heights mothers will send a representative to the sales staff of the Junior Red Cross shop on Twelfth street. The philanthropic department will give over one day each month to manufacturing garments for the stock of the unique institution which is taking care of the nutrition fund provided by Oakland Federation of Mothers' Clubs.

VOLSTEAD TO BE OPPOSED BY HIS FORMER VICTOR

Rev. O. J. Kvale Contests for Seat of Father of Dry Enforcement Act.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 13.—Congressman Andrew J. Volstead, father of the prohibition enforcement act, will be opposed for reelection in the November election by the man who defeated him in the primary two years ago.

This contest in the Seventh Minnesota congressional district rivals in interest the three-cornered fight for the United States senatorship, in which a woman—Mrs. Anna Dickie Olsen—has been setting the campaign pace for her two male opponents.

NOT DRY ISSUE.

Prohibition is not an issue in the contest involving Volstead, for he will be opposed by the Rev. O. J. Kvale of Benson, who declares himself "as dry as Volstead with a little to spare." Volstead has the endorsement of the Republican district convention, while both the Democratic and the farmer-labor conventions endorsed the candidacy of Rev. Kvale. In 1920, as the candidate of the Non-partisan League seeking the Republican nomination, Rev. Kvale nosed out Volstead in the June primary by 17,369 votes to 15,059. Then charges of violation of the state corrupt practices act against Rev. Kvale were sustained, the nomination was declared vacant and the Republican district committee selected Volstead as the Republican candidate.

KVALE AS INDEPENDENT.

With the approach of the fall election that year, the Kvale faction circulated petitions that enabled him to file as an independent. And in a tie-contest—Kvale a Democratic candidate having entered—Volstead polled 56,822 votes; Kvale 55,370, and the Democratic candidate, 5558.

This year, with Kvale bearing the Democratic endorsement it will be a finish fight between Kvale and Volstead and the question lies in what strength the old Non-partisan—now farmer-labor organization has been able to retain.

Two years ago, women were exceptionally active in the interests of Volstead, and it was admitted that their vote figured in determining his success.

If the Kvale forces have been able to hold their strength this year, voters probably will rest with those voters who cast a Democratic ballot two years ago. With the Democratic convention endorsement, Kvale forces expect to enroll the greater part of the Democratic vote.

X-RAY EXPERTS MEET.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 13.—The twenty-third annual convention of the American Roentgen Ray Society opened here yesterday with more than 300 physicians from all parts of the country in attendance.

TWO FLIERS DIE IN PLANE CRASH

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 13.—Tommy "Pewee" Tucker, 18, well-known amateur flier, and Archie J. Stowell, 28, professional aviator, were killed late yesterday when their plane, piloted by Stowell, fell 350 feet, crashing into a pasture near here.

O'Brien, district attorney of Boston, holds that the greatest menace to American civilization is drug addiction.

CUDAHY HEIRESS FACES DIVORCE

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 13.—J. Percy F. Browne, Pasadena, Cal., banker and sportsman, yesterday filed in the Superior Court a suit for divorce from Edna Cudahy Browne, daughter of the late Jack Cudahy, member of the Kansas City, Mo., meat packing family of that name, who committed suicide here, a year and a half ago. Browne charged his wife with desertion.

SHE TELLS DADDYReports of Betrothal of Film
Stars Receive Jolt;
Both Deny It.CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—Lila Lee and James Kirkwood are not to be married soon—at least not to each other. This came from Lila's own lips.The reported engagement of the two moving picture stars received a jolt today on their arrival here.
They were met by Charles Appel,
Lila's father, who himself put the question."Daddy's girl isn't engaged to Kirkwood, is she?" asked the anxious father."Of course not. Why I'm not going to marry any one—just yet," came Lila's response, punctuated with a kiss, which Kirkwood planted on the lips of a mysterious young woman who gave her name as Ruth Weber.Lila's father also insisted that his daughter is too young to consider matrimony. Answering questions as to who would marry Kirkwood, Miss Weber answered:"I am, if you must know. I came to meet Kirkwood, but when I read the story about Lila's engagement to Jimmie—I became sorry that I came."Old-Time Theatrical

FIRST SHOT FIRED BY VICTIM, SAYS BEATRICE SKARIN

New Confession by Seattle Slayer Claims Aged Man Aimed Gun at Her.

SEATTLE Sept. 13.—A shot was fired at Beatrice Clara Elizabeth Skarin by Ferdinand Hochbrun, wealthy real estate man, during the struggle in which, she claims, she killed him. According to her confession, the girl today made, to her former confessor.

The new element in the young woman's explanation of the shooting of Hochbrun came today during a visit to the house at 2520 Fifth avenue, where the shooting took place and just after a new bullet hole in the wall of the "murder room" had been discovered by prosecuting attorney Malcolm Douglas.

According to Miss Skarin, this bullet was fired at her from her own revolver by Hochbrun, who managed to seize it for a moment while she was attempting to use it to kill him. She said that the improper advances which he was making toward her.

She was holding Hochbrun's revolver hand at the time, she said, and immediately after the shot was fired, twisted the hand around until she was able to pull the trigger and shoot Hochbrun in the back.

Edward Von Tobel, Hochbrun's confidential lawyer, today was ex-operated by Douglas of a charge made against him by Miss Skarin in her confession, that he had plotted with her after Hochbrun's death to obtain the slain realty man's estate. Douglas said he had conducted a careful investigation which completely cleared Von Tobel.

Campus Committee Organizes Campaign to Reach High Schools.

BERKELEY, Sept. 12.—Come to college!

From the co-eds of the University of California to every high school maid in the state is this invitation going forth.

That the modern girl can make her way in a twentieth century business and professional world so much better if she is furnished with a university sheepskin is the contention of the college women in their efforts to reach high school students with their message.

University girls will not allow high school graduates to reach Berkeley unacquainted with college customs and traditions, according to plans for a "campaign of education" which they are now formulating. High school girls will be told that French heels, décolleté dresses, too many frills and furbelows and an overabundance of cosmetics are not considered "proper" by women leaders on the Berkeley campus. Moreover, before their arrival in Berkeley the young graduates will know about the college honor spirit and other things concerning university life.

Schools nearby will be reached by speakers while those at distance will receive their messages in communications. Miss Alice Turner is chairman of this novel committee on the campus, while other members are the Misses Georgia Colombat, Esther Munson, Elizabeth Geen and Margaret Yeaman.

EMERYVILLE GETS IN LINE TO BOOST INDUSTRY SHOW

Aid Pledged to Exposition At Idora October 14 to 22.

Emeryville Industries are behind the Eastbay Manufacturers' Exposition.

The Emeryville Industries Association, representing seventy or more industrial plants, has reserved an entire section in the big exposition, which will be held at Idora park, October 14-22, inclusive.

This means that these seventy factories and manufacturing plants plan to have splendid exhibits showing their products. A McKenzie of the Pacific Manufacturing Book Company, president of the Emeryville Industries Association. Other officers are: A. H. Irving, Paraffine Paint Company, first vice-president; Arthur W. Corder of T. W. Corder, Inc., second vice-president; P. B. Lynch of the Grayson-Owen Company, treasurer; R. S. Hawley, city engineer of Emeryville, secretary; D. R. Ensminger of the Union Oil Company, D. J. Sinclair of the Shell Oil Company, J. F. Colmar of the Colmar Manufacturing Company, members of the finance committee.

Another endorsement that has come to the exposition management is from the Oakland Real Estate Board. R. Porter Giles, executive secretary of the realtors' organization, has sent in the following letter:

It is the purpose of the executive committee of the Eastbay manufacturers, directing the exposition, to show the industrial wealth of this side of the bay in the exposition.

It is estimated that no less than 225,000 visitors will crowd through the gates at Idora during the eight-day show.

Special features daily are being arranged. Opening day comes on October 14, celebrated by manufacturers of candy throughout the nation as "Candy Day."

CUPID'S JOY TURN TO GLOOM WITH DIVORCES

Yesterday Averages Up Monday When, No Decrees Were Granted.

Cupid's cries of joy over Monday being the first day in the history of Alameda county courts on which no divorces were filed while sixteen marriage licenses were issued, were changed yesterday when nine divorces were granted during one short afternoon of court procedure. Old Man Divorce knocked Cupid for the well-known good reason that the court of nine granted five divorces, Judge Kimball two, and Judge Koford two.

Seven of the nine were heard by Court Commissioner Clarence Crowell, the findings being presented to the judges for final decision. These included the decrees granted by Judge Harris and Judge Koford.

A. W. Foster Voted Head Of University Regents

Arthur W. Foster, capitalist and agriculturist, prominently identified with many of California's progressive educational strides, has been elected chairman of the board of regents of the University of California.

He was chosen to head the administering board of the state institution at the regents' executive session held yesterday at the California School of Fine Arts, San Francisco, and succeeds Guy C. Earl. His term of office calls for one year's service. Foster has offices in the Southern Pacific building and is well known in San Francisco business circles, but his agricultural pursuits have won him recognition up and down the Pacific coast.

Foster was promoter and first president of the Northwestern Railroad, which broke into the timber and farming country in the northwestern part of the state. He has appeared before the legislature on many occasions to fight measures protecting the farm interest.

MANY ADDED TO STAFF.

Seventy-one new appointments to the University of California's teaching staff were made by the regents in addition to the selection of their own head. While the regents did not engage in any formal discussion of the appointments of a successor to President David P. Barrows, who resigned last spring, stating he would continue in office until the end of the academic year, 1922-23, a current of speculation and rumor in university circles as to Barrows' successor is strongly manifested.

This speculation has followed Dr. Benjamin Ide Wheeler, president emeritus of the university, who has just left California to visit educational centers of the east. Rumor has it that he is canvassing the College of Agriculture field for a successor to Barrows.

R. M. Davis, professor of law at the University of Arizona, yesterday was appointed lecturer in law for the academic year 1922-23. Professor Davis received degrees from Harvard and the University of Chicago and after several years of active practice became professor of law at the Arizona institution in 1915. He acted as dean of men there and in 1920 conducted a summer course at Berkeley.

Wilfred M. Aiken, B. S. M. A., was appointed lecturer in education in the school of education. For the past four years he has been director of the Scarborough school in New York and prior to that time was a member of the faculty of Ohio State University. He is the author of several volumes on educational subjects.

SACRAMENTANS TO VISIT HOME SHOW

Special excursions are being arranged from the Sacramento valley to the California Complete Homes Exposition, which starts in Oakland on September 28, to last for three weeks. The exhibition, sponsored by Oakland civic bodies, including the Real Estate Board and the Chamber of Commerce and backed officially by Alameda county and the city of Oakland, will be unique.

It will be the first exhibition of the household arts ever held in real homes, built for occupancy in a selected residential section, but utilized on completion for the display of home furnishings, household equipment and electrical appliances and presented among landscaped gardens. The ten houses which will be the "exhibit palaces" of the California Complete Homes Exposition are located in the Lakeshore Highlands section.

Other household arts exhibitions held in the United States have been housed in auditoriums, where the dwellings used for displaying the wares obviously have been makeshift. The Oakland exposition will be unique in that each house will be completely furnished as taste dictates, prominent home-furnishing firms of the bay district having been asked to participate in the equipment of the homes.

The ten houses are all of different designs and construction, from hollow tile and all-redwood bungalows to commodious frame houses. During the course of the exposition there will be frequent talks on household art and allied subjects. Special days will be observed during the exposition.

Eight Fires Burning Over Forest Areas

PETALUMA, Sept. 13.—A total of eight forest fires are reported to be burning in the northern end of Sonoma and the southern part of Mendocino counties. The largest of these fires is burning in the vast brush some three miles from Skaggs Springs. According to travelers from Lake county, two fires are raging in Lake county, one near Upper Lake and the other in the Lakeport region.

Refused to Eat at Home

Although she prepared three meals a day, Mrs. Brown, whose husband for a period beginning in January and ending in July of 1921, he refused to partake of any food she cooked and ate all his meals at restaurants, according to the testimony of Mrs. Brown, 4018 Piedmont avenue, who was granted a divorce from C. F. Austin, a manufacturer with offices on Davis street, San Francisco. The couple were married in San Francisco in 1911, and separated in Piedmont in July, 1921.

As long as she worked and held her job, her husband was willing to live with her, but when she got sick and was unable to work, he left her, Mrs. Brown, 536 Thirteenth street, told the court. She was granted a divorce from Thomas Brown.

During the war her husband, Charles Badestrom, worked in the shipyards as a foreman and received a wage of $170 a week, but when the armistice was signed he was ordered to stop work again, according to the testimony of Mrs. Adena Badestrom, 1611 Walnut street, Alameda, who was granted a decree. She said that when he left he gave her $3 to live on, and the next day returned, she stated, and he took $3 away.

ALIMONY REFUSED.

In refusing to accept alimony from Lodovico Borroverro, Mrs. Lotte Borroverro, 729 Clay street, manager of an apartment house, told the court that if she was granted alimony it "will mean that my husband will only come pestering around and won't want to have anything to do with him any more." She testified that she gave him money to set him up in business, and that he gambled it all away. When he found she had no more money he left her, she stated. She was awarded a decree.

MARY C. MALCOLM told the court that when she was employed as a cashier in a local cafe her husband, Steve Malcolm, called her out on the street and slapped her face for no apparent reason. Mrs. Malcolm, who lives at 838 Thirty-fifth street, said that her husband beat her on many occasions. She accused the decree on grounds of extreme cruelty.

CHARGES BEATING.

After her husband had remained away from home for two weeks without telling her where he was going, he returned and told her he was going to give her "one last beating," according to the testimony of Mrs. C. E. Bettencourt, 1662 Forty-fifth street, who was granted a decree from Albert N. Bettencourt. She said he had beaten her many times before, usually because she refused to quarrel with him. She was awarded custody of a minor child, a daughter.

Electrical Official Feted by Colleagues

H. F. Rea, manager of the Pacific States Electric Company of Oakland, was the guest of honor yesterday at a luncheon tendered by members of the various Eastbay electrical companies at the Hotel Oakland.

Rea has been transferred to Los Angeles, where he will be manager of the Pacific States Electric Company.

Among those present at the luncheon were: E. A. Vandegrift, W. C. Sage, George B. Furniss, John Gregory, Clark Baker and A. H. Schaad.

The Importance of Healthy Kidneys

Many organs take part in assimilation of food, and a number are active in eliminating those portions of the food which are not taken into the blood for the rebuilding of the body. Of the eliminative organs, the kidneys are of major importance, and are most likely to be overworked and become diseased. When such is the case, various troubles of digestive and eliminative character occur, and such troubles are so frequent and so common that it is absolutely necessary to find some relief.

Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Remedy was compounded fifty years ago to help equalize the work of both kidneys and liver. How successful it has been is evidenced by its wide-spread sale and its value is attested by an immense number of appreciative users who through these many years have put it to the severest tests with the most satisfactory results.

Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Remedy contains no harmful ingredients and should be used when the kidneys need attention.

Sold by leading druggists everywhere. Sample sent on receipt of ten cents. Warner's Safe Remedies Co., Dept. 363, Rochester, N. Y.—Advertisement.

Not Accurate

Distances "from here to there," and the relative areas of the various continents, are a good deal different than they appear on the maps studied in school, according to E. J. S. Cahill, fellow of the Royal Geographical Society, and inventor of the "Butterfly" map.

Cahill was the guest of honor and principal speaker yesterday at a luncheon of the Oakland Ad club held in the Hotel Oakland.

"What makes the average map, the kind you are all familiar with, unreliable," said Cahill, "is that you can't present a globular surface on a plane surface without having trouble."

MAP IS DECEPTIVE

The ordinary map of the world was made primarily for navigators, and is good for showing directions, and that is all," Cahill declared. "In order to transcribe the curved surface of the earth into terms of a plane, it was necessary to spread apart the converging meridians so that they appear to run parallel, and to increase the distances between the parallels of longitude as they approach the poles, instead of keeping them at equal intervals apart."

The result is that on the ordinary map of the world, Greenland appears to be twice as large as Australia, when in fact Australia is three times the size of Greenland. South America, which is as large as North America, appears on the map as only half as large.

"On the ordinary maps, the shortest route from Panama to Yokohama appears to run through Honolulu. As a matter of fact, it runs through Galveston, Texas, Portland, Ore., the Aleutian Islands, and then down the coast of Asia.

DIFFICULTY IS OVERCOME

"The line which appears to mark the shortest distance between Oakland and Lisbon, on the regular maps, runs through Chesapeake Bay. But on the actual surface of the earth it would run through Winnipeg, Canada, Hudson Bay, and Labrador."

The "butterfly map," Cahill said, is designed to present, on a plane surface, the surface of the earth more nearly as it actually is. This is accomplished, in effect, by slitting the surface of a globe into eight pieces—two vertical cuts at right angles to each other, and one horizontal cut through the equator, and then spreading the eight pieces out flat. The odd shape that it then takes gives it its name, "butterfly map."

"But," Cahill said, "it is virtually the first map that is correct to distances, areas, and directions all at the same time."

Burglary Suspect Conducts Own Trial

Samuel Jenkins defended himself yesterday against charges of burglary when he was brought before a jury in Judge Church's department of the superior court. Jenkins examined the jurors, the panel being filled late in the afternoon. He then proceeded to cross-examine witnesses as they were put on the stand by Deputy District Attorney Wade Snook.

Jenkins is accused of having entered the home of Mary E. Kelley, 402 Forty-first street, April 1, last, and to have taken a revolver and some jewelry. The state charges that he has a prison record of one term for robbery and one for burglary.

OFFICER'S KILLING TWO YEARS AGO LAID TO CASTOR

Thug Who Murdered Policeman Recently Blamed for Slaying James Horton.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—An additional killing has been added to the long list of murders accredited to Walter Castor, who several months ago shot and killed Police Detective Tim Bailey, his sister-in-law, Mrs. Annie Castor, and then himself, according to the police today, as a result of information given out by Attorney Frank J. Murphy.

Murphy is the attorney for Henry Wilkens, who is in the city prison awaiting trial on a charge of complicity in his wife's murder, for which Walter Castor is said to have been responsible.

SHOT OFFICER, CLAIM

Castor shot and killed Patrolman James W. Horton two years ago, according to a statement given to the police by Murphy. This, police say, makes a total of six murders committed by the gunman, before he fell before the pistols of the "death squad."

Horton was shot during an attempted liquor robbery at the corner of Chestnut and Powell streets, early in the morning of September 20, 1920. The slayer of the officer never was identified.

Murphy said that he first learned that Castor killed Patrolman Horton through alleged admissions made to other persons in the county jail by Arthur Castor. Murphy added that he has affidavits which he will produce at the "proper time" to substantiate his claim.

OTHER MURDERS

Today Captain of Detectives Duncan Matheson said that Horton was killed by one of three booze robbers and that no definite description of the killer had been obtained.

The five murders with which Castor was credited before this information was divulged are: Fatal shooting of William Dwyer, at Eighteenth and Castor streets, on August 3, 1912.

Killing of a Chinese tongman in Chinatown, two years ago. Slaying of Mrs. Anna Wilkens. Murder of Detective Bailey and Mrs. Annie Castor.

Irish to "Battle" For Fort at Outing

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—A miniature fort will be erected in Shellmound Park, Emeryville, to be used Sunday for the sham battle to be participated in by 100 men at the annual summer outing of Company A, Irish Volunteers, Captain John F. Waters, chairman of the committee in charge, states that the affair will attract 8000 people and will be "fought" on a more elaborate scale than the "battle" last year.

All Irish societies of the bay cities will be represented. A Gaelic dance contest to be participated in by fifty Irish lassies, pavilion dancing, games and athletic events also are included on the program. The outing will be the last of the picnic season for the various societies.

Extradition Signed For Theft Suspect

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 13.—A warrant for extradition for the return of Ross Brown, former secretary of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen at Sparks, Nevada, was issued yesterday at the office of Governor W. D. Stephens. Brown is alleged to have embezzled several hundred dollars in funds of the brotherhood while he was serving as an official. He is under arrest in Fresno.

Dinner Arranged to Boost "Little Theater" Campaign.

MRS. ELINOR CARLISLE, member of hospitality committee of Berkeley civic body, who is arranging for dinner this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Noble Burnham Will Be Guests of Honor at C. C. Affair.

BERKELEY, Sept. 13.—Recognition of a new "Little Theater" movement in Berkeley on Saturday night with a dinner planned for the Hotel Claremont in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Noble Burnham. Burnham, a sculptor, and his wife, a dramatic leader, came to Berkeley recently to make their home and Saturday night's dinner is planned by the college city civic body as one of a series of events welcoming distinguished strangers who establish themselves in the university community.

Guests at the dinner will be entertained in the Burnham studios at the Hotel Claremont and the plan of the Burnham Players, as the "little theater" organization sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Burnham is called, for a series of dramatic evenings will be outlined. According to the general hospitality committee of the Chamber of Commerce of which Miss Cora L. Williams is chairman, "it is the hope that out of this dinner will grow an organization for the support of this little theater enterprise."

Associated with Miss Williams on the hospitality committee of the Chamber of Commerce are: Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Long, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Keeler, Miss Fannie W. McLean, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Rowell, Rev. Ralph B. Larkin, Judge and Mrs. William H. Waste, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence W. Whitnev, Mr. and Mrs. Max Thelen, Mr. and Mrs. George Friend, Mrs. Elinor Carlisle, Mrs. Susano Stone Davis and Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Fessenden.

Insanity Claimed For Hammer Slayer

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 13.—The first definite plans for the defense of Mrs. Clara Phillips, chorus girl, whose trial for the "hammer murder" of Mrs. Albert Meadows is scheduled to begin next Monday, were revealed today when it was learned that it will be claimed she was a victim of "brain storm" insanity, the plea made famous in the case of Harry Thaw, slayer of Stanford White.

The defense will claim the "brain storm" was incited by gossip she had heard that her husband had given expensive gifts to the girl who was slain.

Scout Executives Leave for East

Scout Executive Homer J. Bemiss left today to attend the biennial conference of American Boy Scout Executives at Blue Ridge, N. C. Fifteen western executives met in Oakland before going east and were shown Oakland's Scout camp and other details of Scouting on the east side of the bay. Chester Withington, field executive, is acting Scout Executive during Bemiss' absence. During Bemiss' absence the drive for Scout recruits will be vigorously prosecuted by Withington and other members of the council.

Man Who Attacked Family Is Traced

OLYMPIA, Wash., Sept. 13.—Further trace of a man who made a brutal attack on the family of Mrs. Katherine O'Hara, eight miles west of here Thursday night, has been found. In a report that a stranger answering his description had eaten breakfast in a home near Elma, according to L. S. May, private detective of Seattle, who is organizing pursuit.

The man carried a gun and acted peculiarly, according to the report. The housewife feared him and complied with his request for food. He disappeared before her husband arrived.

You'll Get Rid of Blackheads Sure

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads, that is to dissolve them. To do this get two ounces of calomel powder, from any drug store, sprinkle a little on a bit of wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear. Blackheads are a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions that form in the pores of the skin. The calomel powder and the water dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition. Advertisement.

GRANDMOTHERS FIGHT FOR GIRL

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—Nine-year-old Miriam Josephine Denike is anything but neutral regarding the battle that is being waged for her custody by her two grandmothers—Mrs. Martha A. Denike of Oakland, and Mrs. George Guldager of San Francisco. Mrs. Guldager is aided in her fight by the child's mother, Mrs. Ethel Miriam Wade.

"Go away, Mama—I don't want to see you!" the child cried as her mother rushed up to her and sought to kiss her following a hearing of the guardianship suit before Superior Judge Frank H. Dunne.

She also attempted to thrust aside her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Guldager, as the latter drew the child to her in the corridor of the city hall.

A. R. Denike, the girl's grandfather on her father's side, threw a coat over her head to shield her from the caresses of her mother and grandmother, and led her away.

Mrs. Denike, whose husband, A. C. Denike, former naval gunner, was buried in the Presidio Cemetery following a brilliant record in the World War, is alleged to have surrendered her rights in the child some years ago. She is now attempting to establish the legal right of her mother, Mrs. Guldager, to act as guardian of the nine-year-old girl, in opposition to Mrs. Denike, who claims to have been taking care of her for several years.

The Sign of Co-operation

Lining the highways of Alameda and Contra Costa Counties are yellow road-signs, bearing the inscription

Welcome to Oakland
Week
Sept. 11-16

These road signs have a deeper significance than that of inviting our friends and neighbors in to partake of a fall festival of shopping, of getting better acquainted with a modern city that has achieved its growth in a few short years. They are the outward manifestation of a spirit of co-operation among Oakland's merchants that speaks for community progress, a broad-gauge get-together where the benefit of the whole city is the chief consideration, rather than the selfish advantage of the individual.

When we learn to work for the success of the other fellow as well as for our own, then do we prosper far in excess of what we could working only for ourselves.

The city must prosper first before we can prosper to any marked degree. To do business in a city there must be a city to do business in, and a city is composed not of one store, one shop or one business. It is a group of stores, a group of shops, a group of businesses.

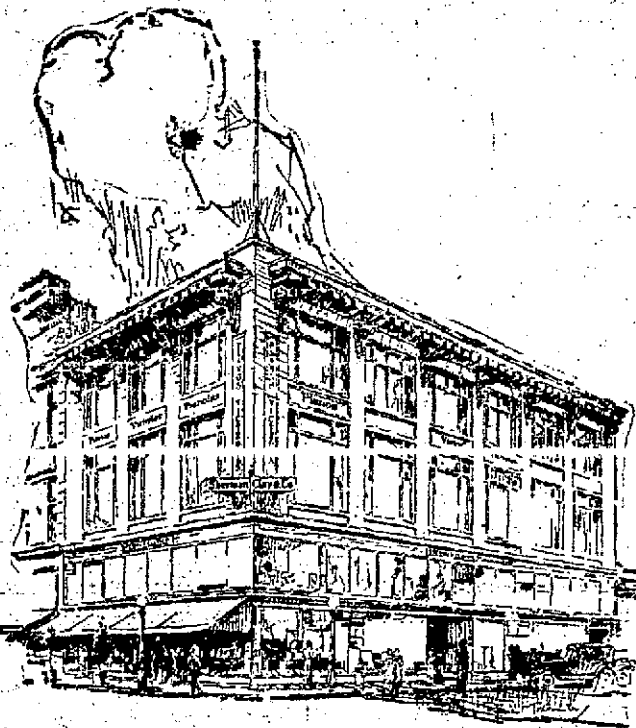

The First National Bank of Oakland, and the American Bank, to the men who have made "Welcome to Oakland Week" possible, extend their heartiest congratulations for their enterprise, and see still greater things in store for the city and themselves.

ASSEMBLY PLANT OF NEW CAR MAY BE LOCATED HERE

Official of A. A. A. Reaches Oakland After Test Run
Across U. S.

By JIM HOULIHAN

Within a few months representatives of the Gray Motor Company of Detroit, builders of a new automobile called the Gray, will visit Oakland and the bay cities to select a site for an assembly plant to build their motor cars, according to word brought here by Captain A. B. Walton of Detroit, who arrived in Oakland yesterday after a trip across the continent on the Lincoln highway, in a Gray car.

The president of the Gray Motor Car Company is F. L. Klingensmith, former treasurer of the Ford Motor Company and one of the three directors of that company for many years. The production manager is F. F. Beal, who was with the Packard Motor Company for several years.

The concern is well financed and has been building automobiles since the first of the year. It is now producing at the rate of sixty cars a day. Additions are under way which will give the concern a daily output of 200 or more cars before the first of the year. The plant is being constructed on a forty-acre site in Detroit, on the river, being rushed on the first of the new units, a building 80x300 feet.

Captain Walton, accompanied by Leo De Clark of the Gray factory, drove an experimental model across the continent, and will leave San Francisco today on the return trip, which will be an economy run from San Francisco and Oakland to New York city.

Captain Walton is the representative of the American Automobile Association, under whose auspices all official tests and races are held.

The Gray is a four-cylinder car, having many new features, according to Walton. Its motor was designed and is now built in the company's own factory.

Other units, such as carburetor, bodies, starting and lighting systems, are of standard design. The Gray company has been building marine motors for many years, and its advent into the automobile business came as a natural trend with the assumption of control by Klingensmith, who is one of the best-known men in the automobile industry.

Distributors are now being appointed in many parts of the country.

The first Gray car ever sent west of the Mississippi river is the one now here, which was driven across, its pilot, as yet, without trouble. The new plant, which may be PLEASANTON, Sept. 13.—William Marsh, 31 years old, of Santa Rita, is in the Alameda county hospital today with a basal fracture of the skull and internal injuries from which he may die as the result of an automobile crash on the highway between Pleasanton and Livermore last night. Martel Antracoli of Livermore, driver of the machine, incurred minor injuries. He was able to assist Dr. J. Hal Cope of Pleasanton in caring for Marsh.

The accident occurred near Santa Rita. Antracoli's car left the road as he was trying to make a turn and plunged into a telephone pole.

Terman to Succeed Angell at Stanford

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Sept. 13.—Professor Lewis M. Terman, co-author of the National Intelligence Test and compiler of the Terman Group Test of Intelligence, has been appointed executive head of the department of psychology here, according to a list of appointments released by the university's president's office. Terman replaces Dr. Frank M. Angell, well-known field judge and track expert, who has been head of the department for thirty years and now retires at the age of 65 with the title of professor emeritus.

Professor Terman was recently awarded a grant of $20,300 by the Commonwealth Fund of New York city for the study of gifted children.

"Rubbing it in on Baby"

The tiny pores of baby's skin are the external mouths of minute ducts which connect with the circulatory system of the precious little body.

Olive Oil applied to the surface of the body is so congenial to the organism that it is carried directly into the circulatory system, where it is strained through the walls of the larger tubes and enters into the tissue building fluids of the body.

Wonderful results often follow the outward application of olive oil. Many little lives have been saved and robust, healthy children have been created from weak, little, anemic, under-nourished bodies by the simple use of pure olive oil gently rubbed into the tender, starved pores of baby's skin.

Be sure to use pure olive oil. Sylmar Olive Oil is a perfect massage for baby and grown-ups, too.

AIMS OF "Y" TOLD AT LARGE RALLY TO BOOST DRIVE

Oakland Business Chieftains
Address Young Men on Future Careers.

"Training of young men and boys for service, to themselves, to the community."

This is the slogan of the Oakland Y. M. C. A., which is going before the public next week in an appeal for $50,000 to meet pressing financial needs.

The aims of the "Y" were presented at a big rally of the young men's division of the association last night. Frank A. Briggs, manager of Sherman Clay & Co., Oakland, was the principal speaker. He said in part:

You young men must work toward a definite goal. Three things stand out in the individual who is after success, ability, energy, opportunity. Business demands all you can give it from a physical as well as a mental standpoint. If you live a clean life, have a clean body, a clean mind, you will reap one hundred per cent efficiency."

William Gillanders, general secretary and campaign manager of the "Y," told of the various opportunities of business courses offered to the young men of the "Y." And he warned:

There is much danger to those who misuse their leisure hours. Captains of industry continue to study. They do not waste time in useless things. Don't fail, fellows to make use of your leisure hours. You can't drift into power; you must work for that.

William Hamlyn, president of the young men's division, presided at the dinner which preceded the rally. He called on Shirley Snow, physical director of the division; John Fechter, Jr., Milton N. Meacham, Charles H. Blesse, leader of club groups, for brief talks.

High tribute was paid to James Harrison, secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

(Young Men's Division). Lloyd Younger, social secretary of the "Y," sang to accompany the George D. Spaulding.

Meanwhile the campaign organization of the association is nearing completion. The active appeal will be launched next Tuesday under the general direction of R. A. Leet, chairman of the campaign committee. The three divisions of the association are as follows: Hunter-J. B. Nash, Harry Hollidge, Careton E. Schmidt, S. E. Sherman, R. H. Mouser (Bill Stinson); Lyon—W. A. Jenkins.

BERKELEY, Sept. 13.—A joint campaign for $75,000 for the city and University Y. M. C. A. in Berkeley will commence September 19, under the general chairmanship of Robert G. Sproul, comptroller of the University of California. It was announced today.

Citizens, including Judge William H. Wast, William Morrish, A. F. Hoehenbeamer, R. A. Hlsox, Elmer Nichols, Neil Munro, and Frank Thatcher, will serve on the executive committee of the campaign.

The "Y" fund includes maintenance for both associations for the coming year, funds to carry on extension work, and a large program among University students by the campus association.

Earnest L. Mogge, affiliated with the international association of the Y. M. C. A., is general campaign manager. John Berger, general secretary of the city association is the campaign secretary.

The budget is allocated as follows: For the city association, maintenance through 1922-23, $15,700; to equip a "Community Center" $25,000; for a boys' annex to the present building, $21,400. Total for the city association, $62,100.

For the University Y. M. C. A., Berkeley appropriation, $14,385; maintenance need through purchase of additional land, $11,515. Total for University association, $25,900.

The budget of $75,000 also includes a contingency fund of $7,000, and a contribution toward the national fund for retirement of securities, amounting to $2,000.

The campaign is to be carried out by means of teams of ten men each. There will be 21 teams.

LESSON NO. 155.
Resistance Coupling in Multi-Stage Amplifiers.

There are three methods in general use for coupling the separate stages in amplifiers employing vacuum tubes for the purpose of multiplying the incoming radio signals. Of these methods, coupling by voltage amplifying transformers is perhaps the most common, the other two methods being namely, "impedance coupling," which employs the use of choke coils as interstage couplers, and "resistance coupling" in which the amplifying transformers are replaced by high resistances.

In the accompanying diagram the coupling resistances are shown at (R), these resistances having a high value, for example 100,000 to 2,000,000 ohms. A coupling resistance, at all events, must have a value in excess of the internal impedance of the tube.

The incoming oscillations are rectified by the detector (D) and the voltage variations are amplified by the two succeeding stages (A) and (A-1). The condensers (C) and (C-1) are inserted in the grid circuits of the two stages of amplification to prevent the voltage of the plate battery from affecting the grids of the respective stages. The audio-frequency component of the plate current of the detector tube passes through the condenser (C) and causes voltage variations on the grid of the first amplifier tube (A). The grid variations in turn cause variations in the plate circuit of (A), which in turn cause further amplified variations in the plate circuit of (A-1).

The use of the grid bias or "C" battery in the two stages of amplification permits operation at a desirable point of the characteristic curve so that amplification may be accomplished without distortion.

In contrast to amplifiers employing transformers or impedance coils for interstage coupling, the resistance coupled amplifier requires a plate battery having a voltage from two to four times in excess of that normally used. This is necessitated by the loss in voltage through the BERKELEY, Sept. 13.—Mrs. Irene Sanderson, proprietor of an art novelty shop in Berkeley, was today named as a member of the board of directors of the Berkeley Chamber of Commerce to fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of Max Thelen from the executive board. Mrs. Sanderson is the second woman to be named to the board and has been chosen as a representative of business women of the college city. She is well known in civic and club circles. Mrs. Elinor Carlisle was named to the board some weeks ago as representative of women of Berkeley not actively associated in the professional and business world.

Exide BATTERIES

Battery locomotive vs. Old blind mule

The old blind mule that hauls coal cars in a mine is being replaced by the mine locomotive. More coal we must have, and mine locomotives propelled by Exide-Ironclad Batteries have proved that they can handle more coal, save labor, and cut costs.

Not only beneath the surface of the earth, but beneath the sea in the submarines of various nations, Exide Batteries lend the magic of their stored-up power.

Above the earth, in airplane ignition, Exide Batteries play their unfailing part. In wireless plants, in telephone systems, in scores of industries, Exides prove their dependable power.

Exide was the first automobile battery and is recognized as the battery of long life and dependable power. You will find that Exide quality is an economy and an added satisfaction in motoring.

When you need a new Exide or responsible repair work on any make of battery, the nearest service station will give you expert attention.

THE TARIFF BILL.

The Fordney-McCumber tariff bill, as reported in conference, gives assurance to industry and the farmer an end is coming to a fight against those newer odds which confronted them when Europe, with its low exchange, started in to recoup its losses. There are few fields of endeavor, in the factory or on the farm, which have not been menaced by competition from a source where labor is cheap and from whence there is a determined effort to reap American dollars in exchange for depreciated currency.

The level of rate in this bill is below that of the Payne-Aldrich bill but, fortunately, is higher than the Democratic Underwood law now in force. The Underwood bill, it will be remembered, was framed on the protective principle and retained many of the schedules of the Payne-Aldrich law. Under normal conditions an improvement on the Underwood law would have been demanded. The present bill seeks to make those improvements and takes cognizance of the unusual world economic situation. Prosperity demands protection from low cost industries on the other sides of the Atlantic and the Pacific.

There is no doubt that the tariff of drawing a perfect tariff bill. The test of this measure will come in its operation. So far as California is concerned it may be said in the schedules affecting commodities grown and made here, this state fared better than any other. The ideal way of drawing a tariff would be to put the task in the hands of a permanent commission which could make alterations with changing conditions and which could devote its full time to a study of the problem. Because, in some of its clauses, this bill leaves the way open for changes to meet those which may come with a return of the measure to Europe and because, in this instance, the farmer cannot complain, the Fordney-McCumber bill is unique. The "farm bloc" was a dominant influence in the preparation of the measure.

SECOND LARGEST INDUSTRY

Cotton, this year, promises to be the "second largest business" in the United States. Charles M. Morgan, of California, Texas, and Arizona, has been telling the cotton story to senators and representatives in Washington.

When it is disclosed that the American Cotton Growers' Exchange is but two years old, has close to 200,000 members, and has between 2,500,000 and 3,000,000 bales of cotton signed up on legal contracts, an idea of the immensity of the industry as represented by this organization may be obtained. Nine state cooperative cotton marketing associations are affiliated in this exchange which is purely a farmer's business. Its success in avoiding waste and returning to the producer a larger share of the returns is being awaited eagerly by the cotton growers of the country, not a few of whom are from this state.

What has been done in various agricultural industries with oranges, apricots, raisins, apples and figs is being done with cotton. If an equal amount of success comes it can only result in making more persons prosperous and that means a better market.

NEXT YEAR'S FAIR.

With the closing of the gates on the annual exposition at Sacramento it is not too early to start planning for next year's State Fair. Presumably many things were learned with the 1922 show; certainly there were many innovations which made for a better and more enjoyable fair.

The gambler, the kewpie doll barker, wheel of fortune man and the rest were not allowed within the grounds and as a result, exhibitors say, all records were broken in the number of persons who visited the displays and expressed interest in what they saw. These exhibits and the large crowds have confirmed the fair as an annual institution. At the same time they speak for unceasing efforts toward improvement.

If every county in California would get behind the State Fair in a spirit of that healthy rivalry which is so apparent at other times, there would be no better exposition in the country. There is every incentive toward such participation. The visitor at the State Fair this year could not fail to be impressed with the manner in which the agricultural counties, particularly those of the San Joaquin and Sacramento Valleys, entered into the spirit of the community display, and at the neglect of opportunity displayed by the largest centers of population.

Attendance at the fair, which was the sixty-eighth annual one, totaled 144,091, exclusive of the passes. This is not quite so large a crowd as was present a year ago. All obligations are to be met from the receipts. The chance to make next year's fair so much better than any which have gone before that it will attract a national reputation is within the reach of the counties. Particularly necessary it is that San Francisco, Los Angeles and Alameda counties give to the fullest of their encouragement and support.

THE VOTE IN MAINE.

By one of the heaviest Republican majorities it has ever given in a state election Maine, the pivotal and indicative state, once more has demonstrated the voting trend. In an "off-year" election candidates for senator and governor on the Republican ticket in Monday's election have been given majorities of close to 30,000 votes. The close margin that was Maine's in other years has disappeared.

The figures of two years ago when the Republican majority in the presidential election was 65,000 afforded no proper means of comparison. Then it was a presidential election and everything was in the scale. Then, too, Wilsonism was the paramount issue and the voters, in overwhelming numbers, showed by their ballots that, for the time at least, they were tired of it. The combination of forces which existed two years ago is not present today. It could not hold together through a second campaign and it is not desirable it should.

The last state election in Maine, to which a comparison may well be made is that of 1918 when the Republicans polled 64,069 and the Democrats 58,918 votes, a plurality of 5,151 as compared with 30,000 this year. The 1916 presidential election returns, fought out on straight issues, showed a similar result, 69,506 Republican votes being cast against 64,118 of the Democrats.

In fact the balance in Maine has been so close through the years that results there have been given unusual attention. As Maine goes so goes the nation is an old saying which, frequently, has been proved true. The election of Monday shows the close margin is not present, that Senator Hale and Governor Baxter have been given majorities of close to thirty thousand votes, the largest in an off-year state election in Maine in many years.

Without the tremendous spur of a presidential contest, without the personal influence or wartime issues, Maine has spoken as it was expected she would speak. Republican leaders regard the results in the light of an emphatic endorsement.

A MILLION A YEAR.

In spite of a shortage of cars and the difficulties of transportation under strike conditions, five hundred refrigerator cars loaded with California fruit are going over the Sierra each day. A million dollars worth of California produce starts its trip for the east with the rising of each day's sun and that much money is returned to the growers and the handlers in this state.

The striking statistics of California's fruit crop were brought out recently by George W. Pelletier, a banker in Sacramento. "One million dollars a day is the gross value of this output," he says in a bulletin, "more than $300,000,000 each season—more than $100,000,000 greater in value than the entire oil output in California in the year 1921, and this stupendous sum which fruit shipments return to California is also bringing back to our state more wealth than all our gold mines."

Each year sees new fields broken for the planting of trees and vines and each year sees the growers evidence new enterprise in developing the market for their produce. California fruit is world famous and so long as it keeps its climate and its progressive farmers it will continue to be so.

BISHOP FALLOWS.

The death of Bishop Fallows marks the passing of one of Chicago's best-known citizens and the completion of a long career of varied and useful achievements.

There was something both heroic and inspiring in the battle for life which the venerable bishop waged up to the closing moment of his 87 years. Stricken while taking a needed period of rest in California, and considered in a dying condition, he insisted on being brought back to Chicago, his home city that he loved. Though he grew better and confidently expected to recover and resume his work, his great age prevented, and so he died.

A chaplain and later a colonel in the civil war, Bishop Fallows fought for the cause of peace, and in the pursuits of peace he toiled throughout the fifty-seven years that followed. Democratic in all things, he labored with a will, whether in a university chair or preaching on a street corner. A leader whose work became known nationally, he resolutely avoided all self-exploitation.

Whether on the battle field in halls of learning, in the pulpit, on the platform or in the social settlement, Bishop Fallows served with an unselfish spirit. Chicago will long remember him.—Chicago Daily News.

DAILY ALMANAC

"Necessity. Day".... Welcome to Oakland.... General Pershing was born in 1850.... Titus, Roman emperor, died 81 A.D.... Michael de Montaigne died in 1592.... General James Wolfe killed at the capture of Quebec 1759.... It was the Battle of the Plains of Abraham.... Fort McHenry was bombarded in 1814.... Leonard Kip, who wrote "California Sketches," was born in 1826.... The Tarry-Broderick duel was fought in 1859.

"In spite of what you may hear to the contrary," Parfinkle began, "you may take it from me, the general public will not follow advice." Parfinkle seemed strangely excited. The manner in which he jumped into the conversation without the usual preliminaries betrayed the state of his mind. It had been weeks since he had seen him and we may say, offhand, for the benefit of his friends, he is looking well.

"I am here to report," he continued, "the results of a most remarkable tour of investigation. Indeed, I am the only man who ever attempted to find out if there has been a single instance of a man hitching his wagon to the stars. I may say the idea is impracticable. The few who have tried have failed."

"Of course the only way to find out was to ask the stars themselves, to examine them for the odd bits of rope and chain, the hitching posts and the dangling wagons. As I grow older it becomes increasingly mystifying to me why no one else ever thought of these things which seem, by fate, to fall to my lot. Nothing must do, it would seem, but I must sacrifice my time and my energies. They smoke fearful ropes on Mars. Gimme a cigar. Thanks."

Remember the gentleman who was going to travel to the skies in a rocket? I sought him out and induced him to part with the thing. He guaranteed it to work and said the only reason he did not try it was because his wife would not allow him out nights. To go to a star one must travel by night, he said, for otherwise the aiming would be difficult.

"I climbed into the rocket and the gentleman obligingly took it off. Imagine a locomotive blowing off steam in the middle of a tunnel! I ascended until I reached a height where there was no up and no down. Everything was nothing. The rocket landed on a small star which, until I found it, had had no name. You may refer to it as Parfinkle Jr., a tribute to my own effulgence."

"This star informed me no man has ever sought to hitch any wagons to any part of its surface. 'You will find,' said the star, 'the difficulties in driving a wagon along the milky way and through the open spaces is at the least, discouraging. Men who aspire to the heights are not harnessed to wagons. No, sir, I may say in all my experience as a star I have never seen a wagon!'

"It was the same story on the first eleven stars I visited. Moreover, I found it next to impossible to hitch anything to a star. There are no facilities for hitching and until something is done to remedy the situation it is worse than useless to make the attempt."

"The only instances I could discover, and these were repeated from star to star and finally to me, were two which failed. There was a gentleman who succeeded in fastening his vehicle to the dog star with a result the thing was so frightened it has not been itself since. Then there was a short-sighted fellow who mistook a comet for a genuine star and there is no record of his failure or success. No doubt he has been spilled out of his wagon long ago."

"No," said Parfinkle, "the thing may be regarded as settled. One cannot hitch his wagon to a star until public sentiment is aroused to a point where hitching posts are supplied and better highway facilities accorded. Do not believe anyone who tells you different."

"And yet, I suppose," he added as he went out, "folks will go on advising the trusting younger generation to continue in this foolish attempt."

NOTES and COMMENT

Medford Mail-Tribune: Multnomah county, of which Portland is the capital, is tainted once more with the slime of ballot banditry. One hundred and ninety-seven Republican votes have mysteriously disappeared from their locked and sealed boxes. The county clerk and all hands seek them feverishly, and new born reformers spew alibis, higher and higher and on. Just before the primary, the metropolis was completely overcome by civic righteousness, via the New Bunk, and in the hands of wingless angels. She was paralyzed with purity, and wanted to change her name to Deaconessville. Oratorical drummers, and citizens away from the Holy City, urged the hick districts to renounce their sins and be sanctified, by doling up like a circus horse. When they started counting the primary results, and the smoke of scandal began to rise."

New York Herald: "Forty years ago today (September 4) Thomas A. Edison gave the signal which put into operation the first electric central station in the world. The generating plant which began to function on September 4, 1882, was installed at 257 Pearl street, this city. To the youth of the present generation the remarkable thing in this is that flooding their homes with light by merely pressing a button has been possible only about forty years, a period of time shorter than the life span of a good many young persons."

Los Angeles Times: "If fame is to be gained by degrees, Herbert Hoover has certainly arrived. It is said that he has been accorded honorary degrees by no less than twenty-four colleges and universities in this country and Europe. He has almost as many degrees as a thermometer."

Washington correspondence Boston Telegram: "Styles was changed in senatorial representation, and politicians are wondering whether the States have permanently set the fashion of sending a man from each of the great parties to represent them in the United States Senate. It may not be generally realized that not less than nine States are now represented by split delegations in the upper branch. These are Arizona, Kentucky, Massachusetts, Missouri, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, Ohio and Wyoming. All except Kentucky must elect one Senator this year, and the politicians naturally are asking themselves whether this scheme of bi-partisan representation is to become the regular thing."

Washington Post: "The fact that the Chénia, the notorious Bolshevik organization, which in the Soviet regime plays the same role as the infamous committee of public safety did during the French revolution, has found it necessary to execute 1243 priests proves that the Moscow government classes the Russian Orthodox church among its enemies. If the statistics of the activity of the Chénia published at Riga are to be believed, the exploits of the French revolutionary tribunals sink into insignificance compared with those of the Soviet regime."

Kansas City Star: "Senator La Follette is reported to be amazed at the size of his majority in Wisconsin. Which reminds one of Louis XV's exclamation, 'What have I done to be so loved?'"

SPIRIT of the STATE PRESS

Figures indicate that California is growing—growing in population, growing in wealth, growing in reputation, growing in everything that makes a state great. Yet its growth has hardly begun. It had 3,500,000 people in 1920. Men and women now living will see 10,000,000, probably 20,000,000, living and working and prospering and enjoying themselves in California.—San Bernardino Sun.

Let dogs alone in hot weather! As the thermometer rises wisdom indicates that it is better not to pet strange canines nor tease the home pet. Stray dogs running the streets should be herded in by the authorities, the pets should be kept at home, provided with clean food and then let alone. Water should be plenty in private yards and on the streets.—Woodland Mail.

Benicia may become a meat packing and canning center if the present plans of C. W. R. Thelen, packer and canner of Chicago and Sacramento, are fully developed. Mr. Thelen and associates have purchased the Morris packing properties north of town, where it is proposed to erect a modern beef slaughtering and meat canning plant in connection with the hog killing plant now located there. Sunsun Courier.

We have a letter from the San Francisco Advertising club, which discusses that sometimes amusing, often irritating, and usually careless habit of designating sections of the state as "northern" or "central" or "southern," either with or without the use of the capital letter. Recently The Republican made a plea for the use of the small letter only. This may appear to be a trivial matter. But the difference between talking of "Southern California" or "southern California," or of "Central California" or "central California" is really important.—Fresno Republican.

Time and space are ceasing to exist in a world which can bring all times and all places to the here and now, and the sign of the poet for "touch of a vanished hand, the sound of a voice that is still," is realized by the motion picture, the player piano and the talking machine. And the wireless brings the living present of the remotest distance to your home.—Woodland Democrat.

R. Rampont went to a small spring and had just sighted himself out flat to get a drink when a slight noise attracted his attention, and upon raising his eyes he saw, less than a foot from him, a rattlesnake, coiled and ready to strike. Getting out of his dangerous position as quickly as he could, Mr. Rampont got a shotgun and shot off the head of the rattlesnake.—Ukiah Press.

Someone asks why the election for nomination of candidates is called a "Primary." Perhaps because so many voters act as if they belonged to the primary school.—Turlock Journal.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

THE YELLOW DOG.

It was a little yellow dog, a wistful thing to see,
A homely, skinny, battered pup, as dirty as could be;
His ribs were showing through his hide, his coat was matted with mud,
And yet the way he wagged his tail completely captured Bud.

He had been kicked from door to door and stoned upon his way,
"Begone!" was all he'd ever heard, 'twas all that folks would say;
And yet this miserable cur, forever doomed to roam,
Struck up a comradeship with Bud, who proudly brought him home.

I've never seen so poor a dog in all my stretch of years,
The burrs were thick upon his tail and thick upon his ears;
He'd had to fight his way through life and carried many a scar. But still Bud brought him home and cried: "Say, can I keep him, Ja?"

I think the homeless terrier knows that age is harsh and stern,
And from the shabby things of life in scorn is quick to turn;
And when some scruffy yellow dog needs sympathy and joy—
He's certain of a friend in need, if he can find a boy.

RADIO REGULATIONS

Secretary Hoover's efforts to prevent confusion and inefficiency in broadcasting by radio are being watched with considerable interest in Great Britain, where the government, in order to achieve like results, has adopted a policy of regulation that is admittedly drastic. In England broadcasting is still in its infancy, but its rapid development and extensive use for educational, recreational and political purposes is generally anticipated.

The government demands nothing less than the creation of a species monopoly in the field of broadcasting. In the United States combination is viewed with apprehension and there is an antiquated trust law to enforce competition. In England, for the purpose of obtaining good service at low rates and without interference with public needs—military or other—the government insists that all the companies engaged in broadcasting, or planning to undertake that service, shall form one corporation, possible, or at most two corporations, and offer stock to all manufacturers of the apparatus required in wireless transmission of news or other matter.

The company or companies are to be licensed and no person or firm is to be allowed to install a receiving apparatus without a license and a small contribution to the expenses of the broadcasting company. On the other hand, British manufacturers of radio apparatus are to be protected against German or American competition for a period of at least two years. Negotiations are now proceeding between the postmaster-general, who is charged with radio control, and the radio interests, and an agreement on the lines laid down by the government is regarded as certain.—Chicago Daily News.

About YOUR HEALTH

What You Can Do to Correct Some Simple Speech Defects

By ROYAL S. COLELAND, M. D.
Commissioner of Health, New York City.

There are many forms of speech defects and many causes for them. There may be muffling of the tones in some cases, and in others actual inability to pronounce certain letters or words.

Some cases are due to swelling of the tissues or to new growths. Others are due to absence of necessary parts of the vocal system or to withering of the tissues. Still others are caused by loss of function due to interference with the nerve supply, and failure of muscular action as a result.

To speak clearly and distinctly the vocal cords and other portions of the voice-box must be in normal condition and properly controlled by the nervous system. The throat, nose and naso-pharynx—the space between the nose and throat—must be open and free. The tongue and lips must function properly. The lungs must supply abundant air.

If you have any voice defect—muffled tones, stammering, stuttering, loss of certain letters or any other embarrassing failure of natural speech—what should you do? The first thing to do is to locate the cause. To this end there must be a thorough examination of the nose, mouth, throat, naso-pharynx and lungs.

If there should be found growths in the nose, great thickness of the nasal tissues, obstruction due to pronounced deflection of the nasal septum—the partition between the two sides of the nose—or adenoids, clear speech cannot be expected until the obstruction is removed. Tongue-tie, lost teeth, enlarged tonsils and swelling of the uvula have any possible relationship to speech must be considered.

Sometimes the voice is weak because the lung capacity is limited. Deep breathing exercises will overcome this defect. It is due to nerve paralysis—there is failure of the vocal cords to meet squarely together, or of one of them to move, there is no need to expect relief by any operative work on the nose and throat. Appropriate treatment must be given the disturbed nerve.

Many cases of stammering and stuttering are due to self-consciousness and lack of poise. When these persons are taught to breathe deeply and naturally and to speak calmly the battle is half won.

Reading aloud after being fully relaxed and with every syllable clearly and distinctly uttered, will assist in a cure.

The correction of this trouble requires great patience and perseverance. It will take months to mark great improvement in the speech of many persons and in many public schools are specially trained teachers who deal with voice defects and teach methods of overcoming them. Even though you have a speech defect, make another effort to find a means of overcoming it.

"THE HEAVENS DECLARE."

Two twin suns have been discovered in the boundless regions of space. The discoverer is a British Columbia astronomer and his discovery will immortalize his name, since the twin suns will bear the designation of Plaskett. The suns are measured to be a distance from the earth of fifty-two quadrillion miles—figures which cannot be grasped.

One of these suns is seventy-five times the mass of the sun which illumines and warms the earth; the other is sixty-three times heavier. One of 15,000 times brighter than our sun, the other 12,000 times brighter. All the fixed stars are declared to be suns—Plaskett the largest of all.
Fifty-two quadrillions of miles may not be grasped, such is the immensity of astronomical figures. But reducing the figures to modern terms is possible. An airplane traveling 200 miles an hour would require thirty billions of years to travel from the earth to the newly discovered suns. Light, traveling at the rate of 186,000 miles a second, would require more than five thousand years to complete the passage.
Plaskett's discovery ought to give us self-centered, earth-centered mortals something to think about.—Salt Lake Tribune.

"Welcome to Oakland" Week Produces Big Results

NEW RECORD IS PREDICTED BY DEALERS

Buying Public Now Realizes Better Values and Wider Variety Are Found Here; Necessities Are Displayed

"Welcome to Oakland Week" is producing results that even the most optimistic of its projectors failed to anticipate, according to reports received yesterday by the executive committee. Monday proved to be a record day in many of the stores, and Tuesday, which was naturally expected to show a little decrease, held up to the Monday standard. The remainder of the week, it is confidently predicted, will establish new records.

FIND BETTER VALUES.
 "The business men of Oakland have known for a long time that the shopper would find better values, better service and a wider variety of merchandise from which to make selections in Oakland than elsewhere," reads a statement issued by the executive committee yesterday. "This fact, however, was not generally known by the buying public, and it was for the purpose of acquainting the people of this fact that the merchants have worked so hard to make 'Welcome to Oakland Week' a success. Now the shoppers have had an opportunity to compare the values offered in Oakland with those offered elsewhere, and all doubts as to the advantage of shopping in Oakland have been dispelled."

"NECESSITIES" FEATURED.
 Today the stores are changing their displays and featuring "Necessities." This includes everything from household necessities to personal necessities and has given the merchants a splendid opportunity for the display of the products of Oakland factories. Over 500 industrial plants are located in Oakland, and most of them are given over to the manufacture of those goods which are included in the necessities classification.

FIRMS CONTRIBUTE.
 For the first time yesterday the committee was enabled to issue a complete list of the various business houses and firms whose cash contributions made the week possible. It follows:

Wiley B. Allen Co., Ambrose the Tailor, American Bank, Anderson's Carpet House, Bank of Italy, Edgerly Barber Co., Ben McNutt, Edgerly

PAST GLORY TO FEATURE AID PAGEANT

Bits of the glory of ancient Greece and Russia in the days of Catherine the Great will vie with the Latin Quarter of Paris in the setting for the "Merry Whirl of 1922," the annual pageant of the Baby Hospital of Alameda county. Scenes for the various episodes, depicting the court of old Europe, are now being painted by local artists who are joining with others in giving their talent to the extension and maintenance of the splendid work of the Baby Hospital organization.

The Merry Whirl will be produced under the direction of Miss Lisa Stewart of New York at the Municipal Auditorium, September 25, 29 and 30. Participating in the various episodes of the pageant will be several score well known society belles and beaux with a generous number of the younger buds to make up the chorus dance numbers.

Tickets for the boxes, which will be erected around the arena of the auditorium for the pageant are being disposed of by a committee of which Mrs. William Cavalier is chairman. Tickets for the three nights are being sold by a committee which includes Vere Hunter and Leslie Oliver of the Klusene Club, Mrs. Francis McCaffery, Mrs. C. N. Jamison, Mrs. Emory Elliott, Mrs. Frank Hall, Mrs. Walter Briggs and Mrs. Fletcher Ames of the hospital board. The preliminary tickets now on sale will be exchangeable for reserved seats after September 15.

Funeral Held Today For W. H. Hathaway

BERKELEY, Sept. 13.—Funeral services for William Henry Hathaway, the oldest deacon in St. John's Presbyterian church, were held this afternoon from the church edifice in College avenue. For more than 50 years Hathaway has been a resident of the Eastbay cities. He was connected with the general freight office of the Southern Pacific in San Francisco 35 years of that time. He died at his home, 6437 Telegraph avenue, yesterday, at the age of 70. A widow, Mrs. Beverly Cox Hathaway, and two daughters, Mrs. Dorothy Faddock and Mrs. Leslie Johnson, survive.

Hathaway was born in Portland, Me.

FIRST PART OF BIG HIGH PLAN READY

Plans for the Susan B. Anthony junior high school, to be erected in the Park Boulevard district, were completed today by the school construction department and referred to the superintendent's council, which sends them to the Board of Education for final approval.

The school will be a part of the future Oakland high school, and the Susan B. Anthony junior high school will be part thereof. The plans for the final school, to be completed some day in the far future, contemplate a mammoth structure 740 feet long, facing Park Boulevard and running back

Dredge Proves Success As Extinguisher of Fire

Fire protection for the West Oakland waterfront is now assured. Unofficial experiments with the municipal dredge today proved that as a fire-fighter the dredge is superior to everything except a cloudburst. City officials, who recently demanded protection by state fire-boats for the east shore of San Francisco bay, are now considering the advisability of telling the naughty state officials not to bother themselves.

Today's experiments were the result of an accident. About a week ago the garbage dump took fire. It dislodged 250 feet toward Hopkins street. The building will accommodate 2500 pupils, making it one of the greatest in the West, and as large a school as can be administered handsily.

thousands of rats and laid a heavy, smelly smoke-screen over West Oakland. The fire department sent some pumps and these kept working, but the fire smoldered under heaps of paper and oil waste, and would not be put out. The area of the burned district was enormous; but as the dump is larger still, the officials let 'er burn.

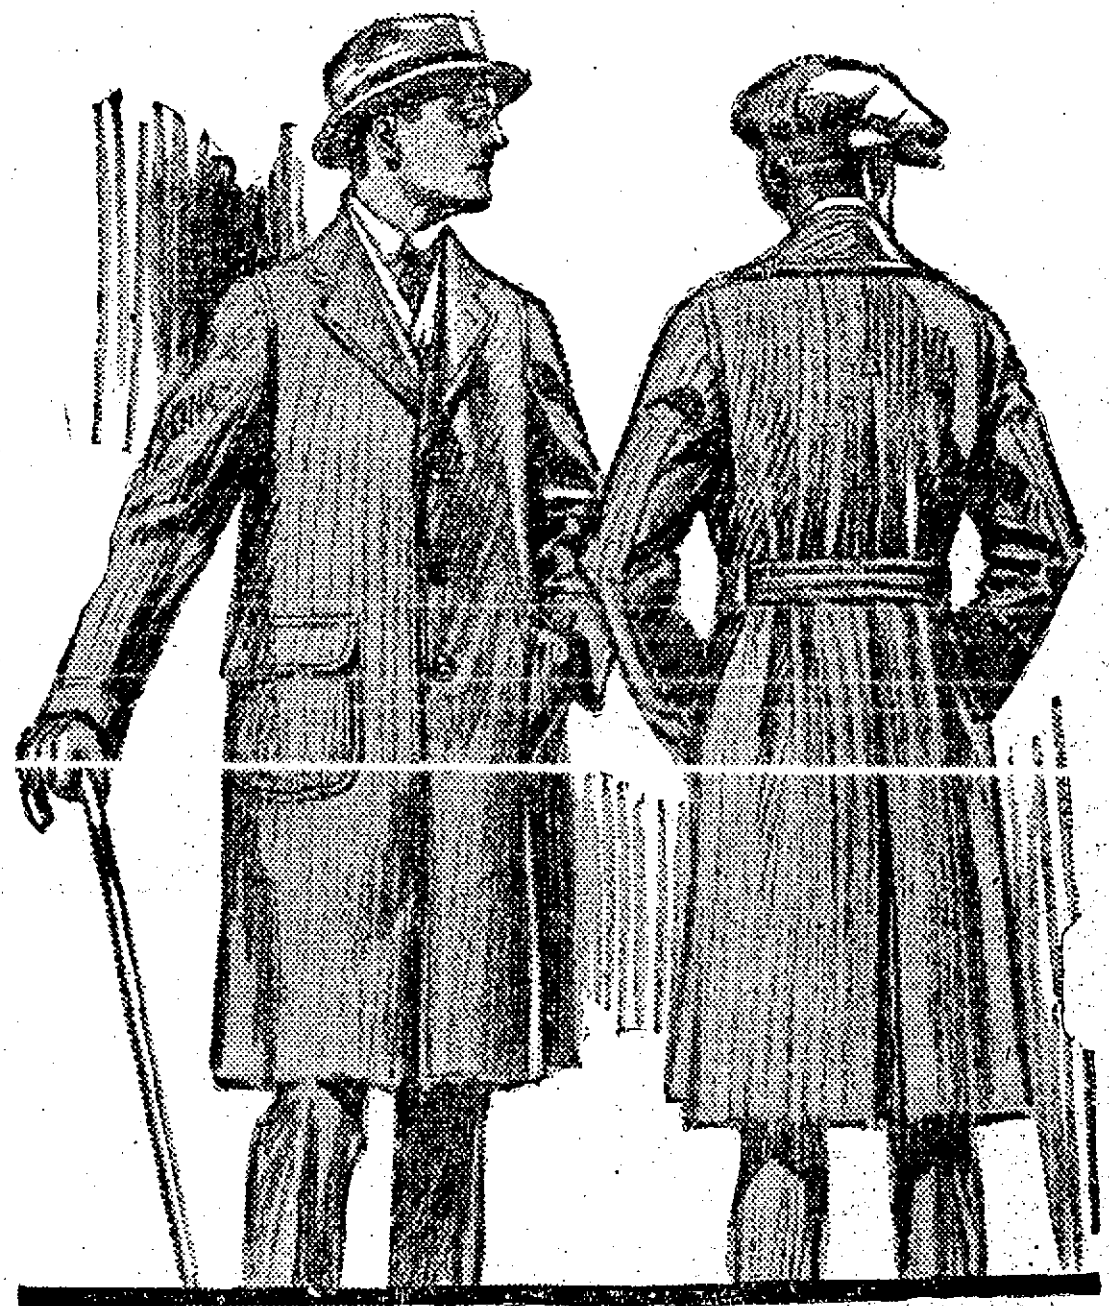

Mayer Davis yesterday demanded more action to put out the fire.

"Let the big dredge pump sand and mud," he suggested. The dredge moved toward the fire. Its pipe line was changed so that the muzzle faced directly at the burned district. Then the powerful dredge, just overhauled, shot a blast of sand, mud, water and air at the fire.

COUNT GIVES TYRRELL 621 PLURALITY

The official count of votes cast at the recent primary gives Police Judge Edward J. Tyrrell a plurality of 621 votes to succeed himself over that of his nearest opponent, Howard L. Bacon, according to figures given out today by Jo Wagner, county registrar.

The total vote for Judge Tyrrell is 23,303; for Bacon, 22,682, and for the other two candidates, Judge Mortimer Smith, 28,530, and Frank McGuire, 6286. The total number of ballots cast in Oakland was 51,917.

$250,000 Building Program Is Planned

TRUCKEE, Sept. 13.—Although swept by a fire doing an estimated damage of $170,000, the town of Truckee, located in the Eastern part of Nevada county, has not lost its spirit of progress and announcement is made that a building program involving, probably, a quarter of a million dollars will result from the conflagration.

The Sierra Nevada, one of the buildings destroyed, is already being rebuilt and will be in readiness to accommodate the motion picture companies who seek "locations" at Truckee each winter.

"BIG TIM" WILL FIGHT.

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—"Big Tim" Murphy, picturesque labor leader, whose six-year sentence for the $386,000 Dearborn station mall robbery in April, 1921, was affirmed yesterday by the United States circuit court of appeals, prepared today to carry his fight to the United States supreme court.

EX-ARMY CHIEF IGNORES BLAME FOR WAR ERRORS

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 13.—Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war, in a formal statement yesterday, said he had no interest in "distributions of individual praise or blame" concerning the conduct of the world war, as the only answer he would make to the biography accorded him in the Encyclopedia Britannica. The biography detailed numerous criticisms of him.

"The American army won the war," Baker said. "The American people, by their sacrifices and ideals, sustained the army and ennobled the cause. The glory of it is a common possession and is of the great national tradition. I am deeply interested in gathering the fruits of this victory, as justice and peace for men everywhere, but I have little interest in distributions of individual praise or blame. Upon a comment purely personal to me, I have nothing to say."

BABY MAY ENTER CONTEST BY HEIRS OF BELL ESTATE

Petition For Probate of Eustace, Son of Mystery Woman, Involves Child.

Thomas Bell, two-and-one-half years old, may become one of the contestants in the estate of the late Teresa Bell of San Francisco, valued at several millions of dollars, it was learned today through the filing in the Alameda superior court of a petition for the probate of the will of the late Eustace Bell, father of Thomas. Eustace Bell, father of Thomas, left an estate valued at upward of $20,000, exclusive of his interest in the Teresa Bell estate.

Dorothy Bell, the widow, residing at 1015 Excelsior avenue, Alameda, and Reginald Bell, a brother, living at Oroqui, Tulare county, are the executors named in the will. Farming lands near Merced and personal property, including cash in bank and household goods in this county, constitute the estate.

CONSIDER CONTEST. It was learned today that Mrs. Bell and her brother-in-law have been in consultation concerning the advisability of instituting proceedings to break the Teresa Bell will, which was filed in San Francisco recently. In that document all of the Bell children were cut off, the will declaring that they are not the children of Teresa Bell.

There were five children named in the Teresa Bell will. Each was left the sum of $5, the bulk of the estate being bequeathed to any cousins that might be found. Already several persons have appeared who claim such relationship.

The Bell family of San Francisco has been much in the limelight for several years past. The old Bell mansion has been a house of mystery and the fount of many tales of romance. The presence in the family for many years of a factotum in the person of a negro known as Mammy Pleasant gave rise to many of these stories, which included as features tales of voodoo charms and black magic.

Mammy Pleasant was said to have ruled the Bell household and to have dictated many of the acts of Teresa Bell and her husband, the late Thomas Bell.

WIFE NAMELESS, CHARGES MAN TO ANNUL MARRIAGE

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Rev. D. Harris, former vice-president of the National City bank, who is seeking annulment of his marriage on the ground that his wife misrepresented her family and true station in life before their wedding in St. Louis in 1915, yesterday filed a supplemental affidavit purporting to indicate that she was of illegitimate birth.

According to his complaint, she told him before marriage that she was the daughter of Stacker Lee, member of a prominent family, and a niece of Eli Rayner, also of high social standing in Memphis, Tenn. Harris alleges that his investigations have revealed that Stacker Lee died a bachelor.

Mrs. Harris, through her attorneys, denied that she ever claimed Stacker Lee as her father and stated "defendant is now informed and believes that her mother married one Samuel C. Lee, who was related to said Lee family in Memphis."

The complaint set forth that Harris believes his wife to be the daughter of Mrs. Saluda Ann Harris Lee, third wife and widow of Samuel C. Lee, who died in 1887. Harris further alleged that at one time Mrs. Harris swore that she was born in 1895.

Spontaneous Blaze Causes $5000 Loss

TURLOCK, Sept. 13.—Spontaneous combustion in a hay left destroyed a barn house and tankhouse by flames at Hughson. The fire was discovered in a barn belonging to E. M. Hudson shortly before midnight. The Modesto fire department was called out but was unable to check the flames until they destroyed the home of Joe L. Nunes and an adjoining tankhouse. The damage done was estimated at $5,000, which is nearly four times as much as the insurance held on the structures.

FIRE UNDER CONTROL. EUREKA, Sept. 13.—A fire which has been burning over cut timber and brush land in the vicinity of Colton, 20 miles of here, destroying telephone and telegraph lines, was reported under control.

a single half sheet of letter paper and reads as follows:

"I hereby leave all that I die possessed of to my wife, Dorothy Bell. I appoint my wife, Dorothy Bell, and my brother, Reginald Bell, executors of my estate to act without bonds."

Bell died at the Adler Sanitarium August 24, 1922, within a few days after the death of his mother.

Bible Obscene in Parts, Judge Says, Exonerating Books

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—You cannot judge a book by its paragraphs when you are trying to decide whether it is tainted with obscenity—you must judge the book as a whole.

With this opinion, Magistrate Simpson dismissed complaints by John S. Sumner, secretary of the Society for the Suppression of Vice, against the publisher of three modern volumes which he contended were indecent.

The magistrate, in his decision, recalled a supreme court ruling in which it was held that even some paragraphs in the Bible might, if printed alone, come within the statute prohibiting indecent and obscene literature.

The magistrate said he had read with sedulous care the three books with which Mr. Sumner found fault: "Casanova's Homecoming" by Arthur Schnitzler; "Woman in Love" by D. H. Lawrence, and "A Young Girl's Diary," the anonymous chronicle of the life and thoughts of a girl between the ages of 11 and 15, attributed to the daughter of a Venetian seaman.

UNLESS YOU ARE a new resident of Oakland, you know many of the men who are directors of THE OAKLAND BANK. You know they represent the progressive interests of the city—a fact of which many of the depositors of the bank are proud.

Back in the nineties, when The Oakland Bank of Savings was primarily a savings bank, most of the directors were of the typically conservative type of the time.

As Oakland grew commercially, so did this bank, so that today you find progressive business men working with progressive bankers on the Board of Directors. This insures you a modern departmental banking service consistent with your needs.

PURER Than the waters of the Rye

ROBERT BURNS immortalized Rye—the little stream in Scotland. There, a body could kiss a body, if he were lucky enough to catch her as she tripped from stone to stone at the crossing.

But, although the waters of the Rye were reputed to have been clear and sparkling, they could not have been any purer than the water served you each day by the East Bay Water Company.

Imagine impurities .000003937 of an inch in diameter being strained out of water by the process of filtration. Think of the aeration and sterilizing processes as well as other modern methods employed by experts to assure you water free from harmful bacteria.

Sentiment and water won't mix. The picturesque situations and sentimental thoughts of clear streams and old wells are appropriate for songs and poems. But the management of the East Bay Water Company concerns itself with matter-of-fact problems, which assures you of pure water.

OAKLAND HAILED AS STYLE CENTER FOR BAY REGION

Dealer Exhibits New Fall Models as Proof of City's Gains in Modes.

Oakland has become a style center and the women of the Eastbay cities are as fashionable and as well dressed as any in the country. This is the opinion expressed today by Mr. J. J. Suich, manager of the new Reich & Lievre store at 1320 Broadway. And to prove his contention, Suich exhibited a number of the new fall fashions, which he took at random from the Reich & Lievre displays.

"I have always maintained," said Suich, "that the Eastbay section is the home of stylish women, and here is the proof. In our new store we are carrying the same merchandise as is carried in our San Francisco store, and the result is that hundreds of women who previously went to San Francisco for their apparel are now coming to our Oakland store. Of course, it is more convenient for the women living on this side of the bay to shop on this side of the bay, but they will not do so for their wearing apparel unless it compares a hundred percent with the apparel they can purchase in San Francisco for style, newness, quality and price."

GRATIFYING RESPONSE.
"When we opened the new Reich & Lievre store here it was with the idea of establishing a store in Oakland where the women of this side of the bay could shop with the same satisfaction as though they took the long and tiresome ferry trip to San Francisco. Their response has been even more gratifying than we expected. Our business in Oakland has grown by leaps and bounds, making it necessary for us to keep constantly increasing the size of our display to keep up with the demand. We have tried to make this store as fine as any on the coast, and the future looks so promising that I believe it will soon be as big as any of the kind, not only in size and variety of stock but in volume of business as well. I believe that the Eastbay women prefer to shop in Oakland and we intend to continue to make it attractive for them to do so."

WOMEN MAKE STYLES.
"It is fatter styles you mean short skirts," he replied, "don't ask me. Ask the women. You know it is an old saying that the woman will have the final word, and it is decidedly true in regard to style. The stores do not make

Three Modish Satellites of Eastbay Fashion Sun

Oakland is now a style center par excellence, according to J. J. Suich, manager of the new Reich & Lievre store, who cites the three styles shown in the accompanying illustration to prove that Eastbay women are as fashionable and well-dressed as any in the country.

the styles nor does Paris. All Paris can do is to design what the women of the world want, and all we can do is to provide it for their easy choosing. This is so true that each season the big Paris houses are forced to hold several "openings" before the style is definitely fixed. The first openings display the styles that the great designers, from their experience and knowledge of the fashion trend, backed by their artistic genius, believe will be the logical development of the mode. This early display is intended merely as a try-out. It is the suggestion of the designers. They then observe how these suggestions are received; in other words, endeavor to read the minds of the women; and after that, what changes the demand dictates a second opening. A third opening, which they call the "final opening," give them their definite cue, with which knowledge they are able to go ahead and develop the final style, which, as a rule, is shown at the third, or final, opening.

"But even Paris is not infallible. You know Paris has been trying for three seasons to eliminate the short skirt. Judging by the early season demand, I am inclined to believe that the women have finally made up their minds to adopt the long, beautifully draped skirt. But you never can tell. All I can say is that whatever the demand, Paris must design and we will supply. That is what Paris designers and retail stores are for."

UNIVERSAL ACCEPTANCE.
"It is not possible that the women of one city will want long skirts while those of another will insist upon short ones."

"It is possible, but I do not think that condition has ever prevailed. You know, there is a saying that a style does not become a style until it has crossed an international boundary line. The strange phenomenon is that whenever fundamental style changes are accepted by the women of one great country they are simultaneously accepted by the women in every great country. Somehow, the women all over the same moment that they want the same thing. It is inexplicable. But we know that it is true. And it has been demonstrated too frequently to be only a coincidence. The women in all the great style centers now seem to have made up their minds that they want the long, draped models to take the place of the short, straight skirts. But, whatever they want, they will have their way."

A trip of inspection through the Reich & Lievre displays revealed a ravishing variety of the new longer skirted models, and Suich says the women will for that kind, especially in dresses.

Woman Decoyed, Given 100 Blows By Four Women
BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEADERS WIRE TO TRIBUNE.
FORT WORTH, Tex., Sept. 13.—Mrs. H. C. Tatum of Stop Six, Dallas Interurban, who was decoyed from her home late last night and given 100 lashes with a cat o' nine tails by four women, today was in a serious condition. Her body is a mass of bruises, according to her aunt, Mrs. Jane Floyd.

The whipping was given by a "committee of four" of the "Ladies of the Invisible Empire," a communication addressed to the newspapers stated, alleged "ruining of her daughter," Naomi Tatum, aged 14.

No threats of any kind had been received by Mrs. Tatum prior to the occurrence last night. One of the women was masked, Mrs. Tatum said.

"Mrs. Tatum had some little trouble, but none that would merit such treatment," Mrs. Floyd said. "Several women of her church have asked that the daughter, Naomi Tatum, be educated by the church. Mrs. Tatum objected to this. She and her husband have had a little trouble over the girl, but it has happened only when the mother whipped the daughter."

"Tuesday night about 9 o'clock a big automobile driven by a man and occupied by four women, drove up in front of the house and two of the women got out. They told Mrs. Tatum that they would take her to her daughter. When she got in the car and they had driven a short distance the women told her they were members of a secret society from Dallas. They accused her of ruining her daughter and said that as Tarrant county women would not act, they would show her Dallas women would."

Former Speed King Sued For Divorce

Mrs. Lucille Cooper of the Lady Shirley apartments has filed suit for divorce from Earl P. Cooper Jr., former automobile speed king. Among other things, Mrs. Cooper charges that her husband stayed away from home on many occasions without explaining his absence, failed to come home to eat his meals and confessed that he has no affection for her. The estrangement, according to Mrs. Cooper, began in November, 1921. The Coopers were married in August, 1910.

Youth Mysteriously Shot in S. F. Park

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—Sylvester Eaton, 1928 Forty-second street, is in a critical condition at the San Francisco hospital as the result of a mysterious shooting which occurred in Golden Gate Park, near the Chain of Lake, last night. Eaton is said to have told two different stories concerning the shooting. One was that he had been shot by a hold-up man, and the other story was to the effect that he had been struck by a stray bullet. The bullet penetrated Eaton's abdomen. Eaton is 18 years of age.

Victim of Crazy Party's Bullets Dies

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—Charles Kelly of 180 Parker avenue is dead from a bullet wound received at Second avenue and Geary street, early Monday morning. Kelly and two other pedestrians were shot by a party of autoists, the members of which apparently crazed by liquor were "shooting up the town" as they drove along at top speed. There were two men and one woman in the automobile.

TWO HURT BY FALL.

BLIKLEY, Sept. 12.—Haste to get to their home at 2205 Eighth street sent Mrs. Mary Manthas and her daughter, Miss Mary Manthas, 22 years old, to the Temple hospital at 10:20 o'clock last night. Both women were preparing to alight from a Southern Pacific electric train at Ninth street and Channing way. They fell from the steps of the train, sustaining cuts about the face and body. They were not seriously injured.

You Save Big Repair Costs by painting now

YOU can't escape. Either you paint your home when it needs it or you spend from five to ten times as much rebuilding what has rotted away for lack of paint protection.

Painting costs so little compared to the service of saving it renders, that failure to paint is utter extravagance.

Painting is economy and an additional economy is found in using the best paint. It spreads easily—saves labor cost. It covers more area per gallon than "cheap" paint.

But most important, the best paint serves five or more years longer than "cheap" paint. It assures better results at a lower cost in the long run.

We have been making the best paints for 73 years—to meet the weather conditions in the West. The best materials—PIONEER

NERVOUS AND HALF-SICK WOMEN

These Letters Recommending Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will Interest You

For Your Own Good Please Read Them

Youngstown, Ohio—"Last fall I began to feel mean and my back hurt me and I could hardly do a little bit of housework. I was played out when I would just sweep one room and would have to rest. I would have to put a cushion behind me when I would sit down and at night I could not sleep unless I had something under my back. I had awful cramps every month and was just nearly all in. Finally my husband said to me one day, 'Why don't you try Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine?' and I said, 'I am willing to take anything if I could get well again.' So I took one bottle and a second one and felt better and the neighbors asked me what I was doing and said, 'Surely it must be doing you good all right.' I have just finished my eighth bottle and I cannot express to you how I feel, the way I would like to. If you can take anything if I could get well again, I would like to know it and if any woman does not believe what I have written to be true, she can write to me and I will describe my condition to her as I have to you."

He Is Looking 'Em Over Again

"Eight years of stomach and liver trouble reduced me to a walling skeleton. My skin was dried up and as yellow as a twenty-dollar gold piece. I was filled with gas and had severe pains in my right side. I could not think and had lost all ambition to do anything. Doctors' medicine did not touch me. My cousin advised Blay's Wonderful Remedy, which snatched me from the grave. I have gained sixty pounds, eat like a hired man and am looking 'em over again." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucous from the intestinal tract, and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will cure or money refunded at all druggists.—Advertisement

CITY ATTORNEY'S ASSISTANT GETS RE-CREATED POST

City Council Restores Position; New Zoning and License Measures.

The city council this morning re-created the old position of assistant city attorney, amended the license ordinance, took steps to tighten the zoning ordinance around Lake Merritt, decided to relocate West Fourteenth and Thirty-fourth streets and gave Commissioner Carter a two-week leave of absence.

The position of assistant city attorney was dropped at the end of H. L. Hagan's term. Hagan had one assistant and three deputies. City Attorney Gray merely has two deputies. The position, according to Gray, is restricted in order to promote his chief assistant and to provide for quicker handling of the city's legal business, growing larger every year.

The ordinance creating the office of assistant city attorney was passed last night.

BAKERS EXEMPTED. The license ordinance, which imposes a tax on bakers and confectioners, was amended to exempt exclusive wholesale manufacturers of breads, confections and like goods.

"It is our policy to encourage wholesale manufacturers in Oakland," said Commissioner Colbourn. "For this reason we should not force them to pay the license intended for retailers."

Concerning the zoning ordinance around Lake Merritt, the council informed the council that "experience has shown that a more explicit ordinance must be enacted."

The mayor asserts that the council has been repeatedly requested to change the boundaries of this residence zone to allow the invasion of businesses into this district, and as the city is spending thousands of dollars to make this district attractive, a stringent ordinance should be drawn, made tight against any possible commercial invasion.

A resolution was adopted by the council directing the city planning commission to make a survey of the district and prepare an ordinance to fit it.

RELOCATE STREETS. An ordinance was passed to print by the council giving the commissioner of public works power to deal with the Terminal Railway to acquire land to relocate West Fourteenth and Thirty-fourth streets.

"Those streets," said Commissioner Carter, "are now so aligned that they will not be parallel to Seventh street when they are extended to the pierhead line. We believe they should be parallel to Seventh, to make the ultimate waterfront a well proportioned district. In order to do so we have to trade our rights-of-way with other property owners, and this can be done. The streets to be relocated will be parallel to Seventh."

Carter also introduced a resolution providing that "harbor maintenance and improvement fund" be created and resources from dockage and tolls be placed in this fund. Commissioner Edwards questioned the establishment of such a fund.

"Monies derived from the harbor should be used for harbor improvements," said Carter, "and not into the general fund, for the use of playgrounds or streets or something else. It was the intention of the people that the harbor's revenues should be used in that direction."

Edwards refused to vote, but the resolution was adopted. The city engineer was requested to make plans for the relocation of Stanley avenue from East Fourteenth to Myers streets, and Bartlett street from Brookdale avenue to School street.

Mate Turned on Gas, Left Her, Says Wife

Mrs. Mary Thomas, in a divorce suit filed today against Frank Thomas, a stevedore, declares that she was saved from death by her husband after he turned on the gas. This attempt upon her life was made by Thomas, the wife declares, in their home at 222 Grove street in November, 1921. Some months before that when they lived at 130 Chestnut street, her husband threatened to kill her while displaying a revolver. Mrs. Thomas avers. She also charges that he has been on several occasions and frequently called her vile names. She asks for custody of four children and $75 a month for their support. They were married in the Hawaiian Islands on January 20, 1920.

D. S. RICHARDSON MOTHERS SELECT FUNERAL PLANNED MEETING PLACE

BERKELEY, Sept. 12.—Last night will be held at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the First Baptist church for David Sidney Richardson, for 37 years foreign secretary to the Japanese consul in San Francisco, whose death occurred at his home, 1707 Tacoma street, Richardson was 71 years old and was born in Mass.

When four years old, Richardson came to California with his parents, making the trip around Cape Horn. With the exception of five years spent teaching school in Lake County, Los Angeles, and Fresno, Richardson had made his home in the bay section.

A student at the old College of California, the forerunner of the University of California, Richardson was one of the early graduates from that institution. Giving up a teaching career Richardson devoted himself to the diplomatic service and served as a member of the American embassy in Mexico City under John W. Foster. Later he became affiliated with the Japanese consulate in San Francisco and gave years of untiring service to that work. Richardson was well known in civic circles and was a member of leading clubs about the city. He was also known as a writer in the old Overland Monthly of pioneer days and for a book on early Californians in which is included much of value in the early history of the state.

Richardson is survived by a widow, Mrs. Eva F. Richardson and four children, Mrs. Helen M. East and Sidney W. Richardson of (Fresno), Wash., Mrs. Ruth Hagerdon, Medford, Oregon, and Daniel A. Richardson of Berkeley. He also leaves a sister, Mrs. Horatio Stein of Alameda.

Separation "Bunk," Says Willard Mack

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 12.—Willard Mack, playwright and actor, put an end to reports of disagreements in his family at his home here today, when he said he is living happily with Mrs. Mack. "I am going to stay here and live a home life, play with the kids and finish some plays I am working on," he said. "Later, I expect to go to New York to market the plays."

As to rumors of a separation from Mrs. Mack, he disposed of them tersely as "pure bunk."

Sessue Hayakawa Back From Orient

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—Sessue Hayakawa, Japanese screen star, arrived here today from the Orient, accompanied by his wife, the liner Shima Maru. Hayakawa said that the reported ill feeling in Japan caused by the part he took in a recent motion picture in this country was greatly exaggerated. He said his visit to his native land was most pleasant. Hayakawa announced his intention of temporarily forsaking the movies for the legitimate stage about November 1, when he will appear in New York under the Shu-cho management.

SECOND PLOT TO KIDNAP S. F. GIRL, AGED 15, FOILED

Duo Scared Away After Seizing and Binding Maid in Her Own Home.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—The police detectives are searching for two men who late last night attempted to kidnap 15-year-old Anna Krutzer for a second time since September 1 from her home at 2198 Market street.

According to the girl's story, she was sitting in the living room last night when the window suddenly opened and a man wearing a sailor's uniform climbed in. With a scream, the girl attempted to run to the rear of the house, but the man seized her and, taking some tape from his blouse, bound her hands together securely. He then threw her to the floor, and tearing her apron from her used it to tie her feet. When this was done he went to the window and called in a second man wearing a sailor's uniform.

At this point a noise startled the two, and they hastily climbed out of the window and fled. The girl left lying on the floor bound hand and foot, and heard the men, an auto-rickshaw being driven away.

She lay on the floor helplessly tied for about an hour, when three men, friends of Milo Johnson, a roomer in the house, entered and found her. They untied her and Johnson told Detective William Harrison that on September 2, returning to the house at a late hour, he had seen two men in sailor uniforms prowling about the premises. On his approach they eluded into a waiting automobile and fled.

The girl gave a good description of the two men to the police. Her mother and father are now on a vacation in Sonoma county.

PRISON TERMS URGED TO CURE UNSAFE DRIVING

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—Prison sentences as the only effective means of checking accidents due to the carelessness of motorists were advocated for traffic law violators by James W. Inches, Detroit commissioner of police, in an address at the international police conference today.

"About 12,500 persons are killed in automobile accidents yearly in this country," said Commissioner Inches, "and about 300,000 are injured. Prison sentences are being given in Detroit for traffic violations and we are finding that it is actually checking the joy riding and reckless driving."

VARIED CHARGES MADE BY WIFE

During the forty days they resided together after marriage, George P. Van Jusen subjected his wife to many cruelties, according to charges made by Mrs. Dolores Van Jusen in a divorce complaint on file today.

Ten days after their marriage in San Jose on October 20, 1920, Van Jusen severely beat her wife, she says, and this was followed during their short married life by her husband calling her names, constantly berating and scolding her and his frequent absence from home nights which he refused to explain. The wife asks the court to grant her a divorce and the right to resume her maiden name of Sneed.

Autoist's Trial Date As Slayer Named

Police Judge Mortimer Smith today set September 29 as the date for the preliminary examination of Sophie Nelson, a barber, who is charged with manslaughter.

On Saturday night Nelson is alleged to have been driving an automobile which ran down and killed Judge J. M. O'Neill, of 416 Eddi avenue. The accident occurred at Grand and Euclid avenues as O'Neill was getting out of a street car.

A verdict of manslaughter was returned against Nelson by the coroner's jury. The inquest was held late yesterday afternoon by Coroner Grand Juror.

At one time was a superior court judge in Texas. For a number of years he has been residing in this city where he has been practicing law.

Nelson resides at 9423A street.

Barber to Face Trial On Narcotics Charge

Frank Magnall, a barber, was bound over today to the Superior Court by Police Judge Mortimer Smith on a felony charge of violating the state narcotic law. His bail was set at $2000.

POWER OF CIVIL SERVICE BOARD WILL BE TESTED

Legal War Planned to Decide if Superior Court Has Right of Review.

To ascertain whether the decision of the civil service board is final, or subject to review by the Superior Court, the civil service board last night decided to appeal to the higher courts against the decision of Superior Judge Quinn in the James A. Garvin case.

The merits of the Garvin case are not at issue, according to Chairman John F. Chambers of the civil service board. The one point to be settled, says Chambers, is whether or not a decision of the civil service board is subject to reversal by the Superior Court.

James A. Garvin, an Oakland patrolman, was suspended by the chief of police following a bootlegging investigation. He was suddenly ordered into the chief's office, but refused to appear unless accompanied by an attorney. He contended that, when under suspension, he was not subject to the chief's orders. The chief dismissed him for insubordination. The civil service board sustained Drew by the Superior Court ordered Garvin reinstated.

The civil service board last night decided to take the following position:

"If the civil service board has no right to make final decision as to whether or not a man is guilty, these cases might as well go to the Superior Court in the first place and save the expense of double hearings."

Several cases have been appealed in the past from the civil service board to the Superior Court, but the Garvin case is the first wherein the civil service board has been reversed.

Attorney Frank Carr, for Garvin, says he will continue to battle for the man's reinstatement.

DAUGHTERS LIED, SLAYER'S REASON FOR KILLING TWO

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 13.—(By International News Service).—Tony Dinello, confessed slayer of his two little daughters, Florence and Helen, was in St. Margaret's hospital here today following an attempt to end his own life. He slashed his throat from ear to ear with a razor.

Shortly before his attempt to kill himself, Dinello, revealed that he murdered his daughters because he thought they lied to him.

"I missed some money," he said. "I took Florence to the chicken house and questioned her. I thought she lied. I got mad. I killed her with hammer."

Helen, 13, two years older than Florence, screamed. So Dinello killed her, too.

Then he threw the bodies into the Missouri river.

PLANS LATEST IN RECREATION

Recreation experts in San Francisco and elsewhere are expected to watch with interest the playground exhibit to be set up by the city of Oakland at the International Health and Safety Exposition in the Oakland Auditorium, November 17 to 26.

According to Jay B. Nash, head of Oakland's recreation department, there will be shown for the first time a complete outline of the latest idea in recreation—the backyard playground. Nash will set up a diminutive model of a house, lot and garage, with the back yard playground in relation to it. He will argue with posters, moving pictures and lectures that the backyard playground is a vital necessity in keeping the children off the street and in preserving their health. In this manner, Nash said, it can be demonstrated that the playground has a direct relation to both health and safety.

The models will be small, but will be made to exact scale, and each visitor at the exhibit will receive printed plans and specifications, so that the exhibit can be duplicated on a larger scale in the backyards of any household.

There will be sand pits, swings, handball courts, play houses, kennels for pets, and garden plots for the raising of seeds.

Election Officers Get Pay Tomorrow

Warrants covering the expenses of all officers who served at the recent municipal elections will be ready for payment on Thursday morning, September 14, after 9 o'clock, according to announcement of Harry G. Williams, Oakland city auditor.

The auditor adds that he is unable to mail the warrants, as no addresses have been furnished him. Consequently election officers will have to call on the auditor's office on the tenth floor of the city hall.

Wife's Complaint Has Variety of Charges

Outside of being sarcastic, selfish, mercenary, tyrannical, domineering, critical, abusive and vulgar in language, Noble E. Stewart might have been a model husband, according to allegations made by Mrs. Selma M. Stewart in a suit for divorce filed by her in the Supreme Court today.

Besides attributing these traits of character to Stewart, the wife says he twice kicked her out of bed and frequently beat her.

Mrs. Stewart asks for a divorce with $100 a month alimony.

Old Stanford Inn Has to Make Way

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Sept. 12.—The Stanford Inn, for twenty years a campus landmark and the butt of the Stanford Chaparral's jokes, ceased to function today as an eating commons when it was removed to the military grounds to serve as headquarters building for the Stanford R. O. T. C.

The structure was built over twenty years ago and was condemned this year after the completion of the Stanford Union. Popular names for it have been "The Yellow Peril" and "The Viol Inn."

BISHOP SCORES REMARRIAGES AFTER DIVORCE

Divine Ideals Shattered By Such Action, New York Prelate Says.

BY FRANK A. CLARVOE, United Press Staff Correspondent. PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 12.—Remarriage of either party to a divorce, except in the case of the innocent party to a suit in adultery, was vigorously denounced here today by the Rt. Rev. Charles H. Brent, D.D., bishop of Western New York, in an exclusive interview with the United Press.

Bishop Brent declared such remarriages to be a shattering of the divine ideal of matrimony. The committee on canons of the 47th annual convention of the Protestant Episcopal church, now in session here, is considering Bishop Brent's proposed amendment to the divorce canon banishing from the church any person except one so held innocent who shall marry again.

DIFFERENCE IN MARRIAGES. "Grasp the difference between a church marriage and a civil marriage," Bishop Brent urged. "Some persons are content to contract marriage through the office of civil authority. The majority enter a church, in many cases for the first and last time in their lives, to be married. They seek divine blessing. They desire the sanction of an organized body to their union."

"Divorce is admittedly at the root of most of the evil in this country today, yet the pernicious feature of divorce is remarriage. Many persons are guilty of collusion in obtaining divorces, where there is collusion there is bound to be deceit."

COLLUSION DENOUNCED. Bishop Brent in particular denounced collusion in divorce where parties to the divorce sometimes follow in quick succession. In many cases, the bishop suggested, the party for remarriage had been chosen prior even to the filing of the divorce petition.

"Can a healthy state of society exist where such practices are condoned by the church?" Bishop Brent queried, and then answered his own question with a vigorous denial.

"There is in many cases just reason for divorce, where neither party to the contract is guilty of anything greater than incompatibility. A legal divorce is necessary because of property considerations. Neither party could re-marry following such divorces. The ideal of marriage cannot permit it, for the church will not lower ideals nor cheapen divine principles."

IDEALS ALONE COUNT. "I think it is a mighty fine place—ideals alone count. They are the things that make life worth living. People who are divorced and re-marry say they believe they can be happier with the new arrangement. Can they? Are they not sad and lonely, the result of what they call happiness?"

"The happiest people I have met are people of ideals. I never saw a happy person without ideals."

"I never expect to."

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 13.—Recommendations that the Right Rev. W. M. Brown, retired bishop of Arkansas, be brought to trial on charges of adultery and if convicted be deposed from the ministry was made to the house of bishops of the Protestant Episcopal church in convention here today.

The report in Bishop Brown was made by a committee headed by Bishop R. Winchester of Arkansas, which reported that such action be taken "in view of the antagonistic attitude toward Christianity." Bishop Brown, retired from his jurisdiction, was the subject of criticism of a book he published lately discussing Christianity and communism.

Preliminary Held On Perjury Charge

Preliminary examination of Mrs. Marie DeFontville on charges of perjury in connection with a damage suit against the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railway as a result of a recent accident, was held before Police Judge R. H. Smith today and continued until September 25.

The complaint was sworn to by Dwight Goodenough, a conductor employed by the company. On May 14, Mrs. DeFontville claims that she was thrown against the rear end of the street car and badly injured. She filed suit for damages. The perjury charge is based on a statement made in a deposition by the defendant that she has not worked since the accident.

Witnesses testified that she worked for three days during July.

WHOLE SYSTEM IS BENEFITED BY TANLAC

Thousands of frail, nervous people and convalescents everywhere have testified to the remarkable power of Tanlac in bringing back their health, strength, and working efficiency. It seems to quickly invigorate the constitution and is a powerful force of weakness.

"For two of three months, I felt miserable and distressed from morning until night with my stomach."

"Tanlac helped my husband so wonderfully I decided to try it. My health is now completely restored. Tanlac is fine."

There is not a single portion of the body that is not benefited by the helpful action of Tanlac. It equalizes the stomach to turn food into healthy, blood bone and muscle, purifies the system and helps you back to normal weight. Get a bottle today at any good drugstore.—Advertisement.

Couple, 81, Join In Celebration Of 60-year Pact

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Potter, 5423 Miles avenue, celebrated the sixtieth anniversary of their wedding at their home today. Mr. and Mrs. Potter were married in Gilford, Ill., in 1862. At the time Potter was engaged in farming.

Shortly after the marriage Potter enlisted in the army and took part in the Civil War for three years. After the war the Potters lived for a time in Iowa. They came to California 21 years ago.

They have one son, W. R. Potter, who is in business in Oakland, and a daughter, Fanny Potter, who is employed as a bookkeeper in Berkeley. Potter was in the hardware business in Santa Rosa for several years. Both he and Mrs. Potter are 81 years of age.

WIFE FOUND WITH OTHER MEN, CLAIM

Returning home unexpectedly, Vincent P. Stone, a railroad engineer, found his wife intoxicated and hugging and kissing two men, he said, in his suit for divorce filed today in the Superior Court against Mrs. Leola H. Stone.

That a former suit for divorce filed by him on January 15, 1920, was later dismissed because his wife's alleged affidavit was killed in an automobile accident, she promised to reform her ways, is a statement made by Stone.

Returning to her old ways, Mrs. Stone frequently engaged in parties with other men, she Stone's parentage of a son born to his wife in January, 1921, and asks that he be given custody of two other children, Preston, aged 9, and Dorothy, aged 7. The couple were married in Oakland on August 20, 1912, and separated June 26, 1921, the complaint states.

COURTROOM LIKE DENTAL OFFICES DURING TRIAL

Those sensitive souls who shrink from entering the portals of a dental office will do well to keep away from Department 1 of the Superior court, presided over by Judge Harris.

Scattered about the courtroom, occupying several chairs, a large portion of the table reserved for opposing counsel, and even reporters on the judge's bench are dental instruments.

The instruments are exhibits in a suit of R. H. Hudson against Jennie S. Mosler and Dr. C. M. Bar, damages of $7500 for alleged failure to carry out the terms of a contract. The two defendants have entered a cross-complaint in which they seek possession of the dental instrument, a pair of forceps, 124 Fourth street, Oakland, and $4000 damages for alleged faulty workmanship on the part of Hudson.

Ex-L. A. Newsboy Head of Arizona University at 33

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 13.—From newsboy to university president at the age of 33 is the record of Dr. Lloyd Heck Marvin, M. A., Ph. D., for more than three years dean and assistant director of the University of California, southern branch, who gave a farewell luncheon at the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce today prior to his departure for Tucson to become president of the University of Arizona.

Dr. Marvin attended the public schools at Riverside, California, graduating from the high school of that city in 1903. He took a pre-legal course at Stanford university; came to the University of Southern California here for graduate work, winning his M. A. in 1915; became a "Thayer Fellow" at Harvard two years later, specializing in educational methods and business administration; and returned to Los Angeles to take up his work with the southern branch of the state university. During the "World War" he was in the aviation corps, winning a pilot's license and being assigned to the spruce production brigade for the war department at Portland, Ore.

Throughout the years he devoted to pay his own way. Now he is said to be the youngest college president in the history of America.

AUTHORITIES PLAN GENERAL CLEANUP OF S. F. RESORTS

Abatement Proceedings May Be Brought Against 50 Establishments.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—A general cleanup of resorts and places frequented by criminals, women of the night and bootleggers with the possibility of abatement proceedings being sought against fifty of such resorts in the southern district, was planned at a conference held today between United States Attorney John T. Williams and Police Captain Charles Goff of the Southern district.

It was announced that Williams and Goff will co-operate in cleaning up these disorderly resorts for the general good of the city and in particular for the protection of thousands of fishermen just returned from Alaska with six months' pay.

Federal Judge William C. Van Fleet today signed an order allowing another temporary injunction in connection with abatement proceedings under the National Prohibition act.

This order enjoins resort owners where places have been abated for violating the National Prohibition act from tearing down notices of abatement posted on the premises by Federal officers and then selling out to innocent owners. Tearing down of notices will constitute contempt of court.

Interview in Which He Criticized U. S. Denied by Kipling

LONDON, Sept. 13.—(By the Associated Press).—Rudyard Kipling, replying to an inquiry regarding his utterances as quoted by Clare Sheridan in the New York Times, sent the Associated Press today the following telegram:

"Bateman's, Burwash, Sussex, Sept. 13: I did not give Mrs. Sheridan an interview. I did not say things which I see she ascribes to me, and have not discontinued the habit of saying what I wish to say over my own signature. (Signed) 'RUDYARD KIPLING.'"

A brief message from Kipling denying he had given the interview or said the things he had been accused to him was printed in the Times of London this morning. In the interview printed in the World, Kipling was quoted as strongly criticizing America's lateness in entering the war and her course at the close of the war and since the European struggle.

WORK BEGINS ON STANFORD'S NEW HOUSING SYSTEM

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Sept. 13.—Stanford's new housing system began to take material form today when the first bucket of concrete was poured for the foundation of the first half-million dollar building. The new housing system, which will be built as soon as needed and arranged in quadrangle form to accommodate all students who apply for quarters. Present estimates include arrangements for three quadrangles of four units each, approximately a cost of about $5,000,000. One hundred and twenty students will be housed in each unit.

Using receipts from games in the stadium as a basis of payment, the Stanford board of athletic control begins construction immediately of a second unit, in accordance with a recently adopted plan to devote a certain percentage of income from athletics to the support of some other university project. It is planned to finish the second unit simultaneously with the first under construction by the university.

Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of the university, expressed himself as well pleased by the program of the board of control. The new building, he said, materially advanced the building program of the university.

"For what is probably the first time in the history of American athletics, development of a huge stadium for a single purpose will be financed by profits from the use of a stadium which is regarded as a source of income for athletics only," said Dr. Thomas Williams, chairman of the board of control.

The new stadium, "The great earning power of the stadium, together with the economy effected in its construction, has already practically cleared up the structural debt of the university," he placed it in a position to be made a factor in the increase of the Stanford endowment.

The buildings have been planned by the architects so as to include all the best features of housing systems all over the United States. They were designed in collaboration with Almon E. Roth, comptroller of the university, after Roth and Dr. Wilbur had made a study of the best housing systems arranged so as to preclude mistakes made by other universities.

ALAMEDA COUNCIL OPPOSES HIGH BRIDGE REMOVAL

Believes Transportation Over Estuary Should Be Increased.

ALAMEDA, Sept. 13.—The Alameda city council went on record last night as being opposed to the removal of the high street or any other bridge along the estuary. The council's opposition to the removal of the high street or any other bridge along the estuary was expressed in a resolution adopted by the council. The resolution is as follows:

"Whereas, it appears that complaints have been made to the council that the high street bridge is an obstruction and menace to navigation, and whereas, Colonel Herbert Deakins, representing the government, has invited all persons interested to submit their views to his office before September 20th, and whereas, all existing bridges were constructed for the purpose of facilitating business and affording better means of communication between the city of Alameda and outside territory, and whereas, the growth of population and business demand that the facilities for crossing the estuary and tidal canal should be increased, rather than diminished, especially in view of the probable establishment of the naval base in Alameda,

"And whereas, the high street bridge and other bridges were constructed by the government to compensate for cutting of the highways which formerly ran across the land now occupied by the tidal canal, and whereas, the council of the city of Alameda, in the opinion of said council, the high street bridge is not an obstruction or menace to navigation but, on the other hand, is an essential means of communication between the cities of Oakland and Alameda and, in view of the growth of population and business and the probable establishment of the naval base in Alameda, it is the policy of the council that the high street bridge should be increased rather than diminished."

Wife Must Aid Bankrupt Man, Urges Trustee

Daring the suit on a recent decision of the United States Supreme Court, which held that a husband was entitled to a community interest in the earnings of his wife, although the business owned by her may have been purchased by money advanced by gift or bequest, E. C. Street, as trustee in bankruptcy, has filed suit to compel Mrs. Clara Bertolone to make an accounting of her property because her husband, G. Bertolone, former owner of a dry-goods store at 1215 Broadway, recently went through bankruptcy.

The complaint recites that recent bankruptcy proceedings showed that Bertolone had liabilities of $9000 while his assets were only $212. Then it was ascertained, the suit states, that his wife has securities valued at $20,000 which she claims as her own personal property. The suit asks that she be compelled to make an accounting of the property so that the amount of income due her husband as a community interest may go to the creditors.

STATE HIGHWAYS HELD TOO LIGHT

RICHMOND, Sept. 13.—Charging that the State highways in California with their four-inch base are entirely too frail to stand up under the present heavy traffic and predicting that the people must soon face the problems of rebuilding the highways, William Tudor of Oakland, California, today filed a petition with the state court asking that other states be already profiting by California's mistake and building highways that will stand up under the demands of present day commercial trucking.

Tudor praised Contra Costa county for its highways, asserting that though only nine per cent of the roads of the state are paved, 33 per cent of those in Contra Costa county are paved.

Walter Morgan was chairman of the day. Miss Jessie Lambrecht sang several songs. A. W. Mueller, new secretary of the Y. M. C. A., gave a brief talk which he thanked the Lions for their good work on behalf of the boys of Richmond. Principal B. X. Tucker of the Richmond Union High School, was welcomed as a new member.

Bid On New Hotel Made at Conference

HAYWARD, Sept. 13.—Following a conference yesterday of E. A. Hey, president of the Hayward Chamber of Commerce, M. A. W. Lee, secretary, and Charles Heyer, local hotel man, with Frederick Whitton, builder of the Eureka Inn, during which Whitton made his bid for a new hotel, a bid of $250,000 hotel and theater building which Heyer intends building.

The project has already been endorsed by the hotel committee of the chamber, and efforts are now being made to arrange a system of stock solicitation which will make the building a community affair. W. T. Knightly, chairman of the building committee, said yesterday that two plans are being considered by the committee, one of volunteer solicitation and one by which the money will be raised through the efforts of outside solicitors.

MRS. HARDING GAINING HEALTH AS CRISIS ENDS

Wife of President Continues to Show Improvement, Says Bulletin.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Mrs. Harding's condition continues to show improvement, a bulletin issued shortly after 9 a. m. today at the White House said.

"After a comfortable night, during which the symptoms of her illness moderated considerably, her temperature at 8 a. m. was practically normal."

The bulletin follows: "Mrs. Harding's condition at 8 a. m.: Temperature, 98.3; pulse, 38; respiration, 25."

"She had quite a comfortable night, sleeping longer with less interruption. Elimination increasing. Tenderness and swelling slowly subsiding. General appearances indicate as rapid improvement as reasonably can be expected."

Clubs to Join in Referendum Fight

BERKELEY, Sept. 13.—Improvement clubs and civic bodies will be enlisted in a referendum campaign sponsored by Mayor Louis Bartlett as a means of blocking an ordinance granting a year's extension of time to Rufus L. Jones, the local capitalist, on his lease of the Berkeley waterfront. It was stated today.

The ordinance, which extends for one year the time for Jennings to start work on a project planned by him, comes up for final passage. The ordinance is expected to print last week by a four to one vote of the council, Mayor Bartlett opposing.

Should the measure be adopted members of the Buena Vista Improvement Club will support the mayor in a referendum campaign, according to action taken at a meeting held on Monday evening at which Mayor Bartlett was a speaker.

Kerosene Is Taken By Gasoline Thieves

ALAMEDA, Sept. 13.—Somewhere in Alameda there are a couple of disappointed housebreakers. They broke into the supply house of the Contractors Road Oiling Company, 1000 Broadway, and carried off a large quantity of kerosene. The thieves who saw them entering the house in a small runabout auto and were looking for gasoline. In the dark the intruders secured a can and loaded the gas tank of the car. The police were notified and are looking for the kerosene driven car.

Liquor and Poison Flank Suicide's Body

NAPA, Sept. 13.—A quantity of kerosene brandy and paris green are supposed to have caused the death of Angelio Liotti, aged 49 years, whose body was discovered Sunday morning in haystack on the old Union Gardens property on North Brown street in this city. The body of Liotti was found on one side of the body, while a bottle of paris green was on the other.

BOB KINSEY BEATEN IN TENNIS SINGLES CHAMPIONSHIPS BY J. O. ANDERSON, AUSTRALIA

Robt. Kinsey Eliminated by J.O. Anderson

San Francisco Falls in Third Round of National Net Singles.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 12.—Robert Kinsey was also eliminated when he was defeated by J. O. Anderson of Australia in the third round of the national tennis singles championships.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 12.—Sixteen players, including the tennis stars of the world, will resume their quest for the United States singles championship, interrupted yesterday by rain, on the courts of the Germantown club today.

Given proper playing conditions today, this list of survivors will be cut in half before nightfall. Because of the rain, which the draw was seeded there have been but few upsets to date, only two of the sixteen stars still in the tournament coming through from the unseeded entrants.

Both were the only ones to have reached the completion of their flight, for Bowman and Vincent Richards, and Kinsey and J. O. Anderson, the Australian star to survive. Much interest appears to center in the battle between Watson Washburn and Manuel Alonso, the Spanish court flush.

Chief interest, however, will center in the meeting of Pat O'Brien and William T. Tilden, II, present titleholder, and Gerald Patterson versus Francis T. Hunter, former Cornell university star.

Wallace Johnson must eliminate the Japanese star, Zozo Shimizu to move forward but with his accurate control and possession of marvelous chop strokes, is favored to win.

U. S. Leads For Cup Against the British

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Sept. 13.—(By The Associated Press)—For the first time in the international six meter series held off this place for the British-American cup, the United States team was the first to cross the finish line yesterday.

Despite this honor, which was captured by the team, the property of Sir John Ward, the American team won yesterday's race by the score of 2 to 1, making the United States leader in the series by a score of 6 to 4.

The race, which was the third, was the poorest sailed thus far in the series. The next race will be sailed Thursday.

"Cub" Buck Declines Indiana Contract

APPLETON, Wis., Sept. 12.—Howard "Cub" Buck thinks more of his work as municipal boy scout executive and a 250 ball catcher as player with the Green Bay Packers and assistant coach of Lawrence college than of a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to coach a team of a big school with 500 lock of ten weekly work. Buck announced his decision to decline the offer of the University of Indiana to coach this year's team in place of E. O. Stehm, who has just submitted to an operation in a hospital at Rochester, Minn.

Andy Smith Coming Back Home Tonight

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 13.—Andy Smith, football coach at the University of California, will leave tonight for Berkeley where he will make preparations for practice for a third "Wonder team" Smith spoke here before the Southern California football association where he interpreted the 1922 football rules. Practically every Southern California college and high school coach and many college and high school players were present.

George Sisler Injured; to Be Out for Week

Browns' Chances for Pennant Appear Slim With Star First Sacker Missing.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 12.—(By The Associated Press)—Gloom settled over Sportsman's Park, the local American's stage of fight for the 1922 pennant, when it became known yesterday that George Sisler, star first baseman and batting champion of the major leagues, was out of the game due to an injury to his right shoulder. At the same time the fans were expressing untold regrets that their idol was deprived of a chance to tie the major league record for hitting in consecutive games, a record made by Ty Cobb, when in his prime, back in 1911. Only one more game, and George would have equalled the record of hitting safely in forty consecutive games, with Cobb as a witness to the feat.

"Our pennant hopes are gone now," was the remark heard at the ball park yesterday when the news was spread that George Sisler would be out at least a week or probably the rest of the season. When the Browns took the field for practice and the form of the University star did not appear on the field questions of concern over the player began to soar through the stands. Then came the announcement that Jacobson was playing first base in place of Sisler. "That never would have happened had George been on first," remarked several fans in the stands, when Jacobson, after fielding a grounder, threw the ball over Kelp's head, who was covering first in the third inning, in which Detroit threatened to pile up a safe lead and thus widen the margin between the Browns and Yankees to two full games by taking yesterday's contest.

Though to get in the lineup, George was seen on the side lines inspiring by his presence the fans with hopes that he would soon be able to return to his regular position. Dr. R. W. Hixson, the club physician, has ordered Sisler to take a complete rest and for that purpose, he was announced yesterday, his arm and shoulder had been placed in a cast, and that he would be out of the game at least three days. Sisler suffered his injury in Monday's game against Detroit when he was struck on the shoulder with a pitch.

INJURY AGGRAVATED

The injury was aggravated in a later inning, when Sisler, reaching for a wide throw from Gerber, sprained the muscle in his shoulder. Despite the injury, he remained in the game and only the fact that he was unable to raise his arm prompted him to apprise manager Phil that he would be unable to play in yesterday's game.

Sisler's reputation of being the best all-around player of the major leagues today, is borne out by the unofficial averages kept by local newspapers. According to these averages, including Monday's game, he is leading the major league hitters with a batting average of .428, of being the only American League player with more than 200 hits for the season. His hits total 234, giving him a lead of 21 over his nearest rival of the major leagues, Rogers Hornsby, leading hitter of the National League.

In the number of runs scored, according to these averages, Sisler has only one rival in the major leagues, Max Carey of Pittsburgh, who has scored with 124 each. In stolen bases, according to these unofficial averages Sisler with 47 is 13 ahead of his nearest American League rival namely his team mate, Ken Williams. Carey has the nearest major league rival in point of stealing bases.

Sisler's teammates as well as the fans are aware of his determination to help the locals bring a pennant to this city, the average of .428, has predicted that Sisler would disregard any medical advice and would be back in the game when the New York team arrives here next Saturday for the final series of the season.

Sluggers Are Setting Pace For Bambino

Ruth Now Feels That He May Not Overcome Big Home Run Lead.

By DAVID RUTH.
His first 87 games this year.....29 home runs
His first 87 games last year.....35 home runs
This date last year (in 1921).....13 home runs
NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—With the end of the season well within sight, Kenneth Williams, of the Browns, Rogers Hornsby, of the Cardinals and Clarence (Tillie) Walker, of the Athletics, still are making pace for me in the race for home run honors. I had expected to catch all three before this but haven't been able to do it, and for the first time all season I am beginning to wonder if I am due to lose the crown that I won four years ago and have worn ever since without a challenge.

I have figured all along that I would make not less than forty-four homers this season and that no other batter in either major league would go beyond forty. I have maintained my average since the Yankees returned from their second Western trip. However and now it begins to look doubtful if I will reach the mark I set for Williams and Hornsby.

In the meantime, Kenneth Williams has started another slugging streak and it looks like the best bet in baseball that he will go over the forty mark. He had made thirty-five when this article was written and had nineteen games yet to play, all at Sportsman Park, with his slugging arm.

WILLIAMS' SLUGGING

When Williams is swinging right and meeting the ball it is the next thing to impossible to keep him from hitting long fly balls to right field and to the outfield. He is especially long to reach the right field bleachers at St. Louis. This means, of course, that he has a tremendous advantage over all other seekers after the home run crown.

Rogers Hornsby, for instance, doesn't play another game at St. Louis this year and Tillie Walker and I have only three more each. This doesn't mean a very great deal to Hornsby and Walker, who customarily hit to left center or to dead left field respectively, but it does mean a lot to me, a right-fielder, with no games to play at the Polo Grounds after Sunday, September 10, and comparatively few on other fields which favor a right-fielder.

RUTH IS ANXIOUS

I am more anxious to lead the world in homers this year than I ever was before but I am even more anxious to play in another world's series, preferably against the Giants. If I thought it would help the Yankees in their fight for a second consecutive championship I would choose my bat every time I stepped to the plate and abandon all thought of leading the homers while trying to grind out singles. I'm hoping, however, that it won't come to that. We sustained a disappointing setback when we allowed the Boston Red Sox to win a double-header from us, but I'm hoping to strengthen our determination to fight for everything in sight throughout the remainder of the season.

Four-Rounders Will Entertain At Auditorium

Promoter Tommy Simpson has arranged a well-balanced card of boxing bouts for his weekly entertainment at the Auditorium tonight. Jimmy Duffy and Johnny Cline will meet in the main event. They boxed a draw several weeks ago. Here is the program:

Jimmy Duffy vs. Johnny Cline.
Jimmy Dundee vs. Joe Coffey.
Red Dolan vs. Abe Mishkind.
Al Grann vs. Joe Ketchell.
Harry Pelsinger vs. Carlos Fanning.
Frankie McCann vs. Billy Wallace.
Jimmy Kelsey vs. Jack Burns.

Danny Kramer Beats J. Gorman in South

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 12.—Danny Kramer, of Los Angeles, defeated Joe Gorman, Portland, Oregon, 125 pounds in the main event at Vernon arena last night. In the semi-finals, Solly Seamon, New York lightweight, won a decision over Ad Mackey of Portland, Oregon.

"Fighting Larry" Murphy, Los Angeles 122 pounder, hailed as a discovery when he made his first ring appearance and scored his first knockout two weeks ago, and cheered to the rafters when he made his second appearance and scored his second knockout a week ago, last night bit the resin in the second round of his preliminary with George Sirey of Los Angeles. Murphy knocked Sirey down twice in the first round, but early in the second was knocked out himself.

Johnny Trambias, of Portland, Oregon, knocked out Jimmy Morris, Los Angeles 135-pounder, in the third round, after delivering numerous terrific lefts to the body.

EAGLES TRIM MELBORE

FRUITLAND, N. J., Sept. 12.—Journeying from Melrose to land a 10 to 8 bobbing defeat on the Melrose Vets, the Eagles got to Del Webb of the Eagle for sixteen hits while Packer, Galera and Mittenwald were touched up for nineteen. Packer, who started for the Merchants, was bumped for a homer by the first man up, Webb and the best of the hitters' argument, striking out nine. Galera has a lot of class and when he fills out a little more should be in the lineup. The hitting stars for the Eagles were Bar, Barcott, Besson, Barlow, Moore, Smith and Laffare, while two Repp, Wisco, Silie and Polgren shagging.

JIMMY DUNDEE AND JOE COFFEY TO BOX THE SPECIAL EVENT

Fast Four-Rounders Ready for Contests at the Local Auditorium Tonight

By BOB SHAND

The little four-rounders engaged by T. J. Simpson to entertain the fans at the Auditorium tonight have suffered no ailments so the card will go through on schedule. Secretary Harold Algernon Fitzgibbon Broom was commissioned to make the rounds of the various training camps late yesterday afternoon and Harold reported that the young scrappers were all in shape to step this evening. There are a number of new faces on the card but most of the performers are well known and guaranteed to provide plenty of action.

Among the new-comers the gent who is attracting the most attention is Red Dolan, a St. Louis youth who created quite a furore in Los Angeles when he flattened Bobby Ertle in the third round. Dolan made Danny Kramer look foolish for three rounds and a half but Danny smacked Red on the button and knocked him for a row of buttons. Jimmy Dundee was a lucky punch. Tonight Dolan will tangle with Abe Mishkind, a recent arrival from the northwest. In the gymnasium Mishkind shows up like a fighter even though his name is not Mickey O'Sullivan or Ryan. They're both main eventers in their home towns.

Jack Burns Holds a Verdict Over Compagno

Jack Burns is another new one but he comes highly recommended, having defeated Sammy Compagno. It takes a good boy to trim Sammy, so Burns must know something. Tonight Burns will essay to knock Jimmy Kelsey for a home run. Kelsey used to be a special eventer here and gave the fans some thrilling battles, but on his return to town after a sojourn in the south, the best Jimmy could get on this side of the bay was the curtain raiser. That's how much the standard of boxing has been raised in Oakland.

Archie Fanning, the Kansas City lightweight who made a poor showing in his first start here will meet Harry Pelsinger tonight and unless Arlos shows a bit of speed he is liable to get left at the post. Pelsinger put up a good fight last time out and seems to be regaining his old form. Jimmy Duffy and Johnny Cline come together in the main event and a high class pyrotechnic display is promised by Frankie Fanning, manager of Cline. Frankie asserts that Johnny will set such a pace that Duffy will not be able to set himself for his punches and if the latter campaign pans out Duffy will have a lot of rope burns on his back at the finish. Cline looked bad in the first two rounds of his former fight with the local boy but he eased Jimmy from pillar to post in the final two sessions and earned a draw. If Cline can start at the rate he finished and keep up the pace for the entire route, Jimmy will have a busy evening.

Jimmy Dundee and Coffey Should Be Good Bout

Jimmy Dundee, determined to redeem himself for his defeat by Benny Viera last week, intends treating Joe Coffey roughly in the special event. Jimmy admits that Benny was a bit too fast for him last week, but against a boy like Coffey who is not afraid to lead, Dundee figures to do much better.

Al Grann who has been in the northwest for several months, is back in town and will entertain Ketchell. The latter is a tank in and-out and there is no telling what he may do. Frankie McCann and Billy Wallace will furnish the other bout.

Jack Sparr had one of his good nights at the Arcadia, San Francisco last evening and won all the way from Young Friedlander. Billy Gibbs made Charlie Mmmtt look foolish the latter failing to land a punch. Dick Wallace lost to Alex Tasloft after four rounds, and Henry Botha broke even with Charlie Hendricks. Botha did the forcing while Hendricks landed the cleaner punches.

Billy Stevens and Gus Cole have received a permit to hold a boxing show at Vallejo on the evening of September 21. The entertainment will be under the auspices of the American Legion, Stevens and Cole are regular fellows and know the game thoroughly, so the sport should soon be on firm footing in the bay area. For their first main event they have signed Kewpie Cullender and Frankie Gomez, two real head-liners. The boys will be held in the new skating rink.

From Lodi comes the following telegram: "Conde beat Bonillas. Fans on the heat during the whole four rounds."

"WINDY MAHONEY"

From the Sacramento area, where were the fans doing the whole four rounds? They might have been walking out of the building.

COAST LEAGUE RACE MOST UNINTERESTING IN YEARS

MAJOR LEAGUE CLUBS START RUSH DOWN HOME STRETCH IN DASH FOR WORLD HONORS

TIGERS, SEALS ARE ONLY CLUBS TO LIVE UP TO EXPECTATIONS

Oaks Were Not Prepared For Emergencies; Los Angeles Stars Failed to Do Their Stuff

By EDDIE MURPHY.

The Portland Beavers gave the San Francisco Seals a neat surprise package when Jack Miller led his athletes onto the field at Portland yesterday and as a result the Vernon Tigers are now only two games in the rear of the transbay club. All of which reminds us that the Los Angeles Club is right behind the Tigers, but are practically out of the pennant fight, as the space between them and the leaders is at least eleven full games. Only five more weeks, or about thirty-five ball games remain to be played in the league and it appears almost impossible for the Angels to overcome such a lead. Both the Seals and Tigers would have to fall to pieces completely and lose at least two-thirds of their remaining ball games in order that the Angels catch up with them, and nobody is expecting that to happen, as both the Seals and Tigers have gone along too steadily all season to crack wide open at this time.

The fact that the Seals and Tigers are now the only remaining contenders in the pennant fight, proves that the Coast League race this season has been a very lopsided one, and did not develop to the tight one that the wise ones predicted it would be. At the start of the race, the Angels with all their supposed big-league stars looked like the best on paper. The San Francisco Seals also looked very strong, but nothing like they do now. The Tigers looked like the same club of the season before except for a few men like Ping Bodie and pitchers. Everybody expected Bill Eversole to make a good season of it, but not to be battling so hard this late in the season. The Angels were really the favorites.

Oaks Failed to Live Up to Expectations

The Oaks were touted to make a better showing than they have and after getting off to a grand start and being in and out of the lead for the first few weeks, things started to happen and slowly they slipped down among the second division clubs. Many injuries hit the club, but while all that was going on, new talent was added to bolster the weak spots. With one or more regular players being out of the lineup almost since the fourth week of the season, and nobody on the job to fill their places, the Oaks could not expect to finish any better than they are now, as the Angels, Tigers and Seals all had men to help them out when trouble made its appearance. That is why the Seals and Tigers are up there today.

Things Broke Bad for Pick From the Start

The Sacramento team which finished second last season started out with practically the same roster of players as the season before, but they had Charley Pick as their manager in place of Bill Rogers. Maybe the Seals and Tigers were leading the league or making trouble for the Seals and Tigers if all kinds of tough luck had not opened day of the season. The Salt Lake team did not look any too good when the season opened, but Duffy Lewis has managed to keep them in the first division most of the time. The Portland Beavers as usual have been a joke most of the season, but it looks now like they are prepared to make jokes out of the others for their win over the league leaders yesterday was somewhat of a surprise. The Seattle club has moved along under new managers. Walter McCredie could do no better with that club than he could with the Beavers so he threw up the sponge and now Jack Adams is in his place. The eight straight beatings which the Indians took from the Seals last week did not make Adams standing with the Seattle fans any too strong, as it all happened at the Seattle diamond. For the past couple of months the race has been between the Seals, Tigers and Angels, but now it is narrowed down to the first two clubs and appears to be a fight to the finish.

Yankees and Browns Face Crucial Test

New York Meets Chicago This Week; White Sox Tackle St. Louis Next.

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—(By The Associated Press.)—The New York Yankees, leaders in the American League, opened their Western invasion at Chicago today and after the White Sox series will face the Browns, in the series that is expected to determine the 1922 pennant winner.

The Browns, without the services of Sisler, who may be out of the game the rest of the season as the result of a sprained shoulder muscle, defeated the Yankees yesterday, 4 to 2, in a game which was a real test of the Browns' pitching and batting.

No games were played in the National League, rain preventing the two contests which were scheduled today. Other games today in the American League bring together Boston and St. Louis, Washington and Cleveland and Philadelphia and Detroit.

In the National League, Cincinnati is scheduled to meet Brooklyn at Ebbetts Field, while Pittsburgh and Boston, and the Cardinals and Philadelphia, meet in double headers.

Manager "Kid" Gleason of the White Sox tried out three rookie pitchers, Cecil Duff, Emmet Dowles and Homer Blankenship, against Cleveland, but they appeared to be to the Indians' liking. Spencer's tribe clouted the newcomers for seventeen hits, every Indian getting one or more hits.

White Sox fans were treated with a triple killing, at the expense of the Cleveland Indians, the play being executed Collins to Johnson to Sheely to Yarnall.

The White Sox's catching staff was given another blow, when Sam Yarnall, second string catcher, had his finger split by a foul tip off Wood's bat. Ray Schaik, star receiver of the Chicago team, has been out of the game for several days because of an injury to his hand.

Haney and Foster, third sacker of Detroit and St. Louis respectively, had perfect averages, the former getting four hits in as many times at bat, and the latter gathering three blows in three times at bat.

At Claremont yesterday twelve players completed in the flag tournament, which was handicapped from a women's par of 81.

Mrs. J. C. Cushing, the tennis champion, showed her versatility by capturing the first prize, with a handicap allowance of 15 plus 81. She finished one foot from the 18th cup. Mrs. B. P. Legare, with 11-81-92, played her final shot within 5 feet of the cup. The handicappers did their work in a satisfactory manner and had the remainder of the flags distributed around the end holes. Next Tuesday a qualifying round will be played in the subscription cup contest, which is contested subsequently at match play during the succeeding days at holes up handicaps.

Already four different players have secured victories, but three successes are necessary to secure final possession of the trophy. Oakland players, who are not members of any of the private clubs and are still dependent on Lincoln Park for their weekly game, will be looking toward the San Francisco Municipal links this week in preparation of the annual championship which begins on Friday the 22nd. New greens and new holes will be used for the first time and scoring in the low twenties will not be so easy now.

Mrs. D. H. Foote had several of her Oakland friends as guests at the old Ingleside yesterday, enjoying the cool breezes that prevail at the California Golf Links.

Playing on Petaluma's new golf and country club grounds will officially begin Sunday, September 24, it was given out today. This formal opening will be attended by celebrities and a picnic participated in by members and their friends. Water is now being pumped to the grounds, which are located on a slightly knoll east of this city. Plans for the club house building have been submitted to the committee in charge of the improvements. The structure will cost approximately $20,000.

Bees Tighten Hold on Fourth Place in Race

Thurston Hurls a Fine Brand of Ball, While Colwell Is Bumped.

The Salt Lake Bees tightened their hold on fourth place in the race for the Coast League bunting by defeating the Oaks in the opening game of their series yesterday afternoon, 4 to 2. As has been the custom on each of the Bees first appearance for a series of games here, Manager Duffy Lewis selected Hollis Thurston to pitch for his Bees, and this is one time that Hollis was not forced to hold his opponents runless to win a ball game. After the Oaks grabbed a one-run lead in the first inning, Thurston struck out three batters in the third inning and put over a few runs, but to make things sadder they got another in the sixth inning.

Opposing Thurston on the hill was Ira Colwell, and the big fellow was in plenty of trouble throughout, as Duffy and his gang were out there fighting and determined not to let the Oaks pull them from the first division. Colwell lasted seven innings when he gave way to Arlett as a pinch hitter, and then Orville Eley finished the mound duties and got by with a score, although touched for hits in every inning.

Brubaker's single, Willie's out and Cather's hit to center put the Oaks in the lead, 1 to 0, in the first inning. The Bees wasted a couple of hits by Sand and Strand in the second inning. Colwell started his own trouble in the third by walking Thurston, who was the first batter. Vitt lifted a long fly to left which Mariott caught and then tried to peak with one hand without success, and he got credit for a triple and Thurston scored a run.

Colwell pitched the ball and tried to peak with one hand without success, and he got credit for a triple and Thurston scored a run. Colwell pitched the ball and tried to peak with one hand without success, and he got credit for a triple and Thurston scored a run.

Schick was fined $20 but not suspended, and appeared in yesterday's game to do some good work. Schick was fined the $20 because he failed to run to first base when he popped out to the infield at Los Angeles. The pitcher dropped the ball and threw Schick out at first. Schick has promised to hustle to first from now on. Still, it is seldom that Schick loafs on the job. Lewis was moved at the time because Eley had loafed on the play just before that and allowed a runner to score from first on his error.

WOMEN GOLFERS HOLD TOURNEY; FAVORITES WIN

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 12.—(By The Associated Press.)—Mrs. Lee Milda of the Butterfield club, Chicago, again reigned supreme in the women's golf tournament when yesterday she turned in a card of 84, while defeating Miss Hillis Drayer of Fort Wayne, 6 and 5. This medal score is two better than the card she turned in for medalist honors in the qualifying round yesterday. Miss Drayer put up a strong game, but before such strong opposition she never had a chance.

Next to Mrs. Milda, the best card of the day was turned in by Mrs. Dave Gant of Memphis, who negotiated the 18 holes in 85, defeating Mrs. J. W. Taylor, Chicago, 7 and 5. Favorites had a good day, the only one upst on the first round. The unexpected occurred in the match between Mrs. R. J. Kohn, triple A, St. Louis, and Miss Dorothy Klotz, Indian Hill, Chicago, in which the St. Louisan triumphed one up. The visitor was expected to win rather easily, but she was a local player performed in her usual style.

YANK SERIES WITH BROWNS BIG FEATURE

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 12.—Car-penters today began adding box seats back of the third-base line at Sportsman's Park, for handling the crowds in the Yankees-Browns three game series starting next Saturday, and for possible use in the world's series.

While the Browns today begin their final series with Boston, New York will face the White Sox at Chicago, and fans here are optimistic that the status quo, at least, will be maintained in the pennant race, if the Browns do not improve their position before the end of the week.

President E. B. Johnson of the American league, witnessed yesterday's game and conferred with owners of the Browns. It was understood he was giving them advice on managing the world's series, but he declared no meeting of the league advisory committee would be called.

Southern Swimming Club Represented

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 12.—Practically all swimming clubs of Southern California will be represented in the Ocean Park rough water tournament which will be held next Sunday. There will be a men's three-quarter mile race and a women's quarter-mile event. Five prizes will be given in each event.

Big Ten Officials Hold Rules Meeting

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—Big Ten Conference football officials met here today in their annual rules interpretation meeting. Although most of the changes in the rules this year are relatively unimportant, several were expected to cause considerable discussion.

Helen Wills Wins Third Round Match

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 12.—Play was resumed today in the women's lawn tennis singles tournament for the Middle Atlantic States championship at the Philadelphia Cricket Club. Miss Helen Wills, Berkeley, Calif., easily defeated Miss Edith Coffin of Philadelphia, 6-1, 6-1, in a third round match.

Second round results included: Mrs. P. I. Mallory (Mills, E. J., N.Y.), defeated Miss E. H. Ferguson, Philadelphia, 6-2, 6-0. Miss Edith Sigourney of Boston defeated Miss Helen E. Hooker of New York, 6-0, 6-0.

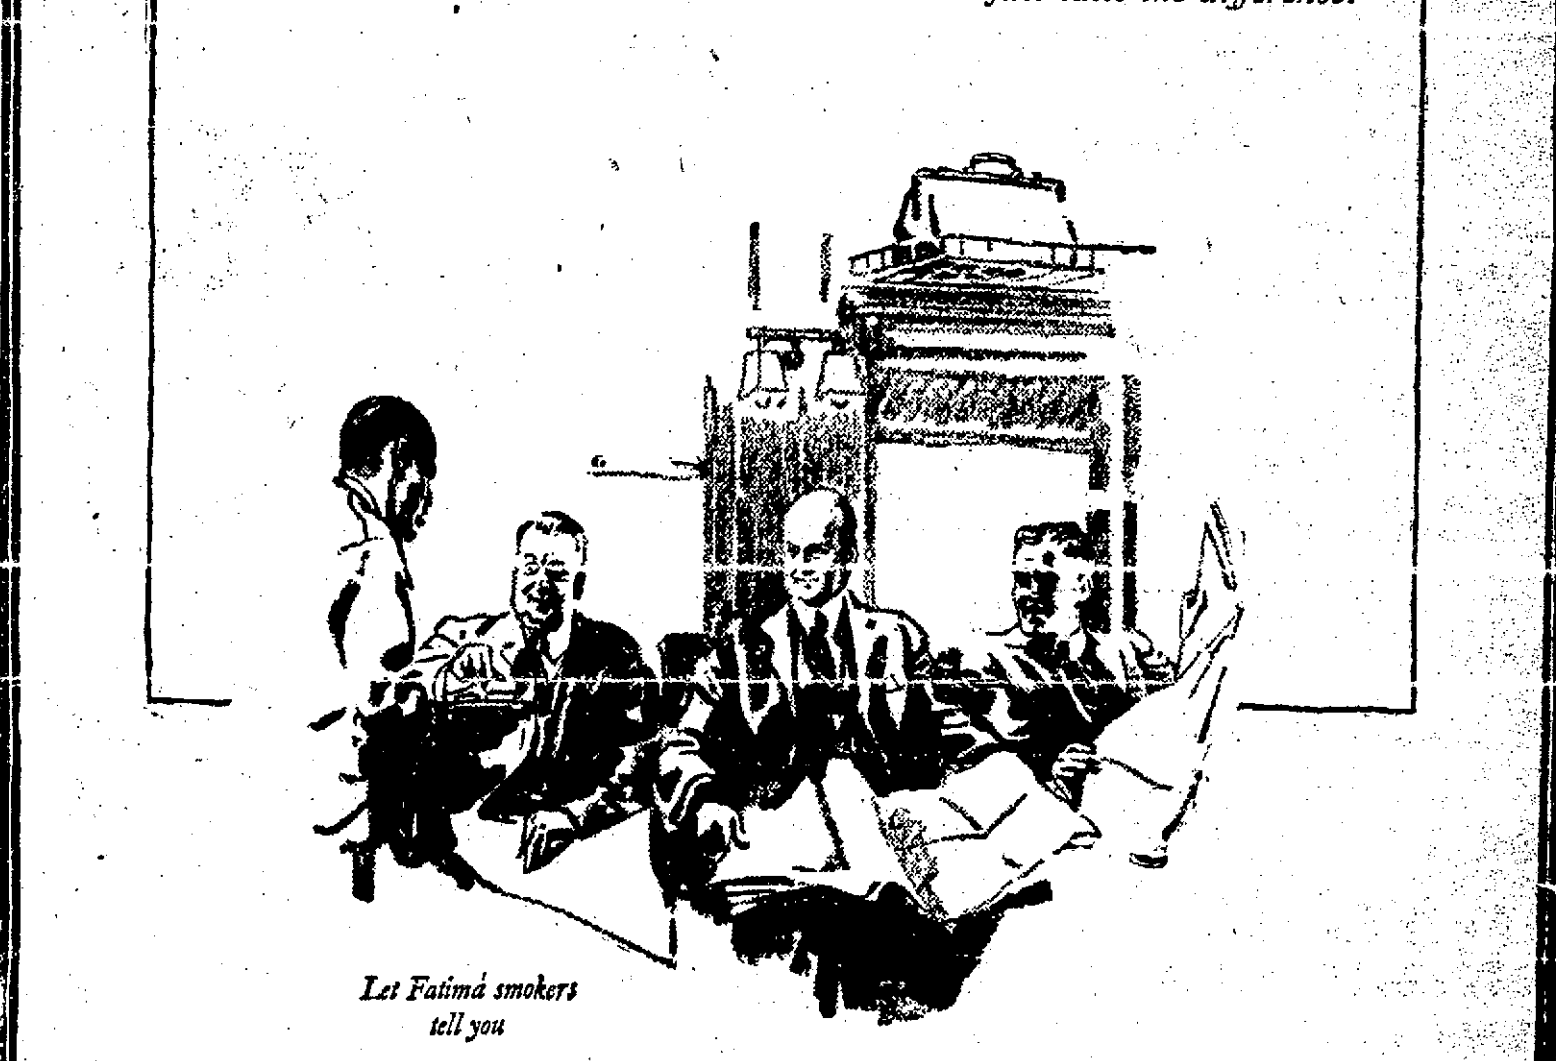

J. Harrison Dempsey Is Going A-Hunting

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Sept. 12.—Jack Dempsey, with Tex Rickard and three others of his staff and W. D. Hines of Portland, Maine; C. J. Martin and T. J. Canadian of Miami, Fla., will spend a short time in the New Brunswick woods moose hunting. Martin and Canadian have left here for Deer Lake, Newfoundland, for a few days caribou hunting and will join the Hines-Dempsey party at St. John's, N. B., in about ten days.

FATIMA CIGARETTES

Always slightly higher in price than other Turkish Blend cigarettes—but—just taste the difference!

NOTE: Like the few other big-selling brands, Fatima is a Turkish Blend cigarette—a blend of both Turkish and Domestic tobaccos. But Fatima differs from the others in that it contains a greater quantity and finer quality of Turkish tobacco—the reason both for Fatima's slightly higher cost and its greater delicacy of taste and aroma.

Alameda W. C. T. U. Re-elects Officers

ALAMEDA, Sept. 13.—Miss Mary Helen McLean was re-elected president of the Alameda Chapter Women's Christian Temperance Union. The other officers were also re-elected. The officers were: Elizabeth Mahary, vice-president; Mrs. Emma Stauffer, recording secretary; Mrs. Mattie Hamilton, corresponding secretary; and M. J. Mary Bronson, treasurer. Mrs. Florence Reid, auditor.

The Wright law was discussed by the Rev. D. O. Colgrove at the meeting yesterday. The organization is making an active campaign in favor of the passage of this measure.

Are You In Favor of 10c Milk?

If You Are You Should Back, With Your Patronage, Those Who Are Bringing It About.

Why do school medical examinations invariably show that a large percentage of the children are under-nourished?
It is because many people cannot afford to provide their children with the amount of milk necessary to a child's well being.
Why should these children be going under-nourished when there is a huge daily surplus of fresh milk? Is it not better to sell this milk at a lower price than it is to use it for commercial purposes or throw it away?
We say that in the face of these needy children and that large daily surplus of milk, that the lower price of 10c per quart is justified, fair, and reasonable.
We have had the courage of our convictions. We have made many bitter enemies among the other dealers. We have suffered much inconvenience from malicious attempts to impair our service. We have risked ruin by fighting single handedly a large combination of creameries, many of which were financially much better able to fight than ourselves.
We do not care what our competitors say or think about us, for we know that we are right.
What do you think? That is what we are interested in.
Don't you think that you, the public, ought to have the advantage of the surplus of milk in the form of a retail price reduction on fresh milk? In that way many people who have been going without milk can have it.
We have stood by you. We believe in return that you will stand by us and back us up with YOUR PATRONAGE. Thus you will strengthen our ability to keep milk at 10c per quart and 7c per pint.

DISTINCTIVE HOMES—No. 29

The Apartment Bungalow

Printed by courtesy of The Home Designer Magazine (of Oakland), which is prepared to furnish plans and specifications to readers of The OAKLAND TRIBUNE at a special and very reasonable figure.

Many people are solving the small house problem—that is, from the financial standpoint—by arranging the floor plan similar to that of a single apartment. This method is indeed commendable, particularly for the small family. In that the same accommodation can be had in a smaller building, less furniture is needed, it requires less fuel for heating purposes and, incidentally, there is considerably less work for the housewife. So you can see that from the very start considerable expense has been eliminated and money saved.

The dining room has been omitted and in its place is the breakfast room. In the plan shown this room has been planned with a seat in the bay window which fits around an ordinary extension dining table. The dining table can be extended to accommodate as large a number of guests as desired.

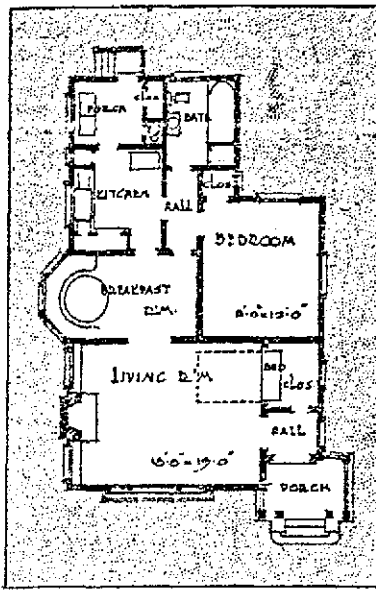

A Colonial exterior of wood. The roof is of composition using crushed red brick.

(By the Oakland Real Estate Board.)

Providing greater accommodations than the average small apartment house here shown can be owned and occupied by a small family at an actual expense in monthly output no greater than would be the rental price for the average small apartment. Such a house will go readily on a very inexpensive lot and is simple and inexpensive in construction. In a score of very desirable residence districts of the East Bay Community homes of this type are being built for sale on easy payment terms. After the initial payment has been made, a payment which is within the reach of persons in very modest circumstances, the subsequent monthly payments, each creating additional equity, would be no greater than rent, providing no equity, demanded in apartments. The construction of homes of this and similar type on an extensive scale is going far forward meeting the ever increasing demand for

In this plan the breakfast room accommodates an ordinary extension dining room table.

Individual housing accommodations. Any member of the Oakland Real Estate Board dealing in homes can select a desirable location for a home, assist in the financing of its construction and be valuably helpful to the prospective home owner.

What Makes a Friend

TODAY'S SHORT STORY
Ad Schuster

DOLLY ASH sought relief from studies in the Maine woods. This place, she decided, was as far from college or books as any she could find. She would forget everything, but the present and live as a farmer until, until the time came to go back. That is how Dolly came to be looked upon as a member of the Adrian family, a member who paid her way by helping with the housework.

"She isn't much of a help, Pa," Mrs. Adrian told her husband after a day with Dolly in the kitchen, "and I can't quite make her out. She offered to pay a little each week if she didn't earn her keep and so she could feel free to go for what she calls hikes. What now, do you suppose is a hike?"

"A hike," Pa answered, "is a walk taken by a young lady in riding breeches. Most likely she just wants to get a bit of fresh air and is too poor to come as a regular boarder. Humor her, is my advice, and let her know where you keep the dish towels."

A week after Dolly had learned the ways of the Adrian farm, had discovered the swimming hole and the fishing places, Mrs. Adrian fixed up the spare room and announced a summer boarder was expected.

"It's a young man who writes he wants seclusion and rest," she said. "From the tone of his letter he lets on he isn't partial to being bothered. I take it he will sleep until noon."

A young man in her paradise! Dolly did not like the idea. She thought of leaving this place, of finding another or returning home, and then brightened.

"Mrs. Adrian," she said impressively, "you'll just have to pretend I'm your daughter."

The elder woman flushed. "I pretend nobody's my daughter, much less a girl what bobs her hair and doesn't look any more like me than a turnip."

"You can say, then," Dolly persisted, "I am the hired help."

"Call me Dolly and order me around and see your husband does it, too."

With the reservation that she couldn't see her husband ordering anyone around, Mrs. Adrian agreed. Dolly was the hired help when Walter French, respondent in outing costume, arrived for his first two weeks of rest. From the start he made his position plain.

"I am here," he announced.

"Borrowing" Greek Gods

PERHAPS you remember that in very early times, Greeks used trees as places of worship. It was the same with the Romans, especially those who lived in country districts.

One of our pictures shows a tree used as a shrine in Roman times. A graceful column supports the tree, which seems to be very old. A man who wants to pray is approaching. There were many such shrines in Italy.

The other picture shows a coop containing "sacred chickens," such as we mentioned last time. If they were lazy when someone fed them grain and did not eat, or ate very slowly, it was a bad sign. If, on the other hand, they gobbled down the grain so eagerly that some of it fell from their beaks, it was a good sign, the person who was doing the feeding was sure to succeed in what he wanted to do. (That is what the Romans thought; you and I know it all depended on how hungry the chickens were!)

The Romans did not do much of their own thinking when they formed their religion. They "borrowed" most of their gods from the Greeks. Zeus was the chief Greek god, the Romans took him as their chief god, too, changing his name a little. They called him "Zeus the Father." The way they spoke that was "Zeus Pater."

In time they made one word out of Zeus Pater—they said Zeuspater or Jupiter. Now we spell it "Jupiter."

The Romans spoke of the wife of Zeus as "Juno" instead of Hera. The messenger god, Hermes, became Mercury.

With a party of tourists who were "doing the Alps" in the summer of '22, and who had undertaken the long tramp over the snows from Altdorf to Fluelen, to see the historic spot where Tell used to shoot apples, I was enjoying a rest after a long day's journey. A little peasant girl, gathering daisies, came our way, and thinking to amuse the child, I showed her how to prognosticate her matrimonial future, by plucking off the petals of a flower to determine whose bride she would be—a rich man, poor man, beggar man or thief. She said the game was well known to Swiss lasses, with the slight difference that a player was always at liberty to pluck a single or two contiguous petals, so that the game would continue by singles or doubles, until the victorious one took the last petal and left the "stump."

Then Dolly looked into the puzzled face of Walter French. "You!" he said. "Good grief, the girl of the farm! It doesn't seem possible. I wish I had known."

The girl smiled coldly as she studied the man's face. Yes, if he had known he might have been considerate of the servant girl. He held out his hand.

"And now there is no reason we cannot be friends?" Dolly stretched out her hand until it was over his. Then she dropped a dollar just as he had placed it in hers.

"I think," she said meaningfully before she turned her back, "this makes us square. We never could be friends."

called the "old maid," with his, or her, opponent.

As our amusement, the pretty madchen, who could not have been more than ten years of age, vanquished our entire party by winning every game, no matter who played first.

I did not study out the trick until we were back in Luzerne, but I was so bantered by the party that I made a business of investigating it, but never had the satisfaction of beating the little mathematician at her own game.

The game is shown in the sketch in the form of a daisy of 13 petals, and is played by two persons, who in turn, cover the petals by placing small markers, until all are covered. The one who covers the last petal wins, leaving the "old maid" stump to his opponent. Remember that at each play it is permitted to cover one or two contiguous petals, but not two petals which are separated. Can you study out the winning system? Which should win, the first or second player?

Rory O'More "nested" his pen, one within the other. In the central pen he placed five p's. Then built a fence around that pen and placed 4 p's in it. Then he built a third pen around the two and likewise put 4 p's in it. Then the final pen he built to enclose the others and within it placed 8 p's. Each pen thus surroun' n even number of p's and an odd pig, the outer pen containing the entire 21 pigs.

Angelica and halved cherries, and serve with flavored cream.

Jellied Cucumber Rounds. Slice one fresh cucumber thin, plunge it into boiling water, let stand for five minutes, then drain. Mix a tablespoonful of minced, cold boiled ham, a tablespoonful of minced, boiled liver, the juice of an onion, a teaspoonful of chopped celery leaves, pepper, a little salt, a tablespoonful of Worcestershire sauce, a tablespoonful of sugar and a cupful of carefully skimmed broth. Add the cucumbers and one and a half tablespoonfuls of powdered gelatin dissolved in a half cupful of hot water. Mix well, and pour into wet molds of the desired size and set to harden. Serve with a cold meat dinner.

Escalloped Egg Plant. Halve lengthways a fresh, firm egg plant. With a teaspoon hollow out the centres, leaving an eight-inch wall. Rub over inside and out with butter. Chop the egg plant very fine, then add to it a quarter-cupful each of fine crumbs and grated cheese, pepper, salt, a small grated onion, a teaspoonful of minced celery leaves, a teaspoonful of sugar, two teaspoonfuls of cream. Stuff the shells with the mixture, and bake about twenty minutes in a good oven. This is excellent to serve with fish.

Sunset Eggs. Peel, chop and fry one large Spanish onion in two ounces of butter, but do not brown it. When cooked, lift the onion with a skimmer and place on a plate to cool. Beat five eggs with a teaspoonful of baking powder, pepper, salt, a teaspoonful of sugar and a glassful of water. Pour the eggs into the frying-pan the onion was fried in, add the onion, blend together, then cook like an omelette. When set, slip under the broiler to brown, lightly, instead of turning, then serve on a hot plate.

Asparagus Fritters. Cut the tips from a freshly-boiled bunch of asparagus or drain and cut up a can of the tips. Make a good fritter batter, adding a dessertspoonful of sugar, the asparagus tips, a little salt, pepper and the juice of an onion. Fry the fritters in the usual way and serve hot on a napkin with tartar sauce. This makes a good luncheon dish to use with cold meat.

HOW THE DETECTIVE KNOWS

Chapter 79.

PEOPLE are often mystified when a police detective steps out and picks up a criminal within a few hours.

"How does he know?" they ask.

The good police detective becomes expert only through long years of experience. His whole life, practically, is devoted to the study of criminals. Just as the veteran physician knows where to look for disease causes by instinct, so also does the police detective know where to find certain types of criminals.

It is wrong to assume that detectives and investigators spend many hours poring over the photographs of criminals in the rogues' galleries (pocketbook, bane and yegg details excepted). As a matter of fact little could be gained in this way.

The detective gains his wisdom through personal contact. The expert salesman knows and remembers customers and friends from Portland, Me., to Portland, Ore. And why? Not through photographs but because of personal friendship, contact.

It is a poor officer who does not know thousands of crooks so that he can call them by names. Then consider that you may have in the police departments anywhere from five to a hundred such experts, and you will understand how small a chance the criminal has of going undetected. Detectives who have a "camera eye," never forget a face.

A detective is sauntering along the street. He sees a "dip" sauntering near a station. "Hello Bill," he says. "What are you doing in town?"

The crook detects that he is being asked, but he is honest, that he is going on the square. "Well, come along up to the station with me, anyhow," says the detective. "Let's see if the Chief has a 'rap' on you?"

A "rap" means a request to hold for investigation. The "dip" and the "dip" saunter off up to the station. The chief says he has no "rap" for Bill and the two, officer and crook, part the best of friends.

But the detective in that short walk has learned something very valuable. He has studied the personality of the "dip" and it will make it all the easier for him to remember the fellow.

It is not unusual for police detectives to frequent the hangouts of known criminals. As I have stated, certain classes of outlaws patronize "dives" where they are at home, where they can be seen by the police, bail and an attorney. Here the detective meets the criminal when he is off his guard and he learns more about his character than he could learn in a year if the crook was in jail.

Old gray-haired detectives in the larger cities frequently can boast that they have questioned as many as 10,000 felons and that they have known two or three times that number. When an officer has such knowledge, he is on intimate terms, so to speak, with all the bigger criminals in the United States.

In the course of fifteen or twenty years, nearly every dangerous criminal will have made the circuit of the country once and maybe a hundred times. The circuit he visits all major cities and nearly always he will be "knocked off" by the detectives and taken to headquarters for nothing more than to show him in the lineup.

This gives all the "dicks" a chance to give him the double zero (O O or once over) and make a mental photograph of the fellow.

Police departments in various cities keep on friendly terms. If Jimmy McGink, a yegg, leaves Philadelphia bound for Chicago, someone in the Philadelphia department will wire a friend in Chicago, or if it is Chicago, or if it is New York, as an identification bureau to another. "Jimmy McGink. Sing Sing number 64,203. New York number 104,802. Philadelphia number 54,507. San Francisco number 10,478, headed your way. Be on the lookout for him." Some such message as that is received at Chicago in the lineup.

Immediately the detective bureau looks up Jimmy McGink in their files. They find the picture of a short, red haired, lopsided old young man. Particularly they note his ears, his nose, irregularities of his features that he cannot conceal, length of fingers and look for deformities. The detective assigned to the case will then pick him up, or if he comes via automobile, he is nabbed in a known hangout or on the street. The known criminal has little chance today in a well policed city.

Might

A man there was—

A kindly man—

Who looked with grave concern on things—

That happened all about him—

He saw the rule of Might is Right—

Exemplified in every walk of life—

Discarding things the poor would eagerly possess—

If they had but the chance—

And pain and suffering stalked their prey—

Within the overcrowded ranks—

Of those who toiled—but reaped not—

And he cried out—"oh, man, for shame—

I'll search the distant ends of earth—

For better plan."

So he went forth with hoping heart—

And in a far-off distant land—

He made survey—

Still there he saw the world-old plan—

That Might is Right—

Exemplified—

For here frail men and women, too—

Strained at their bitter tasks—

Nor spared the lash when steps grew lame—

And when these slaves too young had died—

A dozen there to take his place—

And humbly bow—

He heard them wildly wail and pray—

To unseen God—

Or grinning idols—

Then creep in terror to their tasks—

With menial stoop—

What though they were a thousand-fold—

To those who were their masters—

None dare rebel—

So he ment on and marveled much—

And journeyed to the darkest lands—

And here he saw exemplified the self-same rule—

For there were minious—craven—stooped—in every land—

Who belly-crawled to scrawny King—

With ugly terror—

And at his word great hulking men were dumb—

And carried him o'er torture trails—

And suffered—starved—the while he lived a wastrel's life—

And they too went face first in dirt—

Before some ugly idol—

And waited and maimed themselves—

Then crept back to their weakling king—imploing—

And took upon their back the lash all willingly—

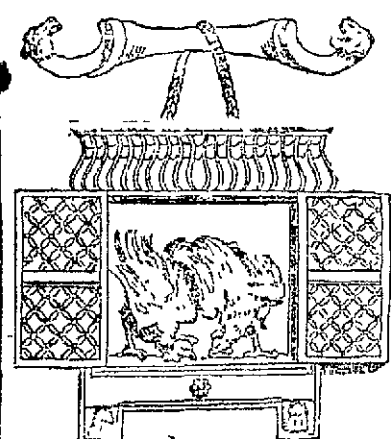

And seeing this the kindly man—

And pondered much—and wondered much—

But now he knows it ever was and ever will be—

The eternal law.

Uncle Wiggily Stories

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE SNAKE WOOD.

ONE day, when Uncle Wiggily was out hopping through the woods looking for a new kind of tree for you, he heard a rustling noise in the bushes not far away.

"Ha, hum!" exclaimed Mr. Longears, with a quick little twinkle of his little nose. "That's an adventure and it may not be a very jolly sort! It may be the Woozie Wolf!"

He got ready to hop away as fast as he could, but all of a sudden the bushes parted and out came Sammie Littlebell, the bunny rabbit boy. In his paw, Sammie carried a number of sticks.

"What are you doing, Sammie?" asked Uncle Wiggily, feeling much happier now that he saw it was a friend of his, and not some bad animal.

"I am coming home from school," Sammie answered. "You're a bit late," spoke Uncle Wiggily, looking at the sun, and knowing, by the way it shone low in the western sky, that it was late.

"You kept in, Sammie?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Oh, no!" answered Sammie. "I came out with the others. But I am gathering sticks for the branches."

"Gathering sticks, eh?" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "Are you getting them for your mother so you may beat the dust out of a rug, Sammie, or does the Lady Mouse Teacher want the sticks for blackboard pointers?"

"Neither one!" answered the boy rabbit. "But we have nature study in our class and we are learning the different kinds of trees that grow in the woods. To study trees you must know what kind of leaves each one has and what kind of bark."

"I am taking these sticks back to the Lady Mouse Teacher and she will tell us about the bark. I know some kinds—I know maple, oak, chestnut and poplar trees, all by their bark," said Sammie.

"That is very good," exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "It is very good to know the different kinds of trees, especially for rabbits, as we often eat bark, you know. I'll help you, Sammie. Perhaps I may be able to find a new kind of tree for you."

"I wish you would," Sammie said, trying to make his pink nose twinkle like Uncle Wiggily's. But he couldn't exactly do it.

However the two bunnies—the man-bunny and the little boy-bunny—hopped on. All of sudden Uncle Wiggily saw something that made him stop.

"What is it?" asked Sammie.

"No, but I see a new kind of wood. I'll tell you a branch of it," spoke Uncle Wiggily. "What here for me?"

He hopped a little way from the path and Sammie saw his uncle going toward a tree with curious speckled and mottled bark. It was light in some places and dark in others—really very pretty and odd.

"What kind of wood is that, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Sammie.

"I'll tell you when I come back," the bunny uncle answered. "I can't talk here as there are mud puddles and I may step in one."

Uncle Wiggily broke off several crooked, twisted branches with the curious mottled, speckled and spotted bark, and started back to where Sammie waited on the path.

"I think your Lady Mouse Teacher will need three guesses to tell what kind of a tree these came from!" chuckled Uncle Wiggily.

"Will you tell her if he doesn't guess?" asked the boy rabbit.

"Yes," said Uncle Wiggily. "I will. In fact, I'll tell you now, and you can tell her to the teacher. This is called—"

But just then, all of a sudden, out from the bushes jumped the bad old Bob Cat.

"Wow! Wow!" howled the Bob Cat. "I want ears to nibble!"

"Come on, Sammie," shouted Uncle Wiggily. "I guess this is our turn to run!"

Away the two bunnies hopped and hopped, but the Bob Cat came after them, and he was close behind them when, all at once Uncle Wiggily stopped.

"Aren't you going to run any more?" asked Sammie.

"I think we won't need to. I believe I can play a trick on the old Bob Cat," whispered the bunny. He laid on the path, amid the leaves, some of the queer, twisted branches, all speckled and mottled, that he had broken off. Then he and Sammie ran on ahead a little farther and hid in the bushes.

Up came the Bob Cat. But no sooner had he reached the place where Uncle Wiggily had laid the speckled branches than the Bob Cat gave a howl and yelled "Snakes! Oh, snakes!" Oh I never could bear snakes!" And turning around with his tail between his legs, away he ran.

"Now we are safe," said Uncle Wiggily, coming out of the bushes and picking up the branches.

"What kind of trees do they come from?" asked Sammie.

"The snake-wood tree," answered the bunny gentleman. "Sometimes it is called moose-wood. The branches look like snakes, especially when they are all twisted and half hidden in the leaves, and most wild animals are afraid of snakes. The Bob Cat was, but he didn't know we only had wooden snakes, did he, Sammie?"

"No," laughed the bunny boy.

"But I'm glad he didn't." And at school next day Sammie was the only one who knew about snake-wood.

WAR WITH POISON OPENS ON RATS OF LAKESIDE PARKBoard, After Failure to Stop
Depredations of Rodents, Takes Offensive.

Concomitant with the arrival of a consignment of special poison from the East, the park board today announced the beginning of an autumn offensive against the rats in Lakeside Park.

Many complaints have been received by the park board against these rodents. Superintendent Leo Kenyon says that the quail and other game in the park have attracted the rats so that, in spite of constant operations against them, the number is increasing in number.

Special poison, warranted to eliminate any rat, was purchased by the park board. Experiments have been made with traps. Finally, the park laborers have become equipped, and the battle will rage throughout the autumn season.

Alameda Scenario

Judges Are Chosen

FRANDSEN LOSES
CONSTABLE RACE

Failure of those tallying the semi-official returns to include certain Oakland precincts in the semi-official total has completely changed the personnel of those who will contest for constabulary honors in Brooklyn township.

By the semi-official totals, Constable Alexander Frandsen, incumbent, qualified among the first four candidates, and was to have had his name on the November ballot, when the voters will be called upon to choose two out of the four receiving the highest vote.

Frandsen, however, stands fifth in the list, thus being eliminated from the November election. W. H. Martin is declared to have received sixteen votes more than Frandsen.

The official tally of the votes in the constabulary fight shows the following totals:

Carroll, 8149; Allen, 6797; Parker, 3625; Martin, 3253; Frandsen, 3237; Williams, 2575; Ryan, 1888; Boynton, 1853; Dean, 1313.

TURNS FORGER

BERKELEY, Sept. 13.—Because the people of Berkeley don't like to have their pictures taken, he said, L. J. Porter, 27, solicitor for an engraving company, is in the Berkeley jail.

Porter is charged with passing a fictitious check on E. L. Peart, 1900 Shattuck avenue, where he obtained $27 in cash and an assortment of canned groceries. He was taken into custody yesterday afternoon by Sergeant O. E. Putzker, as he was attempting to cash another check for $31 at the Turner Grocery company, 549 Shattuck avenue. E. Turner, proprietor of the store, had been recently victimized by a bad check operator and sent in a call to the police. Porter fled as the police appeared but was caught after a chase by Putzker.

According to Porter's story to the police he was unable to make a living for himself and his wife soliciting for photographs. The finding of a book of blank checks, he said, started him writing fictitious paper.

Porter's wife is said to live in San Francisco, the couple coming recently from the southern part of the state. An investigation of Porter's recent activities is being made by Inspector A. E. J. Woods.

MANY PERMITS
GIVEN PEDDLERS

BERKELEY, Sept. 13.—A total of 1345 permits were issued to peddlers and solicitors in Berkeley during the past 15 months by the police department, according to figures compiled from official records by Mrs. Mabel Mitchell, civic worker of the college city.

Mrs. Mitchell's figures, released by the Chamber of Commerce as part of the "Buy in Berkeley Campaign" now being conducted, show that of the 1345 permits 465 were issued to residents of Berkeley and the remaining 880 for persons living outside the city. Of this number 232 were given to solicitors for magazines, 93 for hosiery, 61 for brushes, 54 for sewing machines, 48 for household goods, 33 for electrical appliances, 24 for books, 28 for musical instruments, 27 for storage and express, 25 each for photographs, maps and vegetables, 23 for vacuum cleaners and the remaining number scattered between vendors for fire extinguishers, gas appliances, dress goods, cooking utensils and miscellaneous articles.

That Berkeleyans support Berkeley merchants was the plea made by President Roy O. Long of the Chamber of Commerce as a result of conditions disclosed in Mrs. Mitchell's report.

FRESNO MAN HELD ON CHECK CHARGE

RICHMOND, Sept. 13.—G. E. Freeman of Fresno was arrested at Stockton and brought to Richmond last night on a charge of passing two fictitious checks on Oden Oden Mitchell, proprietor of the Piemonte hotel, 112 Railroad avenue, Point Richmond recently.

Mitchell complained to the police that two small checks which he had cashed for Freeman were returned not good.

Great Anniversary Event

For three days beginning tomorrow (Thursday)
we will celebrate our First Anniversary by selling

500 Men's and Young Men's Extra Pant Suits at about Cost

SUITS

Extra Pants to Match

REMEMBER, AN EXTRA PAIR OF PANTS

DOUBLES THE LIFE OF YOUR SUIT

It was only after months of scouring the Clothing Markets and with the assistance of several Manufacturers of NATIONALLY ADVERTISED BRAND Suits, who co-operated with us in sacrificing profits and who made these clothes for us at about the actual cost of materials, that we are able to offer a limited quantity of these high grade Suits at such low prices.

If you are thinking of buying a Suit in the near future it will certainly be to your advantage to select it during this Anniversary Celebration.

1000 Souvenir Bill Folds Given Away Free

Our prices for the suit with the two pants is less than you would pay elsewhere without the extra pants

NOTE—This store will open at eight o'clock instead of nine to accommodate early buyers.

These values will crowd this big clothing store. So be here early.
